19TH YEAR. NO. 200. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, AUGUST 25, 1902. TWO CENTS.

DUFFY NOMINATED BY THE LABOR PEOPLE FOR CONGRESSMAN

He Had Declined the Honor Once, But Reconsidered—Warm Discussion in the Alliance Convention.

Alliance, August 25.—(Special)—The unexpected happened at the labor convention Saturday afternoon, which contrary to earlier predictions, voted unanimously to make Thomas J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, its candidate for congress. Much energetic discussion was indulged in before the question of making any nomination was decided affirmatively.

Up to 2 o'clock the convention had been devoted entirely to a sort of an experience meeting to get a line on the idea of delegates as to the advisability of placing a candidate in nomination.

Charles Bonsall, of Salem, a receptive candidate for the nomination, was in favor of the nomination of a candidate. He made a speech to that effect.

Mayor Bell, of Massillon, was not in favor of a nomination by this convention. He took the position that inasmuch as the Republican convention at Salem had refused certain requests of the labor unions, the Democratic convention, to be held in the future, should also be given a chance to accept or reject the same requests. He was in favor of requesting the Democratic congressional convention to nominate a labor candidate, and then if that was refused the time would be ripe for labor to nominate its candidate. Mayor Bell is a Democrat.

T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, also a receptive candidate, made a speech indorsing the sentiment voiced by Mayor Bell.

The sentiment of the delegates was strongly in favor of nominating a candidate independent of either of the old parties.

A. E. Long, of Salem, at 3 o'clock moved that a committee on resolutions be appointed. He was declared out of order. Then he moved that the convention resolve itself into a nominating body and nominate a congressional candidate. This precipitated some warm discussions from many of the delegates.

Charles Bonsall, of Salem, made a speech ringing in terms, in which he declared that if nominated on the labor ticket he would not accept or make any pledges to the Democratic or Republican parties.

Duffy and Bell, in sharp speeches, made a vigorous effort to have the convention agree to receive endorsement from the old parties.

A. E. Long, of Salem, bitterly assailed the East Liverpool potters for the reason that there were none of them in the convention.

T. J. Duffy defended the potters and said that the reason there were not more present was because they did not favor politicians leading them.

Long retaliated and said that the reason there were not more potters present from East Liverpool was because they were ward heelers. Duffy jumped to his feet and demanded an apology for the potters. R. H. McDowell demanded to know if Long's charges were true. In behalf of the potters, Duffy said that he had spent his life with them and that none of the potters' officials had ever dabbled in politics.

Good feeling was restored and harmony again sat in the meeting.

A motion to adjourn was voted down by a large majority.

A motion to nominate a candidate carried by a vote of 51 to 12.

At 3:30 Charles Bonsall, of Salem, moved that a committee of three on resolutions be appointed, and that a recess of 30 minutes be taken. The chair appointed as a committee on resolutions Charles Bonsall, of Salem; T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, and Bernard Bell, of Massillon. Then the convention took a recess.

It was 4 o'clock before the committee on resolutions was ready to make a report. It was remarked frequently that Chairman Johnson had appointed on this committee the three candidates for the honor in the gift of the assemblage. The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted unanimously.

As soon as this action had been taken R. W. McDowell, of Salem, secured the floor and stated that he had a short resolution which he would like to have added to the report of the committee. Mr. McDowell stated that if some such measure were not added to the resolutions the candidate might expect little support. The delegate then read the resolution, which pledged the candidate "to make his canvass along the lines of union labor principles and the platform adopted by this convention independent of any other political organization and without the request or solicitation on his part or the part of this convention for the endorsement of any political party; and that we here appeal to all the voters of the district regardless of past party affiliations to endorse our candidate at the polls in November."

The resolution was like a bomb shell thrown into a peaceful camp. It created a profound stir, but was adopted by a decisive vote. Had this resolution not been adopted it is a question whether or not the candidate nominated afterward could have secured the honor. It had the effect of bringing from him an emphatic declaration renouncing old partyism. Such action was made necessary for the reason that Mr. Duffy has been a Democrat, and recently without his consent or encouragement, it is asserted, was boomed for the Democratic congressional nomination by a few designing politicians of East Liverpool.

S. S. Carnahan, of Wellsville, was recognized and proceeded to nominate T. J. Duffy. Mr. Carnahan has been acquainted with the candidate for years, and he made the most of his knowledge in the nominating speech. The nomination was seconded and at once declined by Mr. Duffy. He said he could not accept the nomination under the circumstances that had come up in the convention.

Considerable discussion followed. Finally one enthusiastic delegates succeeded in having a motion adopted asking Mr. Duffy to reconsider his stand. C. A. Collins, a Youngstown delegate, made a strong speech in which he asked the convention not to force the nomination on Duffy.

Mayor Bell said the convention was tying his hands with the adoption of the McDowell resolution. He added that he gave Duffy credit for the position he had taken.

Mr. Duffy was pressed to accept the nomination, whereupon he stated that his services were always will be at the call of the laboring people. He swallowed the McDowell resolution in these words, dramatically uttered: "I am here as a laboring man, and you may do with me as you will."

Scenes of almost riotous confusion followed. There were cheers upon cheers for Duffy, and the hall rang with applause.

A. D. Long, of Salem, then placed in nomination Charles Bonsall, of Salem. Mr. Bonsall at once declined the nomination, and moved to make it unanimous for Mr. Duffy.

There were cheers for Bonsall and cries of "You're all right," following this statement. Mayor Bell's name was urgently called upon Mr. Duffy responded briefly as follows:

"I feel proud of this namination. All I possess is my ability and I am willing to fight on the platform constructed here, for it is what I have been following all my life. I endorse and will work for every clause in your platform. I do not object to being the standard bearer of organized labor whether in victory or defeat. Even good comes to working people in their defeat. I hope this movement will result to the best ends for the working people and I will make every effort to bring it about."

Harry Green, of Sebring, said every local in the district would raise money to prosecute the campaign, and if necessary each union man in the district should go down in his pocket to create a campaign fund.

Mr. Bonsall said it was wrong to assess a candidate and claimed the people, not the candidate, should be the boodlers. Mr. McDowell moved that the body elect a finance and executive committees. Carried. A motion was made by Mayor Bell to the effect that

NASH'S MESSAGE TO LEGISLATURE

The Document Short and to the Point. Outlining Work to Be Done.

Remedying the Defects of the Royer Law And Municipal Government All That the Governor Wants Considered Now.

Columbus, August 25.—(Special)—Governor Nash's message, read today to the legislature, was short and to the point. He recommended that no legislation be passed except that remedying the defect in the Royer law and affecting municipal government. He asked that his code bill be adopted, and, although not saying so in so many words, warned against the passage of the code measure of the state board of commerce, and said that the enactment of such a bill would plunge the state into a condition of peril infinitely greater than that which ever confronted the lawmakers before. He advised that the laws relating to schools, county salaries, boards of equalization, registration and elections be referred for revision and recodification to the state school commissioners, attorney general, auditor of state and secretary of state, respectively, with instructions to these officials to file a report of their work to the next general assembly in 1904.

No provision has been made in the governor's code for hamlets. Smith W. Bennett, special counsel in the office of the attorney general, says: "Under the classification as announced by the supreme court, we find no place for that class of municipalities heretofore known as hamlets, and what might appear as an omission, is, in fact, no omission at all. We do not, in the repealing clause of the bill, include any existing statutes for the organization and government of hamlets."

He was removed to his boarding house, and it has since required the united strength of five men to hold him on the bed. He is internally injured.

And He Will Be Taken to Massillon—Wellsvlle Divorce Case and Other Matters Before the Courts at Lisbon.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—J. T. Detwiler and John Holloway, of Columbiana, have made formal application to probate court for the admission of Thomas Entriken to the asylum at Massillon.

Mr. Entriken is over 80 years old, and for several months his mind has been affected. His condition is attributed to softening of the brain. He has no home, but has been cared for by his son's widow. He is now considered in a condition unsafe to be allowed at large. He will not be brought into court, but Judge Boone and physicians will visit him tomorrow afternoon. He will then be taken to the asylum.

A DAMAGE SUIT

Brought for Alleged Malicious Destruction of Property Is Appealed.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—A damage case which was instituted in the mayor's court in Washingtonville, was appealed to common pleas court this morning.

Horace G. Tetlow accused George W. Allen of having forcibly and maliciously entered upon his premises in the village. He claims he was damaged to the amount of $100.

The case was heard last week and Tetlow was given a verdict for $45 and costs. Allen will fight the claim.

A Wellsville Man Sues for Divorce From His Wife on This Ground.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—Robert Smurthwaite, of Wellsville, who married Miss Grace Brown, of Lisbon, about five years ago, has entered suit for divorce. The couple lived together but a short time. Smurthwaite claims that while he was confined to his bed, suffering from fever, his wife abandoned him and returned to the home of her mother in Lisbon.

He was ill for four months and when he recovered his wife refused to live with him.

CABBAGE SO PLENTIFUL THAT THEY ARE GIVEN AWAY

Authorities on the subject assert that the crop of cabbage is more extensive than for many years. As an evidence of this it is estimated that not less than 20 wagon loads of the choicest of cabbage was brought to the city on Saturday, and either sold at a genuine sacrifice or given away.

One man was seen to draw up at a residence on Washington street, and after summoning the housewife, offered to give her all she could use. "I came to town this morning with 100 heads of the best cabbage I ever saw," he said, "and when I attempted to sell it to local dealers what do you suppose they offered—10 cents a bushel. Before I would sell it at that price I would give it away to my customers, and that is exactly what I am doing."

On account of the very favorable condition of the weather during the early spring and throughout the summer, all sorts of vegetables and garden truck have done well, and as a natural consequence have been very cheap.

BEFORE THE MAYOR

USUAL MONDAY MORNING CROWD ON HAND.

How the Executive Meted Out Punishment to Several Offenders.

Mayor Davidson held an interesting session at City Hall this morning. Five arrests were considered, among which were several old offenders. James Cameron, of Beaver, was arrested by Officer Dunn, on Sunday. The prisoner was at one time considered one of the best attorneys of Beaver county, and has been associate counsel with some of the leading attorneys of the county.

For a number of years, however, he has been in all in as he allowed whiskey to get the best of him. He came to East Liverpool Saturday evening and filled up on the favorite beverage and was taken in charge by the officer on Sunday.

The mayor fined Cameron $5.60. Officer Ike Lazarus, of Rochester, was in the city this morning serving subpoenas in a railroad stealing case. He was at the mayor's office when Cameron was given a hearing and stood for the fine. Lazarus is an old friend of Cameron and said that he would be able to secure the amount of his fine.

Officer McDermott arrested Mrs. Ollie Walker, who resides at Walker, on Third street, Saturday evening. The woman was very drunk and the officer had to almost carry her to the city hall. Mrs. Walker only had $4 when she confronted the mayor Monday morning, but she sent a friend for the remainder and was discharged on the payment of $5.60.

Wylie Farmer, a youth who has given the police considerable trouble during the past few years, was arrested again by Officers Aufderheide and Dawson. He was drunk again and was released this morning on the payment of $5.60. He stated that he would go to work immediately and with this understanding he was released or otherwise the mayor would have sent him to the workhouse.

Elmer Clendenning was arrested by Patrolman Woods at the corner of Sixth street and West Market Sunday evening. The prisoner was making himself obnoxious to passersby. He is still confined in the jail and he will probably be kept there until he sobers up.

Officer McDermott gathered in Joseph Harkins, of Pittsburg, Saturday evening for drunkenness. Harkins is a brick layer and is employed by a contractor of this city. The contractor agreed to stand good for his fine and the man was released.

And It Has Not Been Decided Whether There Will Be Prosecution.

ALL LETTERS BY ONE WRITER

For some time past anomyous letters have been passing through the local postoffice. The parties who received the letters reported the matter to Postmaster Surles and a quiet investigation was instituted with the result that it is now thought the writer has been located.

Three parties in the city who received the letters reported the matter to the authorities at the postoffice. Two of the letters had been received by married men and the other by a girl. They contained practically the same matter and were to the effect that a woman, whose name was given, would shortly come to this city with evil designs on the parties who received the letters.

One of the men who received the letters had some suspicion as to the writer, and a comparison of the handwriting developed the fact that they were all written by the same hand, and also resembled the writing of the person suspected.

The matter is still in abeyance and it has not been decided whether or not any prosecution will result. The party suspected is in business in the city but is not aware of the fact that suspicion has been fastened where it is.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

In Labor Day Sports at Rock Springs, Particularly in 100 Yards Dash.

Indications point to an unusual number of entries for the various events to be pulled off at Rock Springs Park on Labor day. Applications are received in large numbers every day at each of the points where entry blanks have been placed by the sports committee.

The 100-yard dash is attracting attention even outside the city, and it is probable several sprinters will start who have won fame in their respective localities outside of East Liverpool.

The last name to be recorded under this contest was that of Harry Kerr, who has won many races here and elsewhere. Mr. Kerr's determination to enter the contest has caused the a vast amount of talk among the sporting fraternity, and those who believe in the ability of Charles Walsh have endeavored to induce that sprinter to enter the lists. Walsh now has the matter under advisement, and it is just possible he will decide to enter.

There was talk at one time which indicated that it would be impossible for Walsh to contest on account of the fact that he has been placed in the professional class. This was simply the opinion of the sports committee, and was soon overruled because there is nothing in the clause laid down, under which the race is to be run, which makes any reference to the conditions. Therefore, it is argued, even if Walsh is a professional, which he strenuously denies, he could not be debarred.

An effort is being made to induce the backers of Kerr to put up a side bet, and if this is done Walsh will propably enter. Whether he does or not, however, the event promises to be very interesting, as there will be at least half a dozen starters.

Three parties in the city who received the letters reported the matter to the authorities at the postoffice. Two of the letters had been received by married men and the other by a girl. They contained practically the same matter and were to the effect that a woman, whose name was given, would shortly come to this city with evil designs on the parties who received the letters.

One of the men who received the letters had some suspicion as to the writer, and a comparison of the handwriting developed the fact that they were all written by the same hand, and also resembled the writing of the person suspected.

The matter is still in abeyance and it has not been decided whether or not any prosecution will result. The party suspected is in business in the city but is not aware of the fact that suspicion has been fastened where it is.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

In Labor Day Sports at Rock Springs, Particularly in 100 Yards Dash.

Indications point to an unusual number of entries for the various events to be pulled off at Rock Springs Park on Labor day. Applications are received in large numbers every day at each of the points where entry blanks have been placed by the sports committee.

The 100-yard dash is attracting attention even outside the city, and it is probable several sprinters will start who have won fame in their respective localities outside of East Liverpool.

The last name to be recorded under this contest was that of Harry Kerr, who has won many races here and elsewhere. Mr. Kerr's determination to enter the contest has caused the a vast amount of talk among the sporting fraternity, and those who believe in the ability of Charles Walsh have endeavored to induce that sprinter to enter the lists. Walsh now has the matter under advisement, and it is just possible he will decide to enter.

There was talk at one time which indicated that it would be impossible for Walsh to contest on account of the fact that he has been placed in the professional class. This was simply the opinion of the sports committee, and was soon overruled because there is nothing in the clause laid down, under which the race is to be run, which makes any reference to the conditions. Therefore, it is argued, even if Walsh is a professional, which he strenuously denies, he could not be debarred.

An effort is being made to induce the backers of Kerr to put up a side bet, and if this is done Walsh will propably enter. Whether he does or not, however, the event promises to be very interesting, as there will be at least half a dozen starters.

CABBAGE SO PLENTIFUL THAT THEY ARE GIVEN AWAY

Authorities on the subject assert that the crop of cabbage is more extensive than for many years. As an evidence of this it is estimated that not less than 20 wagon loads of the choicest of cabbage was brought to the city on Saturday, and either sold at a genuine sacrifice or given away.

One man was seen to draw up at a residence on Washington street, and after summoning the housewife, offered to give her all she could use. "I came to town this morning with 100 heads of the best cabbage I ever saw," he said, "and when I attempted to sell it to local dealers what do you suppose they offered—10 cents a bushel. Before I would sell it at that price I would give it away to my customers, and that is exactly what I am doing."

On account of the very favorable condition of the weather during the early spring and throughout the summer, all sorts of vegetables and garden truck have done well, and as a natural consequence have been very cheap.

A CHICAGO EDITORIAL.

There appeared in the Chicago Chronicle, the only Democratic daily of that city, a few days ago, under the caption, "Now a Pottery Trust," the following editorial. It was published the day following the issue which contained an exhaustive account of a meeting held in Chicago by a number of pottery manufacturers for the purpose of forming a combination, and which story was republished in this paper at that time. The editorial in full follows: "There is now prospect of a pottery trust. Representatives of the principal potteries of the country met in Chicago yesterday to discuss the formation of an association to control the output and prices of all the establishments in their line in the country. This, we are to understand, means that they are beginning to compete with one another and to cut under the prices to which they are legally entitled under the Dingley tariff. A good many years ago when there was talk of reducing the tariff the potters met and indignantly protested against any reduction on articles competing with their products and proclaimed to all the land that they were entitled to the home market. By that they meant that the American people had no right to buy crockery where they could get it at prices fixed by world-wide competition, but that they, the American potters, had a right to extort some 50 per cent. more than competitive prices from their countrymen. A Republican congress agreed with them. They seem to have got along until now without competing among themselves and to have taken their full pound of flesh under the Shylock tariff, but now they must get together in a trust or the long-suffering public will at last get the benefit of a little competition among the potters who have a right to skin them under the shelter of laws."

There are some sentences in the editorial which are quite true, but when the writer states that the potters have begun competing with one another, that is what they have boing ever since there were two potteries established in this section. As to the price cutting, some manufacturers claim others have been selling under the list, and the latter retaliate by making the same charge. However true that may be, it does not follow that all manufacturers sell under the list. These are matters for the manufacturers to consider among themselves, and not for the outside public to meddle with. No business man knows more about his competitor's business than the man does himself, and if after an agreement has been entered into that there shall be no price cutting, no one is to answer for it but he who violates that agreement.

WASTING ENERGY.

In another column will be found a call for a special meeting of Jiggermen's local No. 12, to be held in the Brotherhood Hall tomorrow evening. The business that is to be considered at this session is of the most vital importance, as there is to be presented a plan for the establishment of a uniform work day. Owing to this matter coming before the meeting, the attendance should be very large. As far as can be learned quite a number of jiggermen favor the plan of having a limit set to their work. In some instances, a jiggerman who can make 200 or more dozen of plates a day, pays his help the same wages as the jiggerman who is not so fast, and who can make only from 150 to 175 dozen plates a day. The latter jiggerman, owing to conditions, is compelled to pay his help the same as the more speedy workman. This, it is averred by some, is not right. The jiggerman who prides himself in the fact that he is a fast workman, not only wears out his own energy, but that of his batter out, mould runner and his finisher. If all were on an equality, it is claimed, the jiggerman would work six days a week instead of four, as many now do, and he also would be better off financially. By having a limit to the work, the manufacturer would get more ware by the jiggerman working six days than by having the jiggerman working four, and, taking the matter all around, everybody would be better off. The question is a most important one, and in order that full consideration be given it, exery jiggerman in the city should attend the meeting.

TRADE IS VOTING.

It is expected that during the present week, the result of he vote of the several locals of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, as to whether $1,000 shall be taken from the defense fund of the national organization will be received by national Secretary Thomas J. Duffy and the result will be announced just as soon as possible. When President Hughes received a call for assistance from President Mitchell, of the Miners' Association, the officials of the Brotherhood were powerless to take any action without a vote of the trade. Consequently a circular letter was sent to the secretary of every local in the Brotherhood asking if a subscription should be taken from the trade for the assistance of the striking miners, or should $1,000 be sent President Mitchell from the defense fund of the national organization. If the vote shows that a subscription would be the better plan, and that more money could be sent the miners by so doing, they would not be able to receive assistance for a month at least, for it would take about this length of time to forward all the money subscribed to Secretary Duffy. If the vote is in favor of taking the money from the defense fund, it can be sent to President Mitchell immediately. To appropriate the funds of the Brotherhood to aid another oganization is a point not covered by the constitution, so the request has been left to the individual vote of the members. All the locals in this city which have considered the question have reported favorably to making an appropriation from the national treasury.

INCREASING CAPACITY.

The plant of the American Porcelain company on Block House run, New Brighton, is to be considerably enlarged and the capacity greatly increased. The contract has been let to Martsolf Bros., of New Brighton, for the erection of three buildings. One of these is a pressing room 35 by 100 feet in size and the other two are kiln houses 50x108 feet. The buildings are to be of frame and have slate roofs. The contract price was not given but will reach several thousand dollars. Several new kilns are in course of construction at this plant.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS.

All the labor locals of this city, meeting this week, will make their final arrangements for the Labor Day demonstration. Some locals which met last week, do not meet this week, and they are fully prepared to observe the day in an appropriate manner. Locals meeting this week will appoint committees to look after details concerning their particular local organization, and this about all that is to be done. The demonstration will be a greater success this year than ever before, judging from plans already made known.

PACKERS' SPECIAL SESSION.

The Packers' local No. 25, at their meeting last Friday evening, decided to hold a special meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall next Thursday evening. The meeting is to be a most important session, and things that will be talked over at this meeting have been in the hands of a special committee for several weeks. Members of the local will not talk of the subject that will be discussed, but the session will be the most important the local has held for many weeks.

JOINT CONFERENCE TONIGHT.

What may be the last joint conference of committees representing the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the Western Manufacturing of Potters' Association, will be held this evening in the rooms of the Potter's Club for the purpose of trying to effect an adjustment of that dispute of long standing, relative to the placing of flat ware in the first ring of the biscuit kilns. It is to be hoped an agreement will be reached.

OTHERS ALSO SURPRISED.

William Hitzelberger, of White's pottery, Utica, N. Y., was in the city on a tour of inspection a few days last week, desiring to note what this pottery center was doing—having heard of some of the wonderful semi-porcelain steins that are being made here, and desiring to see how they compare with his German stoneware production. He stated that he was agreeably surprised at the magnitude and character of local potteries.

HAVE GONE EAST.

WEST IS BOOMING.

Mr. Wilhelm, of Yonker Bros., Des Moines, Ia., spent two or three days here last week placing orders. Iowa is unusually prosperous, he said, and business generally is booming there. Harvesting, except corn, is practically done, and active retail trade is now going on.

OFF TO THE LAKE.

H. P. Knoblock, of the Dresden pottery company, accompanied by Mrs. Knoblock, left today for a short outing at Mackinac, where they will spend some time for the benefit of the health of Mr. Knoblock, who has been ill for some time.

CHANGED THEIR OFFICE.

Within the past fortnight quite a number of changes have been made in the office of the Burford pottery. Things have been changed around, little improvements added here and there, and the office is now one of the neatest in the city.

PRESIDENT HOME.

President George C. Murphy, of the East Liverpool potteries, has returned to the city from an extended trip through the west, where he went for a jaunt in which business and pleasure were combined.

ALMOST COMPLETED.

The rebuilding of the "Old End" is going along rapidly and the roof is now completed. This rebuilt section will be devoted to semi-vitreous porcelain, instead of white granite, as heretofore. This will give fourteen kilns on semi-porcelain, nine on white granite, eight on china. The demands for their semi-vitreous porcelain have been so large that they were compelled to make this change.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Daniel Fitzgerald, who is employed as kilnman at the Tiltonville pottery, has been granted a transfer card from No. 9.

No. 9, kilnmen, expect 400 men in line next Monday. This local always had a good turnout, but it is expected to be larger this year than it was last.

Dippers' local No. 18 expect to have a large turnout in the Labor Day parade. Out of a possible membership of 65, fully 50 men are expected to turn out.

George Harris, an oddman at Laughlin's, in the East End, who has been ill for sometime has gone to Bridgewater, Pa., where he consulted a physician concerning his ailment.

MOTORMEN SHIFTED

Lorenzo Donovan Goes Back on the Road And Many Changes Result.

Quite a change has been made among the motormen of the East Liverpool Railway company. Commencing with the fifth morning run, all motormen have been thrown back one run, but no changes have been made with the conductors. A year ago or more, Lozenzo Donovan, who was formerly a motorman on this road, was taken from the road and placed in the barn, where he looked after carpenter and other work. By taking his run out once in six months he was allowed to hold his position on the list, this being one of the rules of the company and also of the street railway local. This rule was lived up to by Mr. Donovan, and after he returned recently from his vacation he decided to go back on the road steady. This change occurred this morning, and Mr. Donovan took out his regular run, which was No. 5.

While Mr. Donovan was working in the barn all the regular motormen were advanced one run, and run No. 5 was held by Motorman Frank Fowler. Commencing with Mr. Fowler all motormen were dropped back one run, and at the last of the list one motorman was placed on the extra list, until such time as a change in the schedule would be made.

DRUNKEN YOUNG MEN

Disturbed East End Sunday Quiet and Police Aid Was Called For.

A crowd of young men, whose names are not known, caused considerable noise in the East End at an early hour yesterday morning. It appears that some of them were intoxicated, and commenced to make a noise while loafing about the East End station platform. They then went to Walnut alley, near the McKinnon residence, and more noise was made. One of the men in the party was said to be so drunk that he fell into the gutter in the alley, his head and face lying in the gutter while his feet were lying on the pavement.

Officer John Spence was sent to the scene, took the young man to his home, and the indcident was then closed. It was said that the same crowd went to the rear door of the Allison restaurant on Mulberry street, and failing to gain entrance, tore the screen door from the hangings.

A FINE BALL GAME

Imperials Defeat East End Grays—Remarkable Playing of Chambers.

There was a base ball game at Columbian park Saturday afternoon which proved most interesting. The contesting clubs were the Imperials and the East End Grays, and the Imperials won by a score of 7 to 3. A feature of the game was the playing of Dick Chambers, who made a record which has probably never been equalled. He held the position of short stop.

Chambers had 12 putouts and one assist in all and he played an errorless game. The remarkable part of his playing was said to be the 12 putouts, which were all made on pop flies, only one ground ball going to short, and although it was a "hot one," Chambers gathered it in like a professional player. The players for both teams give credit to Chambers for his clever work.

POISONED BY FOOD

An East End Man Taken Ill From a Peculiar Cause at New Cumberland.

A number of people while at their boarding house at New Cumberland last Friday ate something that disagreed with them, and now all are sick. Poison is said to be the cause. One of those whom it is claimed was poisoned was C. G. Herbert, a turner at the Chelsea, and whose home is in the East End.

Mr. Herbert came to his home on Virginia avenue, Saturday, and he is still a very sick man. There were five others who ate at the same table on Friday, and all are reported ill. The lady who managed the boarding house is said to be sick also.

MORE NEW HOUSES

Seven Residences Built By Dr. Calhoun on Madison Street Nearing Completion.

Dr. W. A. Calhoun, of Virginia avenue, who sometime ago let the contract for seven residences to be built on Madison street, Calhoun's addition, will have several of the new houses turned over to him this week. The painters are now completing their work upon these, and the foundations for several of the others were commenced this morning. These residences will cost in the neighborhood of from $1,000 to $1,200 each, and many of them have already been rented.

This part of the city is growing rapidly, and it seems that more new homes have erected in that particular locality since spring than in any other part of the East End.

Street Railway Men Met.

A short meeting of division No. 52, street railway employes, of this city, was held in their hall on First avenue, Saturday night, but not much business was transacted. Three new members were obligated, and some matters pertaining to Labor day were talked over. As many employes of the road as can get off from work on that day will take part in the Labor day parade, but if the company operates a number of extra cars during the morning, not many of the employes will be able to turn out, as they desire.

To Discuss Church Work.

A joint meeting of the session and teachers and officers of the Second U. P. church will be held tomorrow evening in the lecture room of the church for the purpose of talking over plans for the winter work to be accomplished at this church. The session will be a most interesting one, and it is expected that all teachers and officers of the Sunday school will be present.

Hoyt Is Improving.

A letter was received in the East End today by Captain Terrence, of the East End fire station, from J. H. Hoyt, formerly employed on the street force in the East End, but who has been confined to a ward in the West End hospital at Pittsburg, stating that the operation which he suffered was quite successful, and that he expected to return to the East End in a short time.

Going to Mechanicstown.

Elmer E. Stevenson and Emmet Chambers, who have formed a partnership and will open a general store at Mechanicstown, will leave for that town in a short time. The new building they will occupy is about completed, and it is their intention to open for business about next Monday week.

Stewards' Meeting.

The stewards of the Erie street M. E. church will meet in the church next Thursday evening for the purpose of transacting business connected with the new parsonage.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

William, the little son of Mr and Mrs. Jeff Green, of High street, who has been suffering with scarlet fever for some time, is recovering rapidly, although he is able to be out, his condition is somewhat weak.

Rev. Mr. Fisher, a theological student at Allegheny, preached two interesting sermons at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday, owing to the absence of Rev. N. M. Crowe. The latter will return to the East End this week from his vacation.

A Sure Cure for Diarrhoea.

Coming as it does, in the busiest season, when a man can least afford to lose time, a sure and quick cure for diarrhoea is very desirable. Anyone who has given it a trial will tell you that the quickest, surest and most pleasant remedy in use for this disease is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. There is no loss of time when it is used, as one or two doses of it will cure any ordinary attack. It never fails, not even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

The governor will urge in a special message, to be submitted at the opening of the session that the legislature confine its work to the enactment of a municipal code and the repeal of the Roger law passed at the session last winter, which by an error, deprived the supreme court of jurisdiction in a large class of civil cases.

No objection can be raised to the candidate for congress selected at the Labor convention at Alliance on Saturday save that he is Democrat, and Democratic principles and Democratic ideas, for many and excellent reasons, are not approved by the workingmen of the Eighteenth district of Ohio. If the laboring men of the district want a man in congress to look after their interests they should select a member of a party which has always befriended and promoted those interests. Mr. Duffy, whatever his ideas on the tariff question, would not be able, even if he should get into congress, to work a reform in the Democracy. The record of that party, as it affects the workingmen, is known, and a repetition of it is feared. There was no excuse for a labor-political convention at Alliance, and no good reason why that convention, after it had assembled, should feel it incumbent upon it to nominate a candidate for congress. Aside from the questionable wisdom of labor unions going into politics at all, there are the strongest of reasons why such a move is not advisable now. The great majority of the members of the labor unions in this district are Republicans. The Republican candidate for congress, James Kennedy, of Youngstown, is a man of mature years and of much experience in public life. Living in a workingman's district, he has given much attention to the tariff question and all other questions affecting the interests of labor. Nobody has any fault to find with his record in this or any other respect, and there is no reason to suspect that the welfare of his constituents, whether laboring men or capitalists, will not be scrupulously looked after by him whem he is elected the successor of Hon. Robert W. Tayler in congress. The Republicans of the Eighteenth district are not bolters, and certainly they will not bolt from a good candidate without reason. Kennedy will be the next congressman, and the Democratic effort to form a labor auxiliary will come to naught. It is a satisfaction to note that the unions of East Liverpool—the strongest union town in the district—gave neither countenance nor support to the ill-advised movement that originated at Alliance, and whose lack of spontaneity and sincerity is shown by the fact that out of some 200 unions in the district, less than 75 delegates were present at the so-called convention.

A communication, published in the Evening News Review of Saturday, earnestly and strongly urges the importance of East Liverpool being represented in the coming meeting of the Ohio River Improvement association. Here is where an active and vigilant board of trade could make itself useful. In the absence of such a body, the suggestion that the city send some sort of a committee to the meeting at Parkersburg is worthy of serious consideration. The tonnage shipped by river from East Liverpool is probably greater in proportion to population than that from any other city along the Ohio valley and it is constantly growing. River improvement means much to the future prosperity of the city, and live citizens want to see all-the-year navigation established at the earlist possible moment.

The illustrated view of the East Palestine postoffice burglary, published in the Reveille Echo of that town, is about the most realistic newspaper picture we have seen for some time. It is to be hoped that it will not get that enterprising journol's staff artist into trouble or into jail.

Gov. Taft got an enthusiastic reception on his return to Manilla. Evidently the people there are satisfied with the sort of government they are getting, and much more depends on that than on pleasing the antis in this country.

A government agent is coming this week to East Liverpool and Wellsville to investigate the establishment of rural delivery routes. They are much needed, and when in operation will be of great benefit to our country neighbors.

The railroads leading out of Pittsburg are so busy with the traffic that they must haul that they are said to have decided to engage to haul no more excursion parties. This is something that never happened before.

Colonel James Kilbourne is the latest Democrat to speak in praise of Governor Nash's code bill. Colonel Kilbourne is a business man whose opinion is valuable.

OBITUARY

He began the practice of medicine at Fairview, in '62. He returned to East Liverpool in 1882 and had since resided here. The doctor was married in 1860 to Margaret M. Purdy, of Allegheny county, Pa., and to this union were born five children, but only two are now living, Dr. Oran P. Andrews, and Miss Mary A., both of this city. Dr. Andrews was a Republican, and a devoted member of the First United Presbyterian church. He was also a member of the Eastern Ohio Medical society and also the American Medical Association.

W. R. Cullen, one of the best known residents of Hancock county, died suddenly at his home in New Cumberland last night from an attack of heart disease. Mr. Cullen was sitting in a chair at his home when the attack came on. He fell to the floor, and when members of the family reached his side he was quite dead. R. man and is survived by three sons and two daughters, and two brothers, John, of Salem, O., Casper, of Greensburg, and one sister, Mrs. Lydia, of this city.

Mr. Weaver was a blacksmith and worked at his trade at Salem until about thirty years ago when he moved to Fostoria, O. He was visiting his daughter at Corapolis when he died of throat trouble.

Mrs. Eliza Nixon.

Mrs. Eliza Nixon, aged 88, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Margaret Nixon, in Sewickley. Old age was the cause of her death. She was born in County Down, Ireland. She lived for 50 years in America, the greater part of the time in Salineville. She moved to Sewickley two years ago. Mrs. Nixon was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. The following children survive her: Margaret Nixon, Sewickley, with whom she had been living; Mrs. Grace Deveney, Cleveland; Mrs. Mary Collins, Elyria, O.; William Nixon, Atlanta, Ga., and John Nixon, Yorkville, O.

Death of an Infant.

SERVICES AT THE PARK

WERE INTERESTING AND HEARD BY LARGE CONGREGATION.

Rev. Edwin Weary Talked Ably And Forcibly of Christianity And Its Mission.

The religious services conducted by Rev. Edwin Weary at Rock Springs park yesterday afternoon were attended by a larger gathering than on the previous Sunday. An interesting musical program, which was highly appreciated, was rendered.

Rev. Mr. Weary delivered a strong sermon on "Christianity." In the course of his remarks he drew a strong distinction between religion and christianity. The Mohammedans and many pagans are deeply religious, but they are not Christians. The highest standard of morals, the highest progress, and right ways of living are only attained by people who are Christians. The religion of Christ has been the greatest factor in modern progress.

Alluding to the prayer offered by a woman on the dancing floor of the pavilion a few nights ago, which had caused much comment, he thought the woman was entitled to praise rather than ridicule. There are few occasions on which prayer is not appropriate; certainly none more appropriate than where a mother believes her daughter to be in danger.

Rev. Mr. Weary further said, speaking of the park services, that he looked for and hoped for the cooperation of other ministers of the city and vicinity. Such services, to do most good, should be entirely undenominational, and the best results and the most interest would be aroused by having ministers of all the various churches to conduct them. He thanked the park officials for the opportunity to hold religious services there, and hoped the work now begun would prosper and be continued another season.

So often people come in and remark "I liked the appearance of things in your store and thought I would come here with my prescriptions." We invite you to come and see if you do not like the looks of our drug store. BIBLE CONFERENCE.

DEVOTIONAL EXERCISES AT WINONA SERVICES.

Many Ministers Were Present.—Memorial Exercises in Memory of Rev. Dr. Purvis.

Warsaw, Ind., August 25.—The services of the National Bible conference at Winona yesterday were devotional in character. The meetings commenced just after sunrise, continuing until late last night. Many noted divines were heard by what was probably the largest gathering in the history of the conference.

Rev. Arthur J. Smith, of New York, conducted the early morning devotional services, and Captain McCrea, of Indianapolis, as superintendent, had charge of the Sunday school at which the attendance was more than 1500. The principal morning sermon was delivered by Rev. John Robertson, of Glasgow. He is one of the strongest preachers and teachers at the conference.

Many Ministers in the Audience.

Twenty-five hundred persons, largely ministers, from every denomination in this country, comprised the audience. John H. Converse, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, opened the conference on evangelistic work, having recently become interested in that branch of religious work.

At this meeting, Rev. John S. McIntosh, of Philadelphia, delivered the chief address, urging co-operation favoring young people's organizations of every denomination throughout the country. A. P. Fitt, of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, gave a lecture this afternoon on Rev. R. A. Torrey's tour of the world, describing particularly Melbourne's simultaneous missions where the church people have thrown aside all denominational lines and have combined in a revival so large and successful on lines laid down by Dwight L. Moody, as to attract the attention of the religious world. Rev. James Mursell, pastor of the Upper Clapton Baptist church, London, led the hillside service, participated in and witnessed by 4,000 people. E. O. Excell, of Chicago, was in charge of the music, directing a choir of five hundred voices.

Memorial Services for Purvis.

The conference held memorial services in honor of Rev. George A. Purvis, of New York, who was prominently identified with the conference until his death last year, and of James Fredenburg, of Springfield, Ill., who also was interested in the conference work until his death. Among the speakers were Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Rev. Marcus A. Brownson, Rev. W. G. Moorehead, Dr. S. C. Dickey, also Rev. Mr Rodgers, of Springfield, the pastor of Mr Vredenburg's church. Rev. John Robertson delivered the evening sermon.

PRESIDENT MITCHELL WILLING.

Wilkesbarre Committee Asked Him to Try and Have Strike Arbitrated.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 25.—The committee from the Public Alliance of this city, which waited on Senators Quay and Penrose at Atlantic City last week and urged them to use their good offices to bring about arbitration in the coal strike, performed a like mission in this city yesterday when they called on President Mitchell and requested him to co-operate with the Pennsylvania senators in bringing about a settlement of the strike. Mr. Mitchell said he would do anything that was honorable to bring about an adjustment and he furnished the committee with some statistics of the strike from the miners' point of view, which were forwarded to Senator Quay last night.

It has just been learned that President Mitchell was badly shaken up in a railroad wreck at Reising, Ill., early last Monday morning. The train ran into a washout and nearly all the cars left the track. The sleeper on which Mitchell was riding left the rails and he was thrown with much force from his berth. The engineer and fireman of the train, however, were the only persons who were injured.

Try to Settle Strike.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 25.—D. J. McCarthy, chairman, and Mathew Long and Harry Silverman, members of the executive committee of the Peoples' Alliance of Hazleton, went to New York yesterday to endeavor to put into operation some plan for looking to a termination of the strike. They decline to make public their plan or to say whom they hope to see in the metropolis. The Peoples' Alliance is composed of business men and miners.

Gobin Thinks Outlook Discouraging

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 25.—Reports received at brigade headquarters yesterday showed the entire anthracite coal field to be very quiet. Brigadier General Gobin said yesterday that a settlement of the strike appears to him to be as far off as when he reached here nearly four weeks ago. The troops will, in all probability, remain here until the strike comes to an end.

SERVICES AT THE PARK

WERE INTERESTING AND HEARD BY LARGE CONGREGATION.

Rev. Edwin Weary Talked Ably And Forcibly of Christianity And Its Mission.

The religious services conducted by Rev. Edwin Weary at Rock Springs park yesterday afternoon were attended by a larger gathering than on the previous Sunday. An interesting musical program, which was highly appreciated, was rendered.

Rev. Mr. Weary delivered a strong sermon on "Christianity." In the course of his remarks he drew a strong distinction between religion and christianity. The Mohammedans and many pagans are deeply religious, but they are not Christians. The highest standard of morals, the highest progress, and right ways of living are only attained by people who are Christians. The religion of Christ has been the greatest factor in modern progress.

Alluding to the prayer offered by a woman on the dancing floor of the pavilion a few nights ago, which had caused much comment, he thought the woman was entitled to praise rather than ridicule. There are few occasions on which prayer is not appropriate; certainly none more appropriate than where a mother believes her daughter to be in danger.

Rev. Mr. Weary further said, speaking of the park services, that he looked for and hoped for the cooperation of other ministers of the city and vicinity. Such services, to do most good, should be entirely undenominational, and the best results and the most interest would be aroused by having ministers of all the various churches to conduct them. He thanked the park officials for the opportunity to hold religious services there, and hoped the work now begun would prosper and be continued another season.

Like the Appearance of Things.

So often people come in and remark "I liked the appearance of things in your store and thought I would come here with my prescriptions." We invite you to come and see if you do not like the looks of our drug store. Many physicians patronize it because of its thorough prescription work, but you can tell a great deal just from appearances.

Salt Rheum

You may call it eczema, tetter or milk crust.

But no matter what you call it, this skin disease which comes in patches that burn, itch, discharge a watery matter, dry and scale, owes its existence to the presence of humors in the system.

It will continue to exist, annoy, and perhaps agonize, as long as these humors remain.

It is always radically and permanently cured by which expels all humors, and is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions.

BIBLE CONFERENCE.

DEVOTIONAL EXERCISES AT WINONA SERVICES.

Many Ministers Were Present.—Memorial Exercises in Memory of Rev. Dr. Purvis.

Warsaw, Ind., August 25.—The services of the National Bible conference at Winona yesterday were devotional in character. The meetings commenced just after sunrise, continuing until late last night. Many noted divines were heard by what was probably the largest gathering in the history of the conference.

Rev. Arthur J. Smith, of New York, conducted the early morning devotional services, and Captain McCrea, of Indianapolis, as superintendent, had charge of the Sunday school at which the attendance was more than 1500. The principal morning sermon was delivered by Rev. John Robertson, of Glasgow. He is one of the strongest preachers and teachers at the conference.

Many Ministers in the Audience.

Twenty-five hundred persons, largely ministers, from every denomination in this country, comprised the audience. John H. Converse, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, opened the conference on evangelistic work, having recently become interested in that branch of religious work.

At this meeting, Rev. John S. McIntosh, of Philadelphia, delivered the chief address, urging co-operation favoring young people's organizations of every denomination throughout the country. A. P. Fitt, of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, gave a lecture this afternoon on Rev. R. A. Torrey's tour of the world, describing particularly Melbourne's simultaneous missions where the church people have thrown aside all denominational lines and have combined in a revival so large and successful on lines laid down by Dwight L. Moody, as to attract the attention of the religious world. Rev. James Mursell, pastor of the Upper Clapton Baptist church, London, led the hillside service, participated in and witnessed by 4,000 people. E. O. Excell, of Chicago, was in charge of the music, directing a choir of five hundred voices.

Memorial Services for Purvis.

The conference held memorial services in honor of Rev. George A. Purvis, of New York, who was prominently identified with the conference until his death last year, and of James Fredenburg, of Springfield, Ill., who also was interested in the conference work until his death. Among the speakers were Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Rev. Marcus A. Brownson, Rev. W. G. Moorehead, Dr. S. C. Dickey, also Rev. Mr Rodgers, of Springfield, the pastor of Mr Vredenburg's church. Rev. John Robertson delivered the evening sermon.

PRESIDENT MITCHELL WILLING.

Wilkesbarre Committee Asked Him to Try and Have Strike Arbitrated.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 25.—The committee from the Public Alliance of this city, which waited on Senators Quay and Penrose at Atlantic City last week and urged them to use their good offices to bring about arbitration in the coal strike, performed a like mission in this city yesterday when they called on President Mitchell and requested him to co-operate with the Pennsylvania senators in bringing about a settlement of the strike. Mr. Mitchell said he would do anything that was honorable to bring about an adjustment and he furnished the committee with some statistics of the strike from the miners' point of view, which were forwarded to Senator Quay last night.

Try to Settle Strike.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 25.—D. J. McCarthy, chairman, and Mathew Long and Harry Silverman, members of the executive committee of the Peoples' Alliance of Hazleton, went to New York yesterday to endeavor to put into operation some plan for looking to a termination of the strike. They decline to make public their plan or to say whom they hope to see in the metropolis. The Peoples' Alliance is composed of business men and miners.

Gobin Thinks Outlook Discouraging

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 25.—Reports received at brigade headquarters yesterday showed the entire anthracite coal field to be very quiet. Brigadier General Gobin said yesterday that a settlement of the strike appears to him to be as far off as when he reached here nearly four weeks ago. The troops will, in all probability, remain here until the strike comes to an end.

CAPTURED BY THE REBELS.

Former Colombian Gunboat Guards Entrance to Panama Harbor.

Kingston, Jamaica, August 25.—Details of the capture of the Colombian government gunboat Boyaca by the insurgents outside of Panama, have reached here. The Boyaca was captured August 1 by the insurgent gunboat Padilla after a short and unequal fight. She had on board at the time nearly 300 soldiers under the command of Generals Ferrero and Enao, who were to reinforce General Morales Berti at Agua Dulce. The Boyaca also carried several colonels, a supply of ammunition and a considerable sum of money.

An American gunner named Ross, who was serving on board the Boyaca declined to sail on her on her last and fatal expedition. Flying the insurgent flag the Boyaca is now guarding the entrance to the Panama harbor, presumably with the intention of preventing steamers or other vessels from bringing government reinforcements to Panama.

NATIVE CONSTABULES AMBUSHED

Ladrones Kill One, Wounded Two and Captured Three.—Taft Resumes Governorship.

Manila, August 25.—Ten members of the native constabulary were ambushed last Tuesday at a point near Magdalena, in the province of Sorsogon, Luzon, by a band of sixty Ladrones. The latter were armed with rifles and bolos and a desperate fight at close range took place. One member of the constabulary was killed, two were wounded and three were captured. Seven constabulary have taken the field in pursuit of the Ladrones.

Former Insurgents Found Honest.

Manila, August 25.—The defense in the Freedom sedition case has called Governor Taft as a witness to show that many former insurgent leaders who were guilty of various offenses not recognized by the laws of war have been appointed to civil positions. Governor Taft gave testimony to the effect that many such former insurgents had been appointed, but that they had proved honest, straightforward and earnest. He said that some of them had been guilty of murder from American standards, but that from their own standpoint they undoubtedly believed their conduct of the war to have been legitimate. Governor Taft said that he had found these appointees to be loyal and that they were not chosen because they happened to be insurgent generals, but because they were men of influence among their own people. He said the experience of the civil authorities with these men had been most satisfactory.

Governor Taft has resumed the governorship of the archipelago, relieving Luke E. Wright, who has been acting governor during Judge Taft's absence. Commissioner Wright is preparing to visit the United States.

CAPTURED BY THE REBELS.

Former Colombian Gunboat Guards Entrance to Panama Harbor.

Kingston, Jamaica, August 25.—Details of the capture of the Colombian government gunboat Boyaca by the insurgents outside of Panama, have reached here. The Boyaca was captured August 1 by the insurgent gunboat Padilla after a short and unequal fight. She had on board at the time nearly 300 soldiers under the command of Generals Ferrero and Enao, who were to reinforce General Morales Berti at Agua Dulce. The Boyaca also carried several colonels, a supply of ammunition and a considerable sum of money.

An American gunner named Ross, who was serving on board the Boyaca declined to sail on her on her last and fatal expedition. Flying the insurgent flag the Boyaca is now guarding the entrance to the Panama harbor, presumably with the intention of preventing steamers or other vessels from bringing government reinforcements to Panama.

NATIVE CONSTABLES AMBUSHED

Ladrones Kill One, Wounded Two and Captured Three.—Taft Resumes Governorship.

Manila, August 25.—Ten members of the native constabulary were ambushed last Tuesday at a point near Magdalena, in the province of Sorsogon, Luzon, by a band of sixty Ladrones. The latter were armed with rifles and bolos and a desperate fight at close range took place. One member of the constabulary was killed, two were wounded and three were captured. Seven constabulary haye taken the field in pursuit of the Ladrones.

Former Insurgents Found Honest.

Manila, August 25.—The defense in the Freedom sedition case has called Governor Taft as a witness to show that many former insurgent leaders who were guilty of various offenses not recognized by the laws of war have been appointed to civil positions. Governor Taft gave testimony to the effect that many such former insurgents had been appointed, but that they had proved honest, straightforward and earnest. He said that some of them had been guilty of murder from American standards, but that from their own standpoint they undoubtedly believed their conduct of the war to have been legitimate. Governor Taft said that he had found these appointees to be loyal and that they were not chosen because they happened to be insurgent generals, but because they were men of influence among their own people. He said the experience of the civil authorities with these men had been most satisfactory.

Governor Taft has resumed the governorship of the archipelago, relieving Luke E. Wright, who has been acting governor during Judge Taft's absence. Commissioner Wright is preparing to visit the United States.

"ENEMY" CAPTURED.

Pillsbury Failed to Make Harbor at Salem; as He Had Planned.

HIGGINSON REFUSED SWORD.

Both Commanding Officers Exchanged Compliments, at the Formal Surrender.—Details of the "Battle" off the New England Coast.

Rockport, Mass., Aug. 25.—The naval search problem on the New England coast was terminated at 5:40 yesterday morning, by the signal, "Surrender, demand and unconditional," from Rear Admiral Higginson's flagship, and the reply, "Accept surrender," from the fore truck of the Prairie, Commander Pillsbury's flagship. The battle between the "blue," or defending squadron and the "white," or attacking squadron, was thus quickly ended eight miles south of Thatcher's island. The enemy had most signally failed to make a harbor, for its objective, Salem. A preponderance of fighting strength, relatively 64 points, represented by the battleships Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts, Scorpion and a torpedo boat, had overwhelmed the 45 points represented by the auxiliary cruisers, Prairie, Panther and Supply. To speak from a theoretic standpoint, the "white" squadron was entirely destroyed by the guns of the defending battleships. Thus on the fourth night the game of naval strategy was brought to an end, it having covered a period of unceasing toil, sleepless nights, of anxious and wearing vigil and of grave uncertainty to its participants.

Anchored There for Some Days.

The destruction of Pillsbury's squadron occurred at 5:40 yesterday morning at a point just within the outer limit of Gloucester harbor, not over eight miles southerly from Thatcher's island, off which had been anchored since Wednesday, when the war game was declared opened, the three powerful battleships, of the "blue" squadron.

The surrounding and "Putting out of action" of the squadron in command of Commander Pillsbury was the culminating climax in one of the most interesting chapters in the peace history of the American navy. For the placing in operation of the manoeuvres of the warships off the coast of New England, the navy had long prepared itself and had long looked forward to them with keen anticipation. As planned by the naval authorities at Washington, two squadrons were to be put into the game, one, the "blue," the defending fleet, and the other, the "white" to be a hostile fleet bent upon effecting an anchorage in some unprotected harbor on the coast from Cape Elizabeth to Cape Cod, opposed all the time by the first named fleet. This anchorage had to be maintained against the defenders for a period of six hours. Commander Pillsbury's white squadron consisted of the auxiliary cruisers Prairie, (flagship), Panther and Supply. The two former boats were each assigned twenty points of fighting strength while the Supply was assumed to represent five points.

Higginson's Fleet Superior.

Admiral Higginson's fleet was actually superior in the number of its members and by the same arrangements made as to the Pillsbury ships it represented a grand total of 97 points of strength. The Kearsarge, the Alabama and the Massachusetts, battleships, were given twenty, the cruisers Brooklyn and Olympia, eight each, the Cincinnati and Montgomery, Gloucester, Mayflower and Scorpion three points each, while a number of torpedo boats made up the remaining numbers. to win in the mimic war the "blue" squadron had to bring against the attacking vessels, as it did early yesterday, warships superior in their assumed fighting power. Each side had the right to capture individual craft of the other fleet by overcoming them in point of strength and under the rules of the game the captured vessels were to retire altogether from the field of action.

In the defeat of Pillsbury, the defence, with three battleships, the Scorpion and with a single torpedo boat, had 64 points, so that the balance was against the attacking squadron. Throughout the mimic war there was placed in operation a system of coast defence which was admittedly of credit to those who engaged in it.

The problem was so complicated that on the war vessels here last night the week's work was viewed with satisfaction for the one reason, if for no other, that the squadron has had invaluable practice.

The final event of these war moves was the sequence of many complicating developments.

Capture Followed Night of Rumors.

The capture came at the end of a night filled with rumors as to the location of the attacking squadron. At 9:30 o'clock last night three battleships of the "blue" squadron got under way in a hurry and sailed to the eastward. The intention was to move on to Portland, and if that had been carried out Admiral Higginson, as it later developed, would have unconsciously swung the balance of his fighting force to that end of the coast line, as Pillsbury had intended he should, but which was not done on account of heavy seas running outside Cape Elizabeth.

Higginson, however, deflected his course back to Gloucester after a swing seaward, in response to a report that the enemy had not been sighted, when it was believed he had been, but in the last hours of the night Pillsbury sailed toward Cape Ann from the outside and, as it proved, right under the very guns of the defending squadron. Commander Pillsbury, when still out to sea, after manoeuvring, headed straight for Salem harbor. But the desired vantage point was never reached.

When his boats had arrived off Magnolia they were sighted by the signal station on Baker's island. A message was sent to the station at Rockport here and the torpedo boat Barney was sent out to notify the "blue" squadron. The station here before this had been informed that Higginson's battleships had been sighted off Gloucester, and that later they had returned to their berths under the lee of Thatcher's island. The Barney's commander was mystified, therefore, when, after rounding Strait's mouth he saw no evidence of the presence of the Kearsarge. On a hazard, the Barney was steered southerly. After Higginson's ship had cruised up and down the coast they went to their anchor off Thatcher's island. At this time the officer on the deck of the Kearsarge was Lieutenant Ray Stone, with Midshipman Wilworth Puleston as the junior officer in command.

Apprentice First Sighted the "Enemy."

In contrast to others, the morning was clear and star bright. On the bridge a dozen jackies stood upon the lookout. One of these was Daniel Staehle, an apprentice of the first class. He stood well forward peering on the lee side. The flagship was just falling down into a trough when he notified the ensign at his side that he could see the enemy. The officer of the deck called Flag Lieutenant Evans and Flag Secretary Bistol, and it was but the work of a moment to inform Admiral Higginson of the probability that the time for decisive action was at hand.

It was real war then. General quarters were sounded. There was a quick rush rush of many feet, the manning of a hundred posts, the clank of the anchor chain, the ringing of bells, the giving of orders and a general clearing for action. Not many moments passed before the flagship was under way, steaming at 14 knots, with the Alabama and Massachusetts many lengths in the rear. Some distance back was the Barney, rapidly overhauling the ships ahead.

At 5:40 o'clock the three battleships, aided by the converted yacht Scorpion, which had chased in from the south in time to be in at the finish, and the Barney, which had overtaken the fleet, formed a horseshoe about the "white" squadron. The elation among the men on board the "blue" squadron ran high.

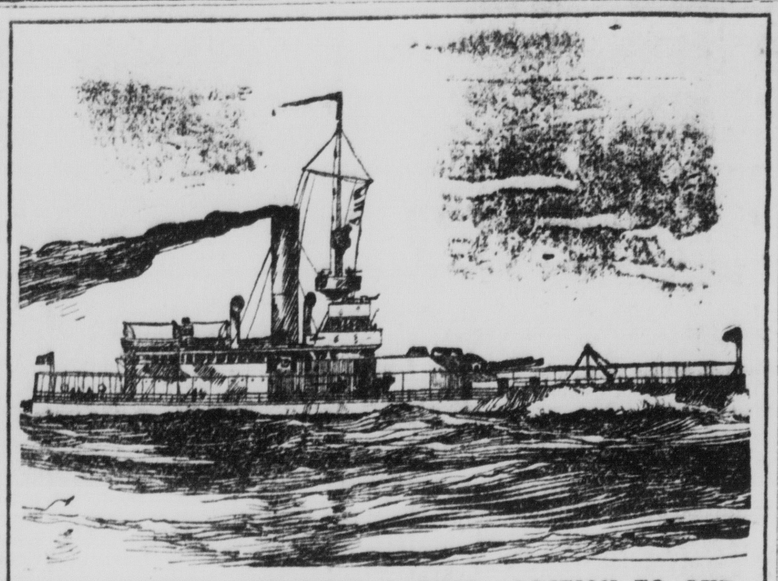

There was something pathetic in the picture when Commander Uillsbury, after he had signalled his surrender, passed in his barge from the Prairie, walked up the starboard gangway of the Kearsarge, and offered his sword to Admiral Higginson.

Gallantry to Defeated Foe.

"Keep your sword, sir," said the senior officer, his voice quavering a bit in spite of himself. "I would not accept the sword from so gallant a foe."

"And I, sir," responded Pillsbury, with dignity, "could not surrender to a nobler or better officer, sir."

This exchange of words ended the actual surrender, and at the invitation of Admiral Higginson, Commander Pillsbury stepped down to the cabin of the eKarsarge and here the two officers discussed in privacy the incidents of the days since the "Declaration of hostilities" on Wednesday.

The single turreted monitor Arkansas, which on her recent trial trip exceeded the contract speed requirement by nearly three-quarters of a knot an hour, will undoubtedly be accepted by the government, inasmuch as she has proven herself otherwise as thoroughly satisfactory. The Arkansas is one of the four coast defense vessels authorized by congress in 1899. At a cost of approximately $1,000,000 she has a tonnage displacement of 3,214, a horsepower of 3,235 and a guaranteed speed of 11 1-2 knots. She is designed to carry a main battery of two 12-inch and four 4-inch rifles and a secondary battery of three 6-pounder and six 1-pounder rapid firers and one machine gun. The heavy armor belt and the slight freeboard of the Arkansas combine to make her a formidable war engine for work near the coast.

"ENEMY" CAPTURED.

Pillsbury Failed to Make Harbor at Salem; as He Had Planned.

HIGGINSON REFUSED SWORD.

Both Commanding Officers Exchanged Compliments, at the Formal Surrender.—Details of the "Battle" off the New England Coast.

Rockport, Mass., Aug. 25.—The naval search problem on the New England coast was terminated at 5:40 yesterday morning, by the signal, "Surrender, demand and unconditional," from Rear Admiral Higginson's flagship, and the reply, "Accept surrender," from the fore truck of the Prairie, Commander Pillsbury's flagship. The battle between the "blue," or defending squadron and the "white," or attacking squadron, was thus quickly ended eight miles south of Thatcher's island. The enemy had most signally failed to make a harbor, for its objective, Salem. A preponderance of fighting strength, relatively 64 points, represented by the battleships Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts, Scorpion and a torpedo boat, had overwhelmed the 45 points represented by the auxiliary cruisers, Prairie, Panther and Supply. To speak from a theoretic standpoint, the "white" squadron was entirely destroyed by the guns of the defending battleships. Thus on the fourth night the game of naval strategy was brought to an end, it having covered a period of unceasing toil, sleepless nights, of anxious and wearing vigil and of grave uncertainty to its participants.

Anchored There for Some Days.

The destruction of Pillsbury's squadron occurred at 5:40 yesterday morning at a point just within the outer limit of Gloucester harbor, not over eight miles southerly from Thatcher's island, off which had been anchored since Wednesday, when the war game was declared opened, the three powerful battleships, of the "blue" squadron.

The surrounding and "Putting out of action" of the squadron in command of Commander Pillsbury was the culminating climax in one of the most interesting chapters in the peace history of the American navy. For the placing in operation of the manoeuvres of the warships off the coast of New England, the navy had long prepared itself and had long looked forward to them with keen anticipation. As planned by the naval authorities at Washington, two squadrons were to be put into the game, one, the "blue," the defending fleet, and the other, the "white" to be a hostile fleet bent upon effecting an anchorage in some unprotected harbor on the coast from Cape Elizabeth to Cape Cod, opposed all the time by the first named fleet. This anchorage had to be maintained against the defenders for a period of six hours. Commander Pillsbury's white squadron consisted of the auxiliary cruisers Prairie, (flagship), Panther and Supply. The two former boats were each assigned twenty points of fighting strength while the Supply was assumed to represent five points.

Higginson's Fleet Superior.

Admiral Higginson's fleet was actually superior in the number of its members and by the same arrangements made as to the Pillsbury ships it represented a grand total of 97 points of strength. The Kearsarge, the Alabama and the Massachusetts, battleships, were given twenty, the cruisers Brooklyn and Olympia, eight each, the Cincinnati and Montgomery, Gloucester, Mayflower and Scorpion three points each, while a number of torpedo boats made up the remaining numbers, to win in the mimic war the "blue" squadron had to bring against the attacking vessels, as it did early yesterday, warships superior in their assumed fighting power. Each side had the right to capture individual craft of the other fleet by overcoming them in point of strength and under the rules of the game the captured vessels were to retire altogether from the field of action.

In the defeat of Pillsbury, the defence, with three battleships, the Scorpion and with a single torpedo boat, had 64 points, so that the balance was against the attacking squadron. Throughout the mimic war there was placed in operation a system of coast defence which was admittedly of credit to those who engaged in it.

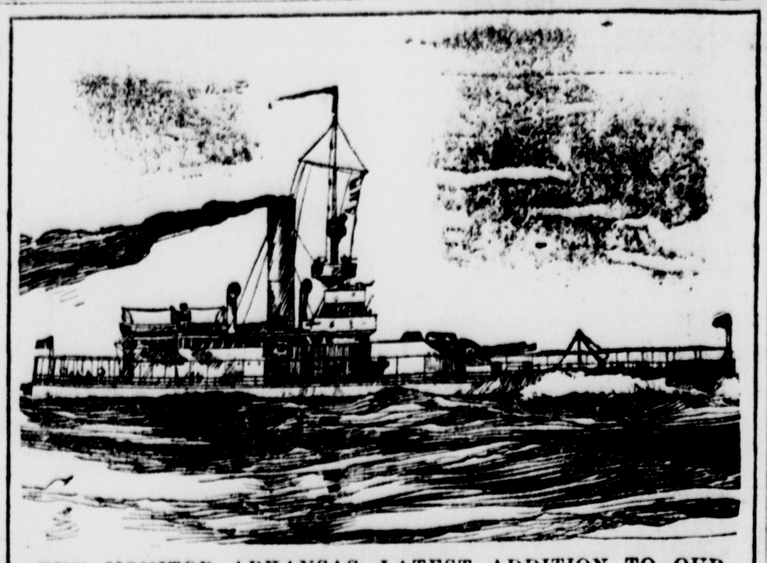

The problem was so complicated that on the war vessels here last night the week's work was viewed with satisfaction for the one reason, if for no other, that the squadron has had invaluable practice.

The final event of these war moves was the sequence of many complicating developments.

Capture Followed Night of Rumors.

The capture came at the end of a night filled with rumors as to the location of the attacking squadron. At 9:30 o'clock last night three battleships of the "blue" squadron got under way in a hurry and sailed to the eastward. The intention was to move on to Portland, and if that had been carried out Admiral Higginson, as it later developed, would have unconsciously swung the balance of his fighting force to that end of the coast line, as Pillsbury had intended he should, but which was not done on account of heavy seas running outside Cape Elizabeth.

THE MONITOR ARKANSAS, LATEST ADDITION TO OUR COAST DEFENSE FLEET.

The single turreted monitor Arkansas, which on her recent trial trip exceeded the contract speed requirement by nearly three-quarters of a knot an hour, will undoubtedly be accepted by the government, inasmuch as she has proven herself otherwise as thoroughly satisfactory. The Arkansas is one of the four coast defense vessels authorized by congress in 1899. At a cost of approximately $1,000,000 she has a tonnage displacement of 3,214, a horsepower of 3,235 and a guaranteed speed of 11 1-2 knots. She is designed to carry a main battery of two 12-inch and four 4-inch rifles and a secondary battery of three 6-pounder and six 1-pounder rapid firers and one machine gun. The heavy armor belt and the slight freeboard of the Arkansas combine to make her a formidable war engine for work near the coast.

swing seaward, in response to a report that the enemy had not been sighted, when it was believed he had been, but in the last hours of the night Pillsbury sailed toward Cape Ann from the outside and, as it proved, right under the very guns of the defending squadron. Commander Pillsbury, when still out to sea, after manoeuvring, headed straight for Salem harbor. But the desired vantage point was never reached.

When his boats had arrived off Magnolia they were sighted by the signal station on Baker's island. A message was sent to the station at Rockport here and the torpedo boat Barney was sent out to notify the "blue" squadron. The station here before this had been informed that Higginson's battleships had been sighted off Gloucester, and that later they had returned to their berths under the lee of Thatcher's island. The Barney's commander was mystified, therefore, when, after rounding Strait's mouth he saw no evidence of the presence of the Kearsarge. On a hazard, the Barney was steered southerly. After Higginson's ship had cruised up and down the coast they went to their anchor off Thatcher's island. At this time the officer on the deck of the Kearsarge was Lieutenant Ray Stone, with Midshipman Wilworth Puleston as the junior officer in command.

Apprentice First Sighted the "Enemy."

In contrast to others, the morning was clear and star bright. On the bridge a dozen jackies stood upon the lookout. One of these was Daniel Staehle, an apprentice of the first class. He stood well forward peering on the lee side. The flagship was just falling down into a trough when he notified the ensign at his side that he could see the enemy. The officer of the deck called Flag Lieutenant Evans and Flag Secretary Bistol, and it was but the work of a moment to inform Admiral Higginson of the probability that the time for decisive action was at hand.

It was real war then. General quarters were sounded. There was a quick rush rush of many feet, the manning of a hundred posts, the clank of the anchor chain, the ringing of bells, the giving of orders and a general clearing for action. Not many moments passed before the flagship was under way, steaming at 14 knots, with the Alabama and Massachusetts many lengths in the rear. Some distance back was the Barney, rapidly overhauling the ships ahead.

At 5:40 o'clock the three battleships, aided by the converted yacht Scorpion, which had chased in from the south in time to be in at the finish, and the Barney, which had overtaken the fleet, formed a horseshoe about the "white" squadron. The elation among the men on board the "blue" squadron ran high.

There was something pathetic in the picture when Commander Pillsbury, after he had signalled his surrender, passed in his barge from the Prairie, walked up the starboard gangway of the Kearsarge, and offered his sword to Admiral Higginson.

Gallantry to Defeated Foe.

"Keep your sword, sir," said the senior officer, his voice quavering a bit in spite of himself. "I would not accept the sword from so gallant a foe."

"And I, sir," responded Pillsbury, with dignity, "could not surrender to a nobler or better officer, sir."

This exchange of words ended the actual surrender, and at the invitation of Admiral Higginson, Commander Pillsbury stepped down to the cabin of the eKarsarge and here the two officers discussed in privacy the incidents of the days since the "Declaration of hostilities" on Wednesday.

SECOND DEFEAT FOR HOMESTEAD

The Crack Players Made But Four Hits and One Run Saturday.

MALEY HAD THEM PUZZLED

His Support Was of the Best—Crowd Was Large And the Game Most Interesting—The Final Score 3 to 1. Crowd Was Enthusiastic.

Maley was an impossibility for the Homestead team again Saturday afternoon and let the visitors down with only four hits and one run. The crack players on the Homestead side went down just as though they had never batted against pitchers on some of the professional teams.

Nagle, who was the first man up in the first inning for the visitors, scored their only run. He picked out a hit and would have been forced at second had not Godwin made a wild throw of Torreyson's grounder. Nagle then scored on a hit by Marshall. After that there was nothing to it but Maley, and although he only struck out three men his support was of the best and the visitors were never at any time in danger of scoring.

The locals did not secure their first run until the third inning. Webb was first up and picked out a hit. He was advanced one base by Maley and scored on Godwin's hit to center field. Maley went out at third in an attempt to reach the base on the fly hit.

The two other runs by the locals were brought in by Emmerling and Maley in the fifth inning. The former rapped out a nice two-base hit. Maley then hit to Nagle, and as no one covered third Emmerling went down and Maley reached first. Both the players scored on a hit by Maag and an error by Jones.

NOTES ON THE GAME.

Homestead will begin to think that Maley has them Jonahed. He has defeated them three times.

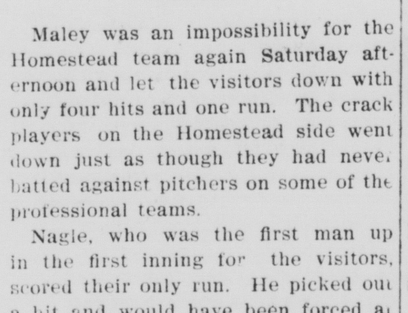

Eights hits and two runs is the total for Homestead in the two games Maley pitched in this city.

Cosgrove came down to assist Homestead in the third game. He managed to get a two-base hit, but was thrown out in an attempt to steal third.

Reark umpired the first five innings. He then called Maag out at the plate and when the crowd objected he threw up his job. Hugh McCarron took his place. "Happy" has surely been in the game long enough to know that the crowd has to have its say every once in a while.

In the three games the fans have certainly shown that they will turn out to witness good games. The three days break the record for the season in attendance.

Osbourn was sent home Friday when it was known that Cosgrove would be here for the game Saturday.

THE FORDS VICTORS

SHUT OUT THE Y. M. C. A. IN A WELL PLAYED GAME.

Brilliant Work on Both Sides, But Hard Luck for the Locals.

Although defeated by a score of 4 to 0, the Y. M. C. A. team put up one of the prettiest games at their park in Chester Saturday afternoon with the H. P. Fords, of the Eleventh ward, Pittsburg, that has been seen in this neck of woods for weeks. There were one or two brilliant plays during the game on both sides, and this added interest to the contest.

In one inning, with two men on bases, McNutt landed on the ball for what looked like three bases, but by a brilliant catch the middle fielder of the Fords the long fly was nabbed and the side retired. There were tears in the eyes of the Association players, for they were sure of three runs had the big fielder dropped the ball. In catching the ball he turned a complete somersault, stood on his head and did all that sort of thing, yet he held onto the ball. The local players seemed to be playing in hard luck, but for a new team their work was very good.

FIGHT AT A PICNIC

EXCITING CLASH IN WHICH WOMEN TOOK PART.

Former Residents of This City Chief Figures in a Lively battle.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dobbs, formerly of this city, were the principal figures in an exciting episode at the recent P. H. C. picnic at New Castle. Reports from Sebring give the story thus:

Dobbs, who is said to be a lover of Mrs. Allison, and Mrs. Allison's husband, now reported to be in Peoria, Ill., were both formerly employed in the Sebring pottery, having removed with their families from East Liverpool. Neither is now employed there from the fact that trouble arose between the two families because Dobbs, it is said, "got sweet" on Mrs. Allison, so Allison left his family and went to Peoria last winter, while Dobbs went to New Castle.

Mrs. Allison, by previous arrangement with Dobbs at New Castle, concluded she would go to the picnic and Mrs. Dobbs got word of the affair. So she packed her lunch basket and took her two children with her, boarded the train just as it was pulling out, unbeknown to Mrs. Allison, and waited for developments at New Castle. No sooner had the train arrived than Mrs. Allison, accompanied by her star boarders—two women and one man—jumped off the train and headed for the big bridge over the Mahoning river, where they met Mr. Dobbs, who had planned to have a pleasant time with Mrs. Allison.

While Dobbs was passing coin to Mrs. Allison, by way of the latter's male star boarder, Mrs. Dobbs came up, accompanied by her children and slugged Mrs. Allison right and left, giving her upper and under cuts, stomach punches and other blows.

When the battle opened Mrs. Allison's male boarder laid his umbrella aside and attempted to protect his landlady, but no sooner had he done so than Mrs. Dobbs' 12-year-old son picked up the rain protector and beat the head of the Allison woman's star boarder into a jelly roll. By this time the Sebring women boarders of Mrs. Allison thought they would take a hand in the melee, but were soon sorry they moved, because little 12-year-old Sammy Dobbs, aided by his sister, pitched in and made them think they had been through a Kansas cyclone.

A policeman who stood on the bridge witnessed the row, and when the Allison bunch went before a magistrate to have Mrs. Dobbs and her children arrested, he cleared them by his testimony and the magistrate discharged them.

THE MONEY PAID OVER

East Liverpool Sports Displeased With the Talk That Followed Lutz-Bunting Fight.

The East Liverpool sports are certainly disgusted with the action of the backers of Ed. Bunting in his bout with Larry Lutz, last Thursday night. They objected to the payment of the stake money to Lutz and it was not until late Saturday afternoon that the $300 was turned over.

All sorts of excuses were hatched up in an endeaver to find some means of keeping the money. They claimed that Referee Foley did not officially announce his decision in the ring; that Lutz was not on hand in time to fight on the 21st, and also that Foley used his elbow on Bunting in breaking a clinch.

The backers refused to allow the stake holder, who is a Wellsville saloonist, to turn over the money until after a lengthy conference was held Saturday afternoon. After the money was paid over Terry Carman offered to back Lutz against Bunting for from $100 to $1,000.

If the Wellsville people still think that Bunting is any match for Lutz, they will have a chance to even up by accepting this challenge.

Cholera Morbus.

This is an extremely dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from it, and in many instances before a physician could be summoned or medicine obtained. Mrs. E. H. Delano, of Durant, Mich., is subject to severe attacks of cholera morbus. During the past four years she has kept at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and says it has always given her quick relief. During this time she has used two bottles of it. This remedy can be depended upon in the most severe and dangerous cases. The safe way is to keep it at hand ready for instant use. BABY'S GODFATHER.

President Roosevelt Officiated at a Christening at Newport, R. I.

THEN WENT TO LODGE HOME.

En Route to Nahant, Mass., Large Crowds Gathered at the Stations and Gave the Chief Executive Enthusiastic Ovations.

Nahant, Mass., August 25.—President Roosevelt left Newport yesterday at 2 o'clock in a sumptuous train of our special cars. Accompanying him to the depot were Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Chanler and Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the two latter journeying with the party to Nahant, the home of the Lodges, where the president spent the night.

A more quiet day could not have been spent by the president. As is his custom, he rose early and, after eating a light breakfast, left the Chanler house about 9 o'clock, and went out to meet Mrs. Roosevelt, who had come up on the Sylph during the night.

President Acted as Godfather.

The president was aboard the ship for about two hours. Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied him ashore and spent about half an hour at the Chanler residence, taking a look at the baby, but did not remain for the christening. She left shortly before the event for Oyster Bay. The president remained at the Chanler villa where the ceremony of christening the baby was performed by Rev. John Diamond, of the Episcopal church in the presence of the president, who acted as godfather, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the latter acting as godmother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, and a large number of the personal friends of the family.

The affair was regarded as one of the most auspicious events of the season at that fashionable resort, due not only to the social prominence of the Chanlers, but to the fact that the president of the United States would act as godfaher to the child for whom it was named.

Traveling on Sunday was something new for the president, but in this instance he was obliged to depart from his usual custom, as he went to Newport for no other purpose than to attend the christening and it was necessary to make the short journey to Nahant yesterday in order to maintain his schedule.

Enthusiasm Over President.

That the enthusiasm attending the president's journey shows no abatement was made evident yesterday by the crowd gathered about the depot at Newport, which cheered his arrival and continued cheering until the train departed and was lost to view.

Stone Bridge, R. I., Fall River, Taunton and Mansfield, in Massachusetts, turned out in force to greet the president, and as each place was reached the train was slowed down, the president appearing on the rear platform and bowing his acknowledgements.

At Boston the entire party disembarked and entered the special, which was standing on another track, the crowd in the meantime keeping up a continuous cheering.

Upon arriving at Lynn, where carriages were in waiting to take the party to Nahant, the sight was one long to be remembered.

Thousands Cheered the President.

Stretched from the depot through the city and across the peninsula to Nahant, a distance of four miles, were fully sixty thousand people, who cheered again and again as the president passed. There were two miles of carriages on either side of the road.

The president rode with Senator Lodge and was escorted from Lynn to Nahant by a troop of cavalry.

The arrival at Nahant was a signal for another outbreak of applause and the two places seemed to vie with each other as to which should be the more cordial in its greeting. Flags and bunting were displayed everywhere.

This afternoon the president will deliver an address from the steps of the public library building in Nahant.

TWO CARS COLLIDED.

Three People Killed, Many Injured—Motorman Failed to Obey Orders.

Norfolk, Va., August 25.—In a head-on collision between two cars on the Bay Shore Terminal line late yesterday afternoon three people were killed and many others badly injured. The dead are:

W. S. Yandell, mororman.

C. B. Colden, motorman.

Linwood Fentress, aged 10.

The accident occurred 400 yards beyond Futas sidingp, about three and one-half miles from Norfolk. One car was coming from Oceanview and the other going to the View. The orders were that the shorebound car should wait at he siding for the other. Motorman W. S. Yandell failed to obey the orders and the crash came 400 yards beyond the siding. Yandell endeavored to jump but was crushed between the telescoped cars and died hanging by his right leg.

MURDERER HAD A CLOSE CALL.

Sailboat Capsized and He Nearly Perished—Finally Caught After Getting Away.

Atlantic City, N. J., August 25.—Leander Smith, colored, angered because Body Clinton was paying too much attention to his wife, shot and instantly killed Clinton in the Hotel Canfield basement Saturday night and then shot his wife, who is dying in the city hospital.

After committing the deed he made his escape, stole a sail boat at the inlet, and started on a sail for some remote point. A few miles at sea a squall struck his boat. It capsized. He was thrown into the ocean and the boat drifted from him. By heroic efforts he succeeded in crawling on the upturned craft and all night he drifted at the mercy of the waves. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning he was found by Samuel Moore, a local merchant, who was out in his private launch, nearly dead from exposure. The murderer told Mr. Moore a story about being on a fishing trip and that his boat had capsized. Mr. Moore took him to Somer's Point and after he landed the negro thanked his rescuer, walked off and disappeared. A few minutes later Mayor E. A. Higbee, of Somer's Point, received a telephone message from Atlantic City asking him to apprehend any strange colored man who may pass that way. The town marshal, who happened to be on the wharf when the man landed, remarked the fact to the mayor. Higbee hitched up his buggy, and after a five mile drive, caught up with the murderer. He invited the man to ride with him as the sun was hot and the day sultry. The man accepted. Higbee drove him to the town jail and locked him up.

Old Bull Dead.

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 25.—Old Bull, an Omaha Indian chief, who was a survivor of the wars waged against the Indians by General Custer, is dead at the Arapahoe Indian agency at Coly, Okla. He was in the Custer battle at the Little Big Horn in 1876, and afterward entered the regular army until retired on account of age.

B'ockade at Venezuelan Port Ended.

Willemstad, Island of Curacoa, August 25.—News has reached here from Venezuela that in consequence of the re-occupation of the port of Carupano in the state of Bermudez, by government forces the blockade at that place has been terminated.

Wireless Telephoning Successful.

Berlin, August 25.—Experiments in wireless telephoning were successfully conducted yesterday between Sassnitz and Kolberg, a distance of 105 miles.

SECOND DEFEAT FOR HOMESTEAD

The Crack Players Made But Four Hits and One Run Saturday.

MALEY HAD THEM PUZZLED

His Support Was of the Best—Crowd Was Large And the Game Most Interesting—The Final Score 3 to 1. Crowd Was Enthusiastic.

Maley was an impossibility for the Homestead team again Saturday afternoon and let the visitors down with only four hits and one run. The crack players on the Homestead side went down just as though they had never batted against pitchers on some of the professional teams.

Nagle, who was the first man up in the first inning for the visitors, scored their only run. He picked out a hit and would have been forced at second had not Godwin made a wild throw of Torreyson's grounder. Nagle then scored on a hit by Marshall. After that there was nothing to it but Maley, and although he only struck out three men his support was of the best and the visitors were never at any time in danger of scoring.

The locals did not secure their first run until the third inning. Webb was first up and picked out a hit. He was advanced one base by Maley and scored on Godwin's hit to center field. Maley went out at third in an attempt to reach the base on the fly hit.

The two other runs by the locals were brought in by Emmerling and Maley in the fifth inning. The former rapped out a nice two-base hit. Maley then hit to Nagle, and as no one covered third Emmerling went down and Maley reached first. Both the players scored on a hit by Maag and an error by Jones.

NOTES ON THE GAME.

Homestead will begin to think that Maley has them Jonahed. He has defeated them three times.

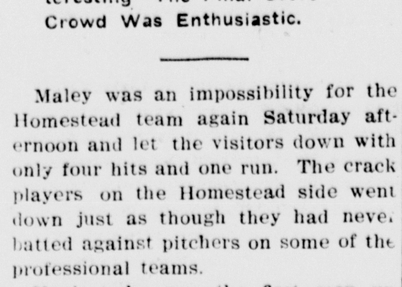

Eights hits and two runs is the total for Homestead in the two games Maley pitched in this city.

Cosgrove came down to assist Homestead in the third game. He managed to get a two-base hit, but was thrown out in an attempt to steal third.

Reark umpired the first five innings. He then called Maag out at the plate and when the crowd objected he threw up his job. Hugh McCarron took his place. "Happy" has surely been in the game long enough to know that the crowd has to have its say every once in a while.

In the three games the fans have certainly shown that they will turn out to witness good games. The three days break the record for the season in attendance.

Osbourn was sent home Friday when it was known that Cosgrove would be here for the game Saturday.

THE FORDS VICTORS

SHUT OUT THE Y. M. C. A. IN A WELL PLAYED GAME.

Brilliant Work on Both Sides, But Hard Luck for the Locals.

Although defeated by a score of 4 to 0, the Y. M. C. A. team put up one of the prettiest games at their park in Chester Saturday afternoon with the H. P. Fords, of the Eleventh ward, Pittsburg, that has been seen in this neck of woods for weeks. There were one or two brilliant plays during the game on both sides, and this added interest to the contest.

In one inning, with two men on bases, McNutt landed on the ball for what looked like three bases, but by a brilliant catch the middle fielder of the Fords the long fly was nabbed and the side retired. There were tears in the eyes of the Association players, for they were sure of three runs had the big fielder dropped the ball. In catching the ball he turned a complete somersault, stood on his head and did all that sort of thing, yet he held onto the ball. The local players seemed to be playing in hard luck, but for a new team their work was very good.

The score:

FIGHT AT A PICNIC

EXCITING CLASH IN WHICH WOMEN TOOK PART.

Former Residents of This City Chief Figures in a Lively battle.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dobbs, formerly of this city, were the principal figures in an exciting episode at the recent P. H. C. picnic at New Castle. Reports from Sebring give the story thus:

Dobbs, who is said to be a lover of Mrs. Allison, and Mrs. Allison's husband, now reported to be in Peoria, Ill., were both formerly employed in the Sebring pottery, having removed with their families from East Liverpool. Neither is now employed there from the fact that trouble arose between the two families because Dobbs, it is said, "got sweet" on Mrs. Allison, so Allison left his family and went to Peoria last winter, while Dobbs went to New Castle.

Mrs. Allison, by previous arrangement with Dobbs at New Castle, concluded she would go to the picnic and Mrs. Dobbs got word of the affair. So she packed her lunch basket and took her two children with her, boarded the train just as it was pulling out, unbeknown to Mrs. Allison, and waited for developments at New Castle. No sooner had the train arrived than Mrs. Allison, accompanied by her star boarders—two women and one man—jumped off the train and headed for the big bridge over the Mahoning river, where they met Mr. Dobbs, who had planned to have a pleasant time with Mrs. Allison.

While Dobbs was passing coin to Mrs. Allison, by way of the latter's male star boarder, Mrs. Dobbs came up, accompanied by her children and slugged Mrs. Allison right and left, giving her upper and under cuts, stomach punches and other blows.

When the battle opened Mrs. Allison's male boarder laid his umbrella aside and attempted to protect his landlady, but no sooner had he done so than Mrs. Dobbs' 12-year-old son picked up the rain protector and beat the head of the Allison woman's star boarder into a jelly roll. By this time the Sebring women boarders of Mrs. Allison thought they would take a hand in the melee, but were soon sorry they moved, because little 12-year-old Sammy Dobbs, aided by his sister, pitched in and made them think they had been through a Kansas cyclone.

A policeman who stood on the bridge witnessed the row, and when the Allison bunch went before a magistrate to have Mrs. Dobbs and her children arrested, he cleared them by his testimony and the magistrate discharged them.

THE MONEY PAID OVER

East Liverpool Sports Displeased With the Talk That Followed Lutz-Bunting Fight.

The East Liverpool sports are certainly disgusted with the action of the backers of Ed. Bunting in his bout with Larry Lutz, last Thursday night. They objected to the payment of the stake money to Lutz and it was not until late Saturday afternoon that the $300 was turned over.

All sorts of excuses were hatched up in an endeaver to find some means of keeping the money. They claimed that Referee Foley did not officially announce his decision in the ring; that Lutz was not on hand in time to fight on the 21st, and also that Foley used his elbow on Bunting in breaking a clinch.

The backers refused to allow the stake holder, who is a Wellsville saloonist, to turn over the money until after a lengthy conference was held Saturday afternoon. After the money was paid over Terry Carman offered to back Lutz against Bunting for from $100 to $1,000.

If the Wellsville people still think that Bunting is any match for Lutz, they will have a chance to even up by accepting this challenge.

Cholera Morbus.

This is an extremely dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from it, and in many instances before a physician could be summoned or medicine obtained. Mrs. E. H. Delano, of Durant, Mich., is subject to severe attacks of cholera morbus. During the past four years she has kept at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and says it has always given her quick relief. During this time she has used two bottles of it. This remedy can be depended upon in the most severe and dangerous cases. The safe way is to keep it at hand ready for instant use. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

Excursion to Atlantic City, Cape May, etc., via Pennsylvania Lines.

August 7th and 21st, and September 11th excursion tickets to Atlantic City, Cape May and eight other seashore resorts will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines at $10 round trip from East Liverpool, good returning sixteen (16) days including date of sale. For particulars about time of trains, ticket conditions and sleeping car reservations consult Adam Hill, Ticket Agent, East Liverpool, Ohio.

BABY'S GODFATHER.

President Roosevelt Officiated at a Christening at Newport, R. I.

THEN WENT TO LODGE HOME.

En Route to Nahant, Mass., Large Crowds Gathered at the Stations and Gave the Chief Executive Enthusiastic Ovations.

Nahant, Mass., August 25.—President Roosevelt left Newport yesterday at 2 o'clock in a sumptuous train of our special cars. Accompanying him to the depot were Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Chanler and Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the two latter journeying with the party to Nahant, the home of the Lodges, where the president spent the night.

A more quiet day could not have been spent by the president. As is his custom, he rose early and, after eating a light breakfast, left the Chanler house about 9 o'clock, and went out to meet Mrs. Roosevelt, who had come up on the Sylph during the night.

President Acted as Godfather.

The president was aboard the ship for about two hours. Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied him ashore and spent about half an hour at the Chanler residence, taking a look at the baby, but did not remain for the christening. She left shortly before the event for Oyster Bay. The president remained at the Chanler villa where the ceremony of christening the baby was performed by Rev. John Diamond, of the Episcopal church in the presence of the president, who acted as godfather, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the latter acting as godmother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, and a large number of the personal friends of the family.

The affair was regarded as one of the most auspicious events of the season at that fashionable resort, due not only to the social prominence of the Chanlers, but to the fact that the president of the United States would act as godfaher to the child for whom it was named.

Traveling on Sunday was something new for the president, but in this instance he was obliged to depart from his usual custom, as he went to Newport for no other purpose than to attend the christening and it was necessary to make the short journey to Nahant yesterday in order to maintain his schedule.

Enthusiasm Over President.

That the enthusiasm attending the president's journey shows no abatement was made evident yesterday by the crowd gathered about the depot at Newport, which cheered his arrival and continued cheering until the train departed and was lost to view.

Stone Bridge, R. I., Fall River, Taunton and Mansfield, in Massachusetts, turned out in force to greet the president, and as each place was reached the train was slowed down, the president appearing on the rear platform and bowing his acknowledgements.

At Boston the entire party disembarked and entered the special, which was standing on another track, the crowd in the meantime keeping up a continuous cheering.

Upon arriving at Lynn, where carriages were in waiting to take the party to Nahant, the sight was one long to be remembered.

Thousands Cheered the President.

Stretched from the depot through the city and across the peninsula to Nahant, a distance of four miles, were fully sixty thousand people, who cheered again and again as the president passed. There were two miles of carriages on either side of the road.

The president rode with Senator Lodge and was escorted from Lynn to Nahant by a troop of cavalry.

The arrival at Nahant was a signal for another outbreak of applause and the two places seemed to vie with each other as to which should be the more cordial in its greeting. Flags and bunting were displayed everywhere.

TWO CARS COLLIDED.

Three People Killed, Many Injured—Motorman Failed to Obey Orders.

Norfolk, Va., August 25.—In a head-on collision between two cars on the Bay Shore Terminal line late yesterday afternoon three people were killed and many others badly injured. The dead are:

W. S. Yandell, mororman.

C. B. Colden, motorman.

Linwood Fentress, aged 10.

The seriously injured are:

W. R. Waller, R. J. Davis, George Stephenson, Mrs. J. P. Stephenson, Joseph White, conductor; M. V Ahern, Benj. Rowson, Miss Lillian Land, John Taylor, colored; Maria Fentress, colored, Miss Ruth Banks, Phoebe Frederick, colored; Corliss, nephew Major Waller, badly injured internally; Mrs. Victor Parks, skull fractured; Louis Parks, internal injuries, expected to die.

The accident occurred 400 yards beyond Futas sidingp, about three and one-half miles from Norfolk. One car was coming from Oceanview and the other going to the View. The orders were that the shorebound car should wait at be siding for the other. Motorman W. S. Yandell failed to obey the orders and the crash came 400 yards beyond the siding. Yandell endeavored to jump but was crushed between the telescoped cars and died hanging by his right leg.

MURDERER HAD A CLOSE CALL.

Sailboat Capsized and He Nearly Perished—Finally Caught After Getting Away.

Atlantic City, N. J., August 25.—Leander Smith, colored, angered because Body Clinton was paying too much attention to his wife, shot and instantly killed Clinton in the Hotel Canfield basement Saturday night and then shot his wife, who is dying in the city hospital.

After committing the deed he made his escape, stole a sail boat at the inlet, and started on a sail for some remote point. A few miles at sea a squall struck his boat. It capsized. He was thrown into the ocean and the boat drifted from him. By heroic efforts he succeeded in crawling on the upturned craft and all night he drifted at the mercy of the waves. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning he was found by Samuel Moore, a local merchant, who was out in his private launch, nearly dead from exposure. The murderer told Mr. Moore a story about being on a fishing trip and that his boat had capsized. Mr. Moore took him to Somer's Point and after he landed the negro thanked his rescuer, walked off and disappeared. A few minutes later Mayor E. A. Higbee, of Somer's Point, received a telephone message from Atlantic City asking him to apprehend any strange colored man who may pass that way. The town marshal, who happened to be on the wharf when the man landed, remarked the fact to the mayor. Higbee hitched up his buggy, and after a five mile drive, caught up with the murderer. He invited the man to ride with him as the sun was hot and the day sultry. The man accepted. Higbee drove him to the town jail and locked him up.

Old Bull Dead.

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 25.—Old Bull, an Omaha Indian chief, who was a survivor of the wars waged against the Indians by General Custer, is dead at the Arapahoe Indian agency at Coly, Okla. He was in the Custer battle at the Little Big Horn in 1876, and afterward entered the regular army until retired on account of age.

Blockade at Venezuelan Port Ended.

Willemstad, Island of Curacoa, August 25.—News has reached here from Venezuela that in consequence of the re-occupation of the port of Carupano in the state of Bermudez, by government forces the blockade at that place has been terminated.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Ordained at Youngstown—Rev. W. H. Beynon, well known in this city, has been ordained as pastor of the Himrod avenue Baptist church at Youngstown.

Will Entertain Friends — Miss Sarah Simms will entertain friends informally tomorrow afternoon at her home on Broadway in honor of her guest, Miss Myrtle Price, of Pittsburg. The same evening Miss Simms will entertain an older crowd of young people.

Barker's Great Record—"Kid" Barker, who is pitching for the Bloomington team of the Three I's league, scored a victory for that team Saturday against the Davenport club. But six hits were made from his delivery, and his record for the game was two hits, one run and two assists, and the score was 4 to 1.

First Teachers' Meeting—The first teachers' meeting of the school year will be held in the high school rooms next Saturday, August 30, at 2 o'clock. An interesting feature of the session will be an address by Prof. Fess, of the Chicago university. Prof. Fess was formerly located at the Ada normal school, but last summer he was called to the Chicago university. He is a very talented man and his address will probably be listened to by a large concourse of people.

Drunken Woman Arrested—For being drunk, Amelia Tower, colored, was arrested by Pat Woods on Kossuth street at noon.

Judgment for Plaintiff—The case of Emma Scott vs. Sherman Vincent was heard in 'Squire Rose's court this morning. Miss Scott sues Sherman for $12 for nursing his wife during illness. Judgment was given the plaintiff for $12 and costs.

To Consider Chapel Building—At the prayer meeting service on Wednesday evening consideration will begiven to the proposed erection of a chapel in Sunnyside by that church. Some time ago property for this purpose was secured and the erection of the chapel is the next matter to be considered.

Seized With Paralysis—While on his way from the uptown district to his home in the West End, William R. Orr, an aged resident of the city was striken with paralysis this morning. Mr. Orr has been in feeble health for some time. His recovery is considered doubtful. Mr. Orr is the father of Councilman LeRoy Orr.

Located After Trouble—The street committee had considerable trouble this morning in locating an anchor pole for the Bell Telephone company in Ddury lane, just off West Market street. The anchor has for some time been located in front of the property of Richard Edmonston. It was finally located on the property line between the Timmons and Rigot properties.

School Improvements — All the school buildings in the city have been undergoing a thorough renovation during the past vacation, and in many of them very great improvements have been made. In the Central building especially the changes have been extensive. Many of the rooms have been fitted with new desks and on the second floor two more rooms have been prepared for the use of the high school. This makes six large rooms and two class rooms which will be occupied by the high school this year.

Mr. Duffy appoint his own committees and was substituted for the first motion.

It was urged that the finance committee should consist of one member from each Central Labor union of the district, and that a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer should be chosen from the same place, a central point in the district, in order that the financial end of the campaign might be administered readily. Alliance was mentioned as a convenient place for headquarters.

The number of committeemen and the plan of campaign were matters left in the hands of the candidate. He will make his appointments at an early date, as soon as he can canvass the field.

Mr. Duffy said he would like to have Mayor Bell, of Massillon, at the head of his committee, if he would accept the place. He also stated that he would appoint Charles Bonsall and R. H. McDowell, of Salem, as members of the committee. The others he asked for time to consider.

Mayor Bell made a brief speech in which he gladly accepted the honor.

A short harmony session was held during which many of the delegates stated that they had had their little squabbles, but that they would be a unit for the ticket. With the understanding that Mr. Duffy would at once take up the campaign work and carry it on to the best of his ability, and with cheers and expressions of good feeling the convention adjourned.

A permanent political organization was effected to urge an active campaign in his behalf. The nominee was required to pledge himself to support if elected, a platform of economics and declaration of principles adopted by the convention in substance as follows:

First—Direct legislation known as the initiative and referendum.

Second—Public ownership of public utilities and co-operative production and distribution.

Third—Lands owned by corporations and lands owned by aliens to be reclaimed by the government, and held for actual settlers.

Fourth—All coin and paper money to be issued by the government as full legal tender. No money to be issued by private banks and no untaxed bonds to be issued by the government.

Fifth—Graduated income tax.

Sixth—The election of President, Vice-President, United States Senators, and federal judges by direct vote.

Seventh—Establishment of a cabinet office to be known as the department of labor, with provision for mandatory arbitration of labor disputes.

Eighth—An eight-hour workday.

Ninth—Postal savings banks with loans at 2 per cent. on ample security.

Tenth—Whenever any corporation or employer shall discharge or blacklist a worker for exercising the right of speech, or for any kindred cause, the department of labor shall upon formal application thoroughly investigate such case, and if said discharge shall be without just cause, the said corporation or employer shall pay all expenses of said investigation and shall be required to reinstate said blacklisted man.

Eleventh—Abolishment of government by injunction.

Twelfth—A rigid Chinese exclusion act.

Thirteenth—Prohibition of employment of children under fourteen years of age at night in shops and factories.

Fourteenth—Infusion of fairness and honesty in politics and against the intimidiation of bribery and other corrupt influences.

A minority resolution adopted required the nominee to make his canvass on the platform adopted, independent of other political organizations and without soliciting the endorsement of any existing political party.

DUFFY'S POSITION

THE CANDIDATE HEARTILY ENDORSES THE PLATFORM.

Did Not Want the Nomination, But It Was Forced Upon Him.

When seen at his office this morning, Thomas J. Duffy said:

"At the Alliance convention I opposed the plan of putting an Independent Labor ticket in the field, as I did not favor it. We were all of the same opinion as to the object we desired to accomplish; but we differed as to the best plan of securing it.

"However, it was decided by a large majority to put an Independant Labor ticket in the field; and, as the welfare of the labor movement will be more or less at stake in this matter, I willingly yield to the will of the majority and will do all within my power to make the movement a success.

"It is needless for me to say that I heartily endorse the platform adopted at the Alliance convention as it contains nothing only what I have been advocating since my connection with organized labor—the principles of pure Trades Unionism.

"I declined the nomination, but the delegates forced it on me. I will do what I consider my duty in the matter, nothing more, nothing less. That is all I can say at this time."

19TH YEAR. NO. 200. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, AUGUST 25, 1902. TWO CENTS.

DUFFY NOMINATED BY THE LABOR PEOPLE FOR CONGRESSMAN

He Had Declined the Honor Once, But Reconsidered—Warm Discussion in the Alliance Convention.

Alliance, August 25.—(Special)—The unexpected happened at the labor convention Saturday afternoon, which contrary to earlier predictions, voted unanimously to make Thomas J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, its candidate for congress. Much energetic discussion was indulged in before the question of making any nomination was decided affirmatively.

Up to 2 o'clock the convention had been devoted entirely to a sort of an experience meeting to get a line on the idea of delegates as to the advisability of placing a candidate in nomination.

Charles Bonsall, of Salem, a receptive candidate for the nomination, was in favor of the nomination of a candidate. He made a speech to that effect.

Mayor Bell, of Massillon, was not in favor of a nomination by this convention. He took the position that inasmuch as the Republican convention at Salem had refused certain requests of the labor unions, the Democratic convention, to be held in the future, should also be given a chance to accept or reject the same requests. He was in favor of requesting the Democratic congressional convention to nominate a labor candidate, and then if that was refused the time would be ripe for labor to nominate its candidate. Mayor Bell is a Democrat.

T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, also a receptive candidate, made a speech indorsing the sentiment voiced by Mayor Bell.

The sentiment of the delegates was strongly in favor of nominating a candidate independent of either of the old parties.

A. E. Long, of Salem, at 3 o'clock moved that a committee on resolutions be appointed. He was declared out of order. Then he moved that the convention resolve itself into a nominating body and nominate a congressional candidate. This precipitated some warm discussions from many of the delegates.

Charles Bonsall, of Salem, made a speech ringing in terms, in which he declared that if nominated on the labor ticket he would not accept or make any pledges to the Democratic or Republican parties.

Duffy and Bell, in sharp speeches, made a vigorous effort to have the convention agree to receive endorsement from the old parties.

A. E. Long, of Salem, bitterly assailed the East Liverpool potters for the reason that there were none of them in the convention.

T. J. Duffy defended the potters and said that the reason there were not more present was because they did not favor politicians leading them.

Long retaliated and said that the reason there were not more potters present from East Liverpool was because they were ward heelers. Duffy jumped to his feet and demanded an apology for the potters. R. H. McDowell demanded to know if Long's charges were true. In behalf of the potters, Duffy said that he had spent his life with them and that none of the potters' officials had ever dabbled in politics.

Good feeling was restored and harmony again sat in the meeting.

A motion to adjourn was voted down by a large majority.

A motion to nominate a candidate carried by a vote of 51 to 12.

At 3:30 Charles Bonsall, of Salem, moved that a committee of three on resolutions be appointed, and that a recess of 30 minutes be taken. The chair appointed as a committee on resolutions Charles Bonsall, of Salem; T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, and Bernard Bell, of Massillon. Then the convention took a recess.

It was 4 o'clock before the committee on resolutions was ready to make a report. It was remarked frequently that Chairman Johnson had appointed on this committee the three candidates for the honor in the gift of the assemblage. The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted unanimously.

As soon as this action had been taken R. W. McDowell, of Salem, secured the floor and stated that he had a short resolution which he would like to have added to the report of the committee. Mr. McDowell stated that if some such measure were not added to the resolutions the candidate might expect little support. The delegate then read the resolution, which pledged the candidate "to make his canvass along the lines of union labor principles and the platform adopted by this convention independent of any other political organization and without the request or solicitation on his part or the part of this convention for the endorsement of any political party; and that we here appeal to all the voters of the district regardless of past party affiliations to endorse our candidate at the polls in November."

The resolution was like a bomb shell thrown into a peaceful camp. It created a profound stir, but was adopted by a decisive vote. Had this resolution not been adopted it is a question whether or not the candidate nominated afterward could have secured the honor. It had the effect of bringing from him an emphatic declaration renouncing old partyism. Such action was made necessary for the reason that Mr. Duffy has been a Democrat, and recently without his consent or encouragement, it is asserted, was boomed for the Democratic congressional nomination by a few designing politicians of East Liverpool.

S. S. Carnahan, of Wellsville, was recognized and proceeded to nominate T. J. Duffy. Mr. Carnahan has been acquainted with the candidate for years, and he made the most of his knowledge in the nominating speech. The nomination was seconded and at once declined by Mr. Duffy. He said he could not accept the nomination under the circumstances that had come up in the convention.

Considerable discussion followed. Finally one enthusiastic delegates succeeded in having a motion adopted asking Mr. Duffy to reconsider his stand. C. A. Collins, a Youngstown delegate, made a strong speech in which he asked the convention not to force the nomination on Duffy.

Mayor Bell said the convention was tying his hands with the adoption of the McDowell resolution. He added that he gave Duffy credit for the position he had taken.

Mr. Duffy was pressed to accept the nomination, whereupon he stated that his services were always will be at the call of the laboring people. He swallowed the McDowell resolution in these words, dramatically uttered: "I am here as a laboring man, and you may do with me as you will."

Scenes of almost riotous confusion followed. There were cheers upon cheers for Duffy, and the hall rang with applause.

A. D. Long, of Salem, then placed in nomination Charles Bonsall, of Salem. Mr. Bonsall at once declined the nomination, and moved to make it unanimous for Mr. Duffy.

There were cheers for Bonsall and cries of "You're all right," following this statement. Mayor Bell's name was urgently called upon Mr. Duffy responded briefly as follows:

"I feel proud of this namination. All I possess is my ability and I am willing to fight on the platform constructed here, for it is what I have been following all my life. I endorse and will work for every clause in your platform. I do not object to being the standard bearer of organized labor whether in victory or defeat. Even good comes to working people in their defeat. I hope this movement will result to the best ends for the working people and I will make every effort to bring it about."

Harry Green, of Sebring, said every local in the district would raise money to prosecute the campaign, and if necessary each union man in the district should go down in his pocket to create a campaign fund.

Mr. Bonsall said it was wrong to assess a candidate and claimed the people, not the candidate, should be the boodlers. Mr. McDowell moved that the body elect a finance and executive committees. Carried. A motion was made by Mayor Bell to the effect that

The Document Short and to the Point. Outlining Work to Be Done.

Remedying the Defects of the Royer Law And Municipal Government All That the Governor Wants Considered Now.

Columbus, August 25.—(Special)—Governor Nash's message, read today to the legislature, was short and to the point. He recommended that no legislation be passed except that remedying the defect in the Royer law and affecting municipal government. He asked that his code bill be adopted, and, although not saying so in so many words, warned against the passage of the code measure of the state board of commerce, and said that the enactment of such a bill would plunge the state into a condition of peril infinitely greater than that which ever confronted the lawmakers before. He advised that the laws relating to schools, county salaries, boards of equalization, registration and elections be referred for revision and recodification to the state school commissioners, attorney general, auditor of state and secretary of state, respectively, with instructions to these officials to file a report of their work to the next general assembly in 1904.

No provision has been made in the governor's code for hamlets. Smith W. Bennett, special counsel in the office of the attorney general, says: "Under the classification as announced by the supreme court, we find no place for that class of municipalities heretofore known as hamlets, and what might appear as an omission, is, in fact, no omission at all. We do not, in the repealing clause of the bill, include any existing statutes for the organization and government of hamlets."

He was removed to his boarding house, and it has since required the united strength of five men to hold him on the bed. He is internally injured.

AN AGED MAN IH MISFORTUNE

Aged 80, and Without a Home He Is Now Found to Be Insane.

RELATIVES AFRAID OF HIM

And He Will Be Taken to Massillon—Wellsvile Divorce Case and Other Matters Before the Courts at Lisbon.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—J. T. Detwiler and John Holloway, of Columbiana, have made formal application to probate court for the admission of Thomas Entriken to the asylum at Massillon.

Mr. Entriken is over 80 years old, and for several months his mind has been affected. His condition is attributed to softening of the brain. He has no home, but has been cared for by his son's widow. He is now considered in a condition unsafe to be allowed at large. He will not be brought into court, but Judge Boone and physicians will visit him tomorrow afternoon. He will then be taken to the asylum.

A DAMAGE SUIT

Brought for Alleged Malicious Destruction of Property Is Appealed.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—A damage case which was instituted in the mayor's court in Washingtonville, was appealed to common pleas court this morning.

Horace G. Tetlow accused George W. Allen of having forcibly and maliciously entered upon his premises in the village. He claims he was damaged to the amount of $100.

The case was heard last week and Tetlow was given a verdict for $45 and costs. Allen will fight the claim.

DESERTED WHILE ILL

A Wellsville Man Sues for Divorce From His Wife on This Ground.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—Robert Smurthwaite, of Wellsville, who married Miss Grace Brown, of Lisbon, about five years ago, has entered suit for divorce. The couple lived together but a short time. Smurthwaite claims that while he was confined to his bed, suffering from fever, his wife abandoned him and returned to the home of her mother in Lisbon.

He was ill for four months and when he recovered his wife refused to live with him.

CABBAGE SO PLENTIFUL THAT THEY ARE GIVEN AWAY

Authorities on the subject assert that the crop of cabbage is more extensive than for many years. As an evidence of this it is estimated that not less than 20 wagon loads of the choicest of cabbage was brought to the city on Saturday, and either sold at a genuine sacrifice or given away.

One man was seen to draw up at a residence on Washington street, and after summoning the housewife, offered to give her all she could use. "I came to town this morning with 100 heads of the best cabbage I ever saw," he said, "and when I attempted to sell it to local dealers what do you suppose they offered—10 cents a bushel. Before I would sell it at that price I would give it away to my customers, and that is exactly what I am doing."

On account of the very favorable condition of the weather during the early spring and throughout the summer, all sorts of vegetables and garden truck have done well, and as a natural consequence have been very cheap.

BEFORE THE MAYOR

USUAL MONDAY MORNING CROWD ON HAND.

How the Executive Meted Out Punishment to Several Offenders.

Mayor Davidson held an interesting session at City Hall this morning. Five arrests were considered, among which were several old offenders. James Cameron, of Beaver, was arrested by Officer Dunn, on Sunday. The prisoner was at one time considered one of the best attorneys of Beaver county, and has been associate counsel with some of the leading attorneys of the county.

For a number of years, however, he has been in all in as he allowed whiskey to get the best of him. He came to East Liverpool Saturday evening and filled up on the favorite beverage and was taken in charge by the officer on Sunday.

The mayor fined Cameron $5.60. Officer Ike Lazarus, of Rochester, was in the city this morning serving subpoenas in a railroad stealing case. He was at the mayor's office when Cameron was given a hearing and stood for the fine. Lazarus is an old friend of Cameron and said that he would be able to secure the amount of his fine.

Officer McDermott arrested Mrs. Ollie Walker, who resides at Walker on Third street, Saturday evening. The woman was very drunk and the officer had to almost carry her to the city hall. Mrs. Walker only had $4 when she confronted the mayor Monday morning, but she sent a friend for the remainder and was discharged on the payment of $5.60.

Wylie Farmer, a youth who has given the police considerable trouble during the past few years, was arrested again by Officers Aufderheide and Dawson. He was drunk again and was released this morning on the payment of $5.60. He stated that he would go to work immediately and with this understanding he was released or otherwise the mayor would have sent him to the workhouse.

Elmer Clendenning was arrested by Patrolman Woods at the corner of Sixth street and West Market Sunday evening. The prisoner was making himself obnoxious to passersby. He is still confined in the jail and he will probably be kept there until he sobers up.

Officer McDermott gathered in Joseph Harkins, of Pittsburg, Saturday evening for drunkenness. Harkins is a brick layer and is employed by a contractor of this city. The contractor agreed to stand good for his fine and the man was released.

UNDERWOOD-STOFFEL

Popular Young People United in Marriage at St. Aloysius' Church.

John Stoffel and Miss Nellie Underwood, two of the best known and most popular young people of the city, were united in marriage at 9 o'clock this morning at the rectory of St. Aloysius' church. Rev. Father T. J. Mahan performed the ceremony and James Kinney acted as best man, while Miss Maggie Stoffel, a sister of the groom, took the part of bridesmaid.

The contracting parties are among East Liverpool's most prominent young people. They left by the noon train for an extended tour in the east.

THE WRITER IS LOCATED

Author of Anonymous Letters Discovered by Quiet Investigation.

NO ARRESTS HAVE BEEN MADE

And It Has Not Been Decided Whether There Will Be Prosecution.

ALL LETTERS BY ONE WRITER

For some time past anomyous letters have been passing through the local postoffice. The parties who received the letters reported the matter to Postmaster Surles and a quiet investigation was instituted with the result that it is now thought the writer has been located.

Three parties in the city who received the letters reported the matter to the authorities at the postoffice. Two of the letters had been received by married men and the other by a girl. They contained practically the same matter and were to the effect that a woman, whose name was given, would shortly come to this city with evil designs on the parties who received the letters.

One of the men who received the letters had some suspicion as to the writer, and a comparison of the handwriting developed the fact that they were all written by the same hand, and also resembled the writing of the person suspected.

The matter is still in abeyance and it has not been decided whether or not any prosecution will result. The party suspected is in business in the city but is not aware of the fact that suspicion has been fastened where it is.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

In Labor Day Sports at Rock Springs, Particularly in 100 Yards Dash.

Indications point to an unusual number of entries for the various events to be pulled off at Rock Springs Park on Labor day. Applications are received in large numbers every day at each of the points where entry blanks have been placed by the sports committee.

The 100-yard dash is attracting attention even outside the city, and it is probable several sprinters will start who have won fame in their respective localities outside of East Liverpool.

The last name to be recorded under this contest was that of Harry Kerr, who has won many races here and elsewhere. Mr. Kerr's determination to enter the contest has caused the a vast amount of talk among the sporting fraternity, and those who believe in the ability of Charles Walsh have endeavored to induce that sprinter to enter the lists. Walsh now has the matter under advisement, and it is just possible he will decide to enter.

There was talk at one time which indicated that it would be impossible for Walsh to contest on account of the fact that he has been placed in the professional class. This was simply the opinion of the sports committee, and was soon overruled because there is nothing in the clause laid down, under which the race is to be run, which makes any reference to the conditions. Therefore, it is argued, even if Walsh is a professional, which he strenuously denies, he could not be debarred.

An effort is being made to induce the backers of Kerr to put up a side bet, and if this is done Walsh will propably enter. Whether he does or not, however, the event promises to be very interesting, as there will be at least half a dozen starters.

A CHICAGO EDITORIAL.

There appeared in the Chicago Chronicle, the only Democratic daily of that city, a few days ago, under the caption, "Now a Pottery Trust," the following editorial. It was published the day following the issue which contained an exhaustive account of a meeting held in Chicago by a number of pottery manufacturers for the purpose of forming a combination, and which story was republished in this paper at that time. The editorial in full follows: "There is now prospect of a pottery trust. Representatives of the principal potteries of the country met in Chicago yesterday to discuss the formation of an association to control the output and prices of all the establishments in their line in the country. This, we are to understand, means that they are beginning to compete with one another and to cut under the prices to which they are legally entitled under the Dingley tariff. A good many years ago when there was talk of reducing the tariff the potters met and indignantly protested against any reduction on articles competing with their products and proclaimed to all the land that they were entitled to the home market. By that they meant that the American people had no right to buy crockery where they could get it at prices fixed by world-wide competition, but that they, the American potters, had a right to extort some 50 per cent. more than competitive prices from their countrymen. A Republican congress agreed with them. They seem to have got along until now without competing among themselves and to have taken their full pound of flesh under the Shylock tariff, but now they must get together in a trust or the long-suffering public will at last get the benefit of a little competition among the potters who have a right to skin them under the shelter of laws."

There are some sentences in the editorial which are quite true, but when the writer states that the potters have begun competing with one another, that is what they have boing ever since there were two potteries established in this section. As to the price cutting, some manufacturers claim others have been selling under the list, and the latter retaliate by making the same charge. However true that may be, it does not follow that all manufacturers sell under the list. These are matters for the manufacturers to consider among themselves, and not for the outside public to meddle with. No business man knows more about his competitor's business than the man does himself, and if after an agreement has been entered into that there shall be no price cutting, no one is to answer for it but he who violates that agreement.

WASTING ENERGY.

In another column will be found a call for a special meeting of Jiggermen's local No. 12, to be held in the Brotherhood Hall tomorrow evening. The business that is to be considered at this session is of the most vital importance, as there is to be presented a plan for the establishment of a uniform work day. Owing to this matter coming before the meeting, the attendance should be very large. As far as can be learned quite a number of jiggermen favor the plan of having a limit set to their work. In some instances, a jiggerman who can make 200 or more dozen of plates a day, pays his help the same wages as the jiggerman who is not so fast, and who can make only from 150 to 175 dozen plates a day. The latter jiggerman, owing to conditions, is compelled to pay his help the same as the more speedy workman. This, it is averred by some, is not right. The jiggerman who prides himself in the fact that he is a fast workman, not only wears out his own energy, but that of his batter out, mould runner and his finisher. If all were on an equality, it is claimed, the jiggerman would work six days a week instead of four, as many now do, and he also would be better off financially. By having a limit to the work, the manufacturer would get more ware by the jiggerman working six days than by having the jiggerman working four, and, taking the matter all around, everybody would be better off. The question is a most important one, and in order that full consideration be given it, exery jiggerman in the city should attend the meeting.

TRADE IS VOTING.

It is expected that during the present week, the result of he vote of the several locals of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, as to whether $1,000 shall be taken from the defense fund of the national organization will be received by national Secretary Thomas J. Duffy and the result will be announced just as soon as possible. When President Hughes received a call for assistance from President Mitchell, of the Miners' Association, the officials of the Brotherhood were powerless to take any action without a vote of the trade. Consequently a circular letter was sent to the secretary of every local in the Brotherhood asking if a subscription should be taken from the trade for the assistance of the striking miners, or should $1,000 be sent President Mitchell from the defense fund of the national organization. If the vote shows that a subscription would be the better plan, and that more money could be sent the miners by so doing, they would not be able to receive assistance for a month at least, for it would take about this length of time to forward all the money subscribed to Secretary Duffy. If the vote is in favor of taking the money from the defense fund, it can be sent to President Mitchell immediately. To appropriate the funds of the Brotherhood to aid another oganization is a point not covered by the constitution, so the request has been left to the individual vote of the members. All the locals in this city which have considered the question have reported favorably to making an appropriation from the national treasury.

INCREASING CAPACITY.

The plant of the American Porcelain company on Block House run, New Brighton, is to be considerably enlarged and the capacity greatly increased. The contract has been let to Martsolf Bros., of New Brighton, for the erection of three buildings. One of these is a pressing room 35 by 100 feet in size and the other two are kiln houses 50x108 feet. The buildings are to be of frame and have slate roofs. The contract price was not given but will reach several thousand dollars. Several new kilns are in course of construction at this plant.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS.

All the labor locals of this city meeting this week, will make their final arrangements for the Labor Day demonstration. Some locals which met last week, do not meet this week, and they are fully prepared to observe the day in an appropriate manner. Locals meeting this week will appoint committees to look after details concerning their particular local organization, and this about all that is to be done. The demonstration will be a greater success this year than ever before, judging from plans already made known.

PACKERS' SPECIAL SESSION.

The Packers' local No. 25, at their meeting last Friday evening, decided to hold a special meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall next Thursday evening. The meeting is to be a most important session, and things that will be talked over at this meeting have been in the hauds of a special committee for several weeks. Members of the local will not talk of the subject that will be discussed, but the session will be the most important the local has held for many weeks.

JOINT CONFERENCE TONIGHT.

What may be the last joint conference of committees representing the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the Western Manufacturing of Potters' Association, will be held this evening in the rooms of the Potter's Club for the purpose of trying to effect an adjustment of that dispute of long standing, relative to the placing of flat ware in the first ring of the biscuit kilns. It is to be hoped an agreement will be reached.

OTHERS ALSO SURPRISED.

William Hitzelberger, of White's pottery, Utica, N. Y., was in the city on a tour of inspection a few days last week, desiring to note what this pottery center was doing—having heard of some of the wonderful semi-porcelain steins that are being made here, and desiring to see how they compare with his German stoneware production. He stated that he was agreeably surprised at the magnitude and character of local potteries.

HAVE GONE EAST.

WEST IS BOOMING.

Mr. Wilhelm, of Yonker Bros., Des Moines, Ia., spent two or three days here last week placing orders. Iowa is unusually prosperous, he said, and business generally is booming there. Harvesting, except corn, is practically done, and active retail trade is now going on.

OFF TO THE LAKE.

H. P. Knoblock, of the Dresden pottery company, accompanied by Mrs. Knoblock, left today for a short outing at Mackinac, where they will spend some time for the benefit of the health of Mr. Knoblock, who has been ill for some time.

CHANGED THEIR OFFICE.

Within the past fortnight quite a number of changes have been made in the office of the Burford pottery. Things have been changed around, little improvements added here and there, and the office is now one of the neatest in the city.

PRESIDENT HOME.

President George C. Murphy, of the East Liverpool potteries, has returned to the city from an extended trip through the west, where he went for a jaunt in which business and pleasure were combined.

ALMOST COMPLETED.

The rebuilding of the "Old End" is going along rapidly and the roof is now completed. This rebuilt section will be devoted to semi-vitreous porcelain, instead of white granite, as heretofore. This will give fourteen kilns on semi-porcelain, nine on white granite, eight on china. The demands for their semi-vitreous porcelain have been so large that they were compelled to make this change.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Daniel Fitzgerald, who is employed as kilnman at the Tiltonville pottery, has been granted a transfer card from No. 9.

No. 9, kilnmen, expect 400 men in line next Monday. This local always had a good turnout, but it is expected to be larger this year than it was last.

Dippers' local No. 18 expect to have a large turnout in the Labor Day parade. Out of a possible membership of 65, fully 50 men are expected to turn out.

George Harris, an oddman at Laughlin's, in the East End, who has been ill for sometime has gone to Bridgewater, Pa., where he consulted a physician concerning his ailment.

EAST END

MOTORMEN SHIFTED

Lorenzo Donovan Goes Back on the Road And Many Changes Result.

Quite a change has been made among the motormen of the East Liverpool Railway company. Commencing with the fifth morning run, all motormen have been thrown back one run, but no changes have been made with the conductors. A year ago or more, Lozenzo Donovan, who was formerly a motorman on this road, was taken from the road and placed in the barn, where he looked after carpenter and other work. By taking his run out once in six months he was allowed to hold his position on the list, this being one of the rules of the company and also of the street railway local. This rule was lived up to by Mr. Donovan, and after he returned recently from his vacation he decided to go back on the road steady. This change occurred this morning, and Mr. Donovan took out his regular run, which was No. 5.

While Mr. Donovan was working in the barn all the regular motormen were advanced one run, and run No. 5 was held by Motorman Frank Fowler. Commencing with Mr. Fowler all motormen were dropped back one run, and at the last of the list one motorman was placed on the extra list, until such time as a change in the schedule would be made.

DRUNKEN YOUNG MEN

Disturbed East End Sunday Quiet and Police Aid Was Called For.

A crowd of young men, whose names are not known, caused considerable noise in the East End at an early hour yesterday morning. It appears that some of them were intoxicated, and commenced to make a noise while loafing about the East End station platform. They then went to Walnut alley, near the McKinnon residence, and more noise was made. One of the men in the party was said to be so drunk that he fell into the gutter in the alley, his head and face lying in the gutter while his feet were lying on the pavement.

Officer John Spence was sent to the scene, took the young man to his home, and the indcident was then closed. It was said that the same crowd went to the rear door of the Allison restaurant on Mulberry street, and failing to gain entrance, tore the screen door from the hangings.

A FINE BALL GAME

Imperials Defeat East End Grays—Remarkable Playing of Chambers.

There was a base ball game at Columbian park Saturday afternoon which proved most interesting. The contesting clubs were the Imperials and the East End Grays, and the Imperials won by a score of 7 to 3. A feature of the game was the playing of Dick Chambers, who made a record which has probably never been equalled. He held the position of short stop.

Chambers had 12 putouts and one assist in all and he played an errorless game. The remarkable part of his playing was said to be the 12 putouts, which were all made on pop flies, only one ground ball going to short, and although it was a "hot one," Chambers gathered it in like a professional player. The players for both teams give credit to Chambers for his clever work.

POISONED BY FOOD

An East End Man Taken Ill From a Peculiar Cause at New Cumberland.

A number of people while at their boarding house at New Cumberland last Friday ate something that disagreed with them, and now all are sick. Poison is said to be the cause. One of those whom it is claimed was poisoned was C. G. Herbert, a turner at the Chelsea, and whose home is in the East End.

Mr. Herbert came to his home on Virginia avenue, Saturday, and he is still a very sick man. There were five others who ate at the same table on Friday, and all are reported ill. The lady who managed the boarding house is said to be sick also.

MORE NEW HOUSES

Seven Residences Built By Dr. Calhoun on Madison Street Nearing Completion.

Dr. W. A. Calhoun, of Virginia avenue, who sometime ago let the contract for seven residences to be built on Madison street, Calhoun's addition, will have several of the new houses turned over to him this week. The painters are now completing their work upon these, and the foundations for several of the others were commenced this morning. These residences will cost in the neighborhood of from $1,000 to $1,200 each, and many of them have already been rented.

This part of the city is growing rapidly, and it seems that more new homes have erected in that particular locality since spring than in any other part of the East End.

Street Railway Men Met.

A short meeting of division No. 52, street railway employes, of this city, was held in their hall on First avenue, Saturday night, but not much business was transacted. Three new members were obligated, and some matters pertaining to Labor day were talked over. As many employes of the road as can get off from work on that day will take part in the Labor day parade, but if the company operates a number of extra cars during the morning, not many of the employes will be able to turn out, as they desire.

To Discuss Church Work.

A joint meeting of the session and teachers and officers of the Second U. P. church will be held tomorrow evening in the lecture room of the church for the purpose of talking over plans for the winter work to be accomplished at this church. The session will be a most interesting one, and it is expected that all teachers and officers of the Sunday school will be present.

Hoyt Is Improving.

A letter was received in the East End today by Captain Terrence, of the East End fire station, from J. H. Hoyt, formerly employed on the street force in the East End, but who has been confined to a ward in the West End hospital at Pittsburg, stating that the operation which he suffered was quite successful, and that he expected to return to the East End in a short time.

Going to Mechanicstown.

Elmer E. Stevenson and Emmet Chambers, who have formed a partnership and will open a general store at Mechanicstown, will leave for that town in a short time. The new building they will occupy is about completed, and it is their intention to open for business about next Monday week.

Stewards' Meeting.

The stewards of the Erie street M. E. church will meet in the church next Thursday evening for the purpose of transacting business connected with the new parsonage.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

William, the little son of Mr and Mrs. Jeff Green, of High street, who has been suffering with scarlet fever for some time, is recovering rapidly, although he is able to be out, his condition is somewhat weak.

Rev. Mr. Fisher, a theological student at Allegheny, preached two interesting sermons at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday, owing to the absence of Rev. N. M. Crowe. The latter will return to the East End this week from his vacation.

ROGER LAW REPEAL WANTED.

Governor in Message Will Urge Legislators to Confine Work to These Two Subjects.—Code Prepared by Nash to be Introduced.

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—The Ohio legislature convenes in extraordinary session today for the purpose of enacting a code of laws for the government of the municipalities of the state.

The governor will urge in a special message, to be submitted at the opening of the session that the legislature confine its work to the enactment of a municipal code and the repeal of the Roger law passed at the session last winter, which by an error, deprived the supreme court of jurisdiction in a large class of civil cases.

The code prepared by the governor will be introduced simultaneously in the house and senate, and it is expected that it will be considered by each of these bodies sitting as a committee of the whole. In the opinion of leading members the work of the extra session will be completed in three weeks.

No objection can be raised to the candidate for congress selected at the Labor convention at Alliance on Saturday save that he is Democrat, and Democratic principles and Democratic ideas, for many and excellent reasons, are not approved by the workingmen of the Eighteenth district of Ohio. If the laboring men of the district want a man in congress to look after their interests they should select a member of a party which has always befriended and promoted those interests. Mr. Duffy, whatever his ideas on the tariff question, would not be able, even if he should get into congress, to work a reform in the Democracy. The record of that party, as it affects the workingmen, is known, and a repetition of it is feared. There was no excuse for a labor-political convention at Alliance, and no good reason why that convention, after it had assembled, should feel it incumbent upon it to nominate a candidate for congress. Aside from the questionable wisdom of labor unions going into politics at all, there are the strongest of reasons why such a move is not advisable now. The great majority of the members of the labor unions in this district are Republicans. The Republican candidate for congress, James Kennedy, of Youngstown, is a man of mature years and of much experience in public life. Living in a workingman's district, he has given much attention to the tariff question and all other questions affecting the interests of labor. Nobody has any fault to find with his record in this or any other respect, and there is no reason to suspect that the welfare of his constituents, whether laboring men or capitalists, will not be scrupulously looked after by him whem he is elected the successor of Hon. Robert W. Tayler in congress. The Republicans of the Eighteenth district are not bolters, and certainly they will not bolt from a good candidate without reason. Kennedy will be the next congressman, and the Democratic effort to form a labor auxiliary will come to naught. It is a satisfaction to note that the unions of East Liverpool—the strongest union town in the district—gave neither countenance nor support to the ill-advised movement that originated at Alliance, and whose lack of spontaneity and sincerity is shown by the fact that out of some 200 unions in the district, less than 75 delegates were present at the so-called convention.

A communication, published in the Evening News Review of Saturday, earnestly and strongly urges the importance of East Liverpool being represented in the coming meeting of the Ohio River Improvement association. Here is where an active and vigilant board of trade could make itself useful. In the absence of such a body, the suggestion that the city send some sort of a committee to the meeting at Parkersburg is worthy of serious consideration. The tonnage shipped by river from East Liverpool is probably greater in proportion to population than that from any other city along the Ohio valley and it is constantly growing. River improvement means much to the future prosperity of the city, and live citizens want to see all-the-year navigation established at the earlist possible moment.

The illustrated view of the East Palestine postoffice burglary, published in the Reveille Echo of that town, is about the most realistic newspaper picture we have seen for some time. It is to be hoped that it will not get that enterprising journol's staff artist into trouble or into jail.

Gov. Taft got an enthusiastic reception on his return to Manilla. Evidently the people there are satisfied with the sort of government they are getting, and much more depends on that than on pleasing the antis in this country.

A government agent is coming this week to East Liverpool and Wellsville to investigate the establishment of rural delivery routes. They are much needed, and when in operation will be of great benefit to our country neighbors.

The railroads leading out of Pittsburg are so busy with the traffic that they must haul that they are said to have decided to engage to haul no more excursion parties. This is something that never happened before.

Colonel James Kilbourne is the latest Democrat to speak in praise of Governor Nash's code bill. Colonel Kilbourne is a business man whose opinion is valuable.

OBITUARY

Dr. Robert Andrews.

Dr. Robert Andrews, aged 65 years, one of the best known physicians in this part of the Ohio valley, died at his home on Fourth street at 6 o'clock last evening. General debility was the cause of death. The funeral services will be held at his late home at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. W. E. Hill and Rev. D. W. McQuiston officiating. Interment, which will be private, will be made at Riverview cemetery, at 2:30 o'clock.

Dr. Andrews was born in Beaver county, Pa., near the West Virginia State line, January 24, 1836, and was the son of Matthew and Mary (Thompson) Andrews, who were also natives of the same state. Paternally the doctor was of Irish lineage, his grandfather, Jeremiah Andrews having come from Ireland to the United States at a very early day, and located in Washington county, Pa. Matthew Andrews, the doctor's father, was born and reared in Washington county, and when a young man moved to Beaver county, Pa., where he married and raised a family of eight children, four of whom are now living. They are, Matthew Andrews, of this city, John Andrews, of Kansas City, Mo., T. J. Andrews, of the East End, and Mrs. Jane McKinley, of Hookstown, Pa.

Dr. Andrews was educated in his native county, and having selected the medical profession began his preparatory studies at Fairview, W. Va., in the office of Dr. H. C. McBeth, where he remained for eight years, making substantial progress during that time. He then entered the Cincinnati Medical college in 1858 and graduated from that school in the spring of 1860. He began the practice of medicine at Fairview, in '62. He returned to East Liverpool in 1882 and had since resided here. The doctor was married in 1860 to Margaret M. Purdy, of Allegheny county, Pa., and to this union were born five children, but only two are now living, Dr. Oran P. Andrews, and Miss Mary A., both of this city. Dr. Andrews was a Republican, and a devoted member of the First United Presbyterian church. He was also a member of the Eastern Ohio Medical society and also the American Medical Association.

Mrs. Louisa Huston.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—Mrs. Louisa Huston died at her home here Saturday evening, aged 77. She was born in York county, Pa., and moved here with her husband, the late William Huston, in 1846. She was one of the oldest members of the M. E. church.

W. R. Cullen.

W. R. Cullen, one of the best known residents of Hancock county, died suddenly at his home in New Cumberland last night from an attack of heart disease. Mr. Cullen was sitting in a chair at his home when the attack came on. He fell to the floor, and when members of the family reached his side he was quite dead. Mr. Cullen is survived by a wife and six children. He was 48 years of age and has a brother, Harry Cullen, residing in Chester. The funeral services will be held at New Cumberland Wednesday.

Daniel Weaver.

Mrs. L. A. Weaver, of Third street, received a message Sunday from Corapolis, Pa., announcing the death of her brother, Daniel Weaver. Mr. Weawas born in Salem, O., and was in his 73d year. The remains will be sent to Fostoria, O., for burial. He was a G. A. R. man and is survived by three sons and two daughters, and two brothers, John, of Salem, O., Casper, of Greensburg, and one sister, Mrs. Lydia, of this city.

Mr. Weaver was a blacksmith and worked at his trade at Salem until about thirty years ago when he moved to Fostoria, O. He was visiting his daughter at Corapolis when he died of throat trouble.

Mrs. Eliza Nixon.

Mrs. Eliza Nixon, aged 88, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Margaret Nixon, in Sewickley. Old age was the cause of her death. She was born in County Down, Ireland. She lived for 50 years in America, the greater part of the time in Salineville. She moved to Sewickley two years ago. Mrs. Nixon was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. The following children survive her: Margaret Nixon, Sewickley, with whom she had been living; Mrs. Grace Deveney, Cleveland; Mrs. Mary Collins, Elyria, O.; William Nixon, Atlanta, Ga., and John Nixon, Yorkville, O.

Death of an Infant.

The one-week-old child of Mervin Clark died Sunday morning at 7 o'clock at its home in New Salisbury. It had been suffering with indigestion. The funeral was held at 10 o'clock today and interment was made in Clark's burying ground.

SERVICES AT THE PARK

WERE INTERESTING AND HEARD BY LARGE CONGREGATION.

Rev. Edwin Weary Talked Ably And Forcibly of Christianity And Its Mission.

The religious services conducted by Rev. Edwin Weary at Rock Springs park yesterday afternoon were attended by a larger gathering than on the previous Sunday. An interesting musical program, which was highly appreciated, was rendered.

Rev. Mr. Weary delivered a strong sermon on "Christianity." In the course of his remarks he drew a strong distinction between religion and christianity. The Mohammedans and many pagans are deeply religious, but they are not Christians. The highest standard of morals, the highest progress, and right ways of living are only attained by people who are Christians. The religion of Christ has been the greatest factor in modern progress.

Alluding to the prayer offered by a woman on the dancing floor of the pavilion a few nights ago, which had caused much comment, he thought the woman was entitled to praise rather than ridicule. There are few occasions on which prayer is not appropriate; certainly none more appropriate than where a mother believes her daughter to be in danger.

Rev. Mr. Weary further said, speaking of the park services, that he looked for and hoped for the cooperation of other ministers of the city and vicinity. Such services, to do most good, should be entirely undenominational, and the best results and the most interest would be aroused by having ministers of all the various churches to conduct them. He thanked the park officials for the opportunity to hold religious services there, and hoped the work now begun would prosper and be continued another season.

Like the Appearance of Things.

So often people come in and remark "I liked the appearance of things in your store and thought I would come here with my prescriptions." We invite you to come and see if you do not like the looks of our drug store. Many physicians patronize it because of its thorough prescription work, but you can tell a great deal just from appearances.

BIBLE CONFERENCE.

DEVOTIONAL EXERCISES AT WINONA SERVICES.

Many Ministers Were Present.—Memorial Exercises in Memory of Rev. Dr. Purvis.

Warsaw, Ind., August 25.—The services of the National Bible conference at Winona yesterday were devotional in character. The meetings commenced just after sunrise, continuing until late last night. Many noted divines were heard by what was probably the largest gathering in the history of the conference.

Rev. Arthur J. Smith, of New York, conducted the early morning devotional services, and Captain McCrea, of Indianapolis, as superintendent, had charge of the Sunday school at which the attendance was more than 1500. The principal morning sermon was delivered by Rev. John Robertson, of Glasgow. He is one of the strongest preachers and teachers at the conference.

Many Ministers in the Audience.

Twenty-five hundred persons, largely ministers, from every denomination in this country, comprised the audience. John H. Converse, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, opened the conference on evangelistic work, having recently become interested in that branch of religious work.

At this meeting, Rev. John S. McIntosh, of Philadelphia, delivered the chief address, urging co-operation favoring young people's organizations of every denomination throughout the country. A. P. Fitt, of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, gave a lecture this afternoon on Rev. R. A. Torrey's tour of the world, describing particularly Melbourne's simultaneous missions where the church people have thrown aside all denominational lines and have combined in a revival so large and successful on lines laid down by Dwight L. Moody, as to attract the attention of the religious world. Rev. James Mursell, pastor of the Upper Clapton Baptist church, London, led the hillside service, participated in and witnessed by 4,000 people. E. O. Excell, of Chicago, was in charge of the music, directing a choir of five hundred voices.

Memorial Services for Purvis.

The conference held memorial services in honor of Rev. George A. Purvis, of New York, who was prominently identified with the conference until his death last year, and of James Fredenburg, of Springfield, Ill., who also was interested in the conference work until his death. Among the speakers were Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Rev. Marcus A. Brownson, Rev. W. G. Moorehead, Dr. S. C. Dickey, also Rev. Mr Rodgers, of Springfield, the pastor of Mr Vredenburg's church. Rev. John Robertson delivered the evening sermon.

Prices reduced on school suits so that every mother can afford to send her boy to school with a new suit.

PRESIDENT MITCHELL WILLING.

Wilkesbarre Committee Asked Him to Try and Have Strike Arbitrated.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 25.—The committee from the Public Alliance of this city, which waited on Senators Quay and Penrose at Atlantic City last week and urged them to use their good offices to bring about arbitration in the coal strike, performed a like mission in this city yesterday when they called on President Mitchell and requested him to co-operate with the Pennsylvania senators in bringing about a settlement of the strike. Mr. Mitchell said he would do anything that was honorable to bring about an adjustment and he furnished the committee with some statistics of the strike from the miners' point of view, which were forwarded to Senator Quay last night.

It has just been learned that President Mitchell was badly shaken up in a railroad wreck at Reising, Ill., early last Monday morning. The train ran into a washout and nearly all the cars left the track. The sleeper on which Mitchell was riding left the rails and he was thrown with much force from his berth. The engineer and fireman of the train, however, were the only persons who were injured.

Try to Settle Strike.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 25.—D. J. McCarthy, chairman, and Mathew Long and Harry Silverman, members of the executive committee of the Peoples' Alliance of Hazleton, went to New York yesterday to endeavor to put into operation some plan for looking to a termination of the strike. They decline to make public their plan or to say whom they hope to see in the metropolis. The Peoples' Alliance is composed of business men and miners.

Gobin Thinks Outlook Discouraging

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 25.—Reports received at brigade headquarters yesterday showed the entire anthracite coal field to be very quiet. Brigadier General Gobin said yesterday that a settlement of the strike appears to him to be as far off as when he reached here nearly four weeks ago. The troops will, in all probability, remain here until the strike comes to an end.

Saturday evening John Skelly, L. Holzinger, T. Potts and Noah Calhoun, the latter only 14 years of age, were found drunk in a shed at the Patterson pottery. All except the boy were discharged and he refused to implicate any one, saying he found a bottle of whisky and drank it. The story is being investigated by the boy's father.

Charged with burglary Ellis Stoffel, Ray McClermont and Oescnel Wayne were arrested Saturday evening. Several articles were taken from Hale's confectionery in the West End some time ago. The trio pleaded guilty.

Two strangers arrested Saturday night for drunkenness paid $4.60 each. John Smith, same offense and same fine.

CAPTURED BY THE REBELS.

Former Colombian Gunboat Guards Entrance to Panama Harbor.

Kingston, Jamaica, August 25.—Details of the capture of the Colombian government gunboat Boyaca by the insurgents outside of Panama, have reached here. The Boyaca was captured August 1 by the insurgent gunboat Padilla after a short and unequal fight. She had on board at the time nearly 300 soldiers under the command of Generals Ferrero and Enao, who were to reinforce General Morales Berti at Agua Dulce. The Boyaca also carried several colonels, a supply of ammunition and a considerable sum of money.

An American gunner named Ross, who was serving on board the Boyaca declined to sail on her on her last and fatal expedition. Flying the insurgent flag the Boyaca is now guarding the entrance to the Panama harbor, presumably with the intention of preventing steamers or other vessels from bringing government reinforcements to Panama.

NATIVE CONSTABLES AMBUSHED

Ladrones Kill One, Wounded Two and Captured Three.—Taft Resumes Governorship.

Manila, August 25.—Ten members of the native constabulary were ambushed last Tuesday at a point near Magdalena, in the province of Sorsogon, Luzon, by a band of sixty Ladrones. The latter were armed with rifles and bolos and a desperate fight at close range took place. One member of the constabulary was killed, two were wounded and three were captured. Seven constabulary have taken the field in pursuit of the Ladrones.

Former Insurgents Found Honest.

Manila, August 25.—The defense in the Freedom sedition case has called Governor Taft as a witness to show that many former insurgent leaders who were guilty of various offenses not recognized by the laws of war have been appointed to civil positions. Governor Taft gave testimony to the effect that many such former insurgents had been appointed, but that they had proved honest, straightforward and earnest. He said that some of them had been guilty of murder from American standards, but that from their own standpoint they undoubtedly believed their conduct of the war to have been legitimate. Governor Taft said that he had found these appointees to be loyal and that they were not chosen because they happened to be insurgent generals, but because they were men of influence among their own people. He said the experience of the civil authorities with these men had been most satisfactory.

Governor Taft has resumed the governorship of the archipelago, relieving Luke E. Wright, who has been acting governor during Judge Taft's absence. Commissioner Wright is preparing to visit the United States.

In some of the provinces of Luzon the cholera situation is bad; 414 cases and 317 deaths were reported from the province of Ilocos Fort last Saturday.

"ENEMY" CAPTURED.

Pillsbury Failed to Make Harbor at Salem; as He Had Planned.

HIGGINSON REFUSED SWORD.

Both Commanding Officers Exchanged Compliments, at the Formal Surrender.—Details of the "Battle" off the New England Coast.

Rockport, Mass., Aug. 25.—The naval search problem on the New England coast was terminated at 5:40 yesterday morning, by the signal, "Surrender, demand and unconditional," from Rear Admiral Higginson's flagship, and the reply, "Accept surrender," from the fore truck of the Prairie, Commander Pillsbury's flagship. The battle between the "blue," or defending squadron and the "white," or attacking squadron, was thus quickly ended eight miles south of Thatcher's island. The enemy had most signally failed to make a harbor, for its objective, Salem. A preponderance of fighting strength, relatively 64 points, represented by the battleships Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts, Scorpion and a torpedo boat, had overwhelmed the 45 points represented by the auxiliary cruisers, Prairie, Panther and Supply. To speak from a theoretic standpoint, the "white" squadron was entirely destroyed by the guns of the defending battleships. Thus on the fourth night the game of naval strategy was brought to an end, it having covered a period of unceasing toil, sleepless nights, of anxious and wearing vigil and of grave uncertainty to its participants.

Anchored There for Some Days.

The destruction of Pillsbury's squadron occurred at 5:40 yesterday morning at a point just within the outer limit of Gloucester harbor, not over eight miles southerly from Thatcher's island, off which had been anchored since Wednesday, when the war game was declared opened, the three powerful battleships, of the "blue" squadron.

The surrounding and "Putting out of action" of the squadron in command of Commander Pillsbury was the culminating climax in one of the most interesting chapters in the peace history of the American navy. For the placing in operation of the manoeuvres of the warships off the coast of New England, the navy had long prepared itself and had long looked forward to them with keen anticipation. As planned by the naval authorities at Washington, two squadrons were to be put into the game, one, the "blue," the defending fleet, and the other, the "white" to be a hostile fleet bent upon effecting an anchorage in some unprotected harbor on the coast from Cape Elizabeth to Cape Cod, opposed all the time by the first named fleet. This anchorage had to be maintained against the defenders for a period of six hours. Commander Pillsbury's white squadron consisted of the auxiliary cruisers Prairie, (flagship), Panther and Supply. The two former boats were each assigned twenty points of fighting strength while the Supply was assumed to represent five points.

Higginson's Fleet Superior.

Admiral Higginson's fleet was actually superior in the number of its members and by the same arrangements made as to the Pillsbury ships it represented a grand total of 97 points of strength. The Kearsarge, the Alabama and the Massachusetts, battleships, were given twenty, the cruisers Brooklyn and Olympia, eight each, the Cincinnati and Montgomery, Gloucester, Mayflower and Scorpion three points each, while a number of torpedo boats made up the remaining numbers. to win in the mimic war the "blue" squadron had to bring against the attacking vessels, as it did early yesterday, warships superior in their assumed fighting power. Each side had the right to capture individual craft of the other fleet by overcoming them in point of strength and under the rules of the game the captured vessels were to retire altogether from the field of action.

In the defeat of Pillsbury, the defence, with three battleships, the Scorpion and with a single torpedo boat, had 64 points, so that the balance was against the attacking squadron. Throughout the mimic war there was placed in operation a system of coast defence which was admittedly of credit to those who engaged in it.

The problem was so complicated that on the war vessels here last night the week's work was viewed with satisfaction for the one reason, if for no other, that the squadron has had invaluable practice.

The final event of these war moves was the sequence of many complicating developments.

Capture Followed Night of Rumors.

The capture came at the end of a night filled with rumors as to the location of the attacking squadron. At 9:30 o'clock last night three battleships of the "blue" squadron got under way in a hurry and sailed to the eastward. The intention was to move on to Portland, and if that had been carried out Admiral Higginson, as it later developed, would have unconsciously swung the balance of his fighting force to that end of the coast line, as Pillsbury had intended he should, but which was not done on account of heavy seas running outside Cape Elizabeth.

Higginson, however, deflected his course back to Gloucester after a swing seaward, in response to a report that the enemy had not been sighted, when it was believed he had been, but in the last hours of the night Pillsbury sailed toward Cape Ann from the outside and, as it proved, right under the very guns of the defending squadron. Commander Pillsbury, when still out to sea, after manoeuvring, headed straight for Salem harbor. But the desired vantage point was never reached.

When his boats had arrived off Magnolia they were sighted by the signal station on Baker's island. A message was sent to the station at Rockport here and the torpedo boat Barney was sent out to notify the "blue" squadron. The station here before this had been informed that Higginson's battleships had been sighted off Gloucester, and that later they had returned to their berths under the lee of Thatcher's island. The Barney's commander was mystified, therefore, when, after rounding Strait's mouth he saw no evidence of the presence of the Kearsarge. On a hazard, the Barney was steered southerly. After Higginson's ship had cruised up and down the coast they went to their anchor off Thatcher's island. At this time the officer on the deck of the Kearsarge was Lieutenant Ray Stone, with Midshipman Wilworth Puleston as the junior officer in command.

Apprentice First Sighted the "Enemy."

In contrast to others, the morning was clear and star bright. On the bridge a dozen jackies stood upon the lookout. One of these was Daniel Staehle, an apprentice of the first class. He stood well forward peering on the lee side. The flagship was just falling down into a trough when he notified the ensign at his side that he could see the enemy. The officer of the deck called Flag Lieutenant Evans and Flag Secretary Bistol, and it was but the work of a moment to inform Admiral Higginson of the probability that the time for decisive action was at hand.

It was real war then. General quarters were sounded. There was a quick rush rush of many feet, the manning of a hundred posts, the clank of the anchor chain, the ringing of bells, the giving of orders and a general clearing for action. Not many moments passed before the flagship was under way, steaming at 14 knots, with the Alabama and Massachusetts many lengths in the rear. Some distance back was the Barney, rapidly overhauling the ships ahead.

At 5:40 o'clock the three battleships, aided by the converted yacht Scorpion, which had chased in from the south in time to be in at the finish, and the Barney, which had overtaken the fleet, formed a horseshoe about the "white" squadron. The elation among the men on board the "blue" squadron ran high.

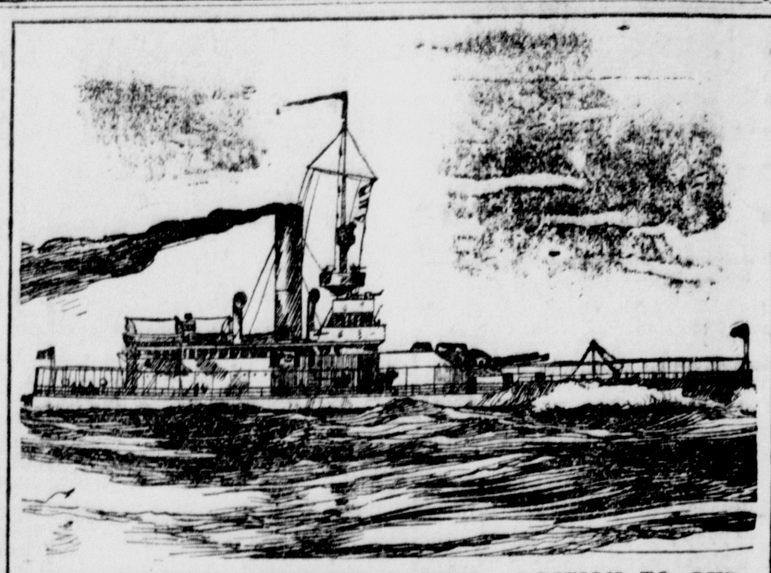

There was something pathetic in the picture when Commander Pillsbury, after he had signalled his surrender, passed in his barge from the Prairie, walked up the starboard gangway of the Kearsarge, and offered his sword to Admiral Higginson.

Gallantry to Defeated Foe.

"Keep your sword, sir," said the senior officer, his voice quavering a bit in spite of himself. "I would not accept the sword from so gallant a foe."

"And I, sir," responded Pillsbury, with dignity, "could not surrender to a nobler or better officer, sir."

This exchange of words ended the actual surrender, and at the invitation of Admiral Higginson, Commander Pillsbury stepped down to the cabin of the eKarsarge and here the two officers discussed in privacy the incidents of the days since the "Declaration of hostilities" on Wednesday.

THE MONITOR ARKANSAS, LATEST ADDITION TO OUR COAST DEFENSE FLEET.

The single turreted monitor Arkansas, which on her recent trial trip exceeded the contract speed requirement by nearly three-quarters of a knot an hour, will undoubtedly be accepted by the government, inasmuch as she has proven herself otherwise as thoroughly satisfactory. The Arkansas is one of the four coast defense vessels authorized by congress in 1899. At a cost of approximately $1,000,000 she has a tonnage displacement of 3,214, a horsepower of 3,235 and a guaranteed speed of 11 1-2 knots. She is designed to carry a main battery of two 12-inch and four 4-inch rifles and a secondary battery of three 6-pounder and six 1-pounder rapid firers and one machine gun. The heavy armor belt and the slight freeboard of the Arkansas combine to make her a formidable war engine for work near the coast.

FOREMAN KILLED.

Discharged Man Committed Crime in Washington County, Pa.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 25.—James Gill, a foreman at the Gillespie camp along the Wabash railroad near Independence, this county, was killed Friday by an Italian whom he had discharged. The Italian hung around until Gill ordered him away. The Italian refused to leave and Gill led him from the premises.

The Italian seized a pick and struck Gill over the heart. The pick penetrated Gill's body almost six inches and caused immediate death. The murderer got away.

Late Saturday night Sheriff Brown of Wellsburg, W. Va., arrested a suspicious looking Italian at Lazearville. Yesterday three more arrests were made, all the prisoners being held on suspicion. The murdered man was 60 years of age. His body will be sent to Wilkesbarre, his home, for burial.

SECOND DEFEAT FOR HOMESTEAD

The Crack Players Made But Four Hits and One Run Saturday.

MALEY HAD THEM PUZZLED

His Support Was of the Best—Crowd Was Large And the Game Most Interesting—The Final Score 3 to 1. Crowd Was Enthusiastic.

Maley was an impossibility for the Homestead team again Saturday afternoon and let the visitors down with only four hits and one run. The crack players on the Homestead side went down just as though they had never batted against pitchers on some of the professional teams.

Nagle, who was the first man up in the first inning for the visitors, scored their only run. He picked out a hit and would have been forced at second had not Godwin made a wild throw of Torreyson's grounder. Nagle then scored on a hit by Marshall. After that there was nothing to it but Maley, and although he only struck out three men his support was of the best and the visitors were never at any time in danger of scoring.

The locals did not secure their first run until the third inning. Webb was first up and picked out a hit. He was advanced one base by Maley and scored on Godwin's hit to center field. Maley went out at third in an attempt to reach the base on the fly hit.

The two other runs by the locals were brought in by Emmerling and Maley in the fifth inning. The former rapped out a nice two-base hit. Maley then hit to Nagle, and as no one covered third Emmerling went down and Maley reached first. Both the players scored on a hit by Maag and an error by Jones.

NOTES ON THE GAME.

Homestead will begin to think that Maley has them Jonahed. He has defeated them three times.

Eights hits and two runs is the total for Homestead in the two games Maley pitched in this city.

Cosgrove came down to assist Homestead in the third game. He managed to get a two-base hit, but was thrown out in an attempt to steal third.

Reark umpired the first five innings. He then called Maag out at the plate and when the crowd objected he threw up his job. Hugh McCarron took his place. "Happy" has surely been in the game long enough to know that the crowd has to have its say every once in a while.

In the three games the fans have certainly shown that they will turn out to witness good games. The three days break the record for the season in attendance.

Osbourn was sent home Friday when it was known that Cosgrove would be here for the game Saturday.

THE FORDS VICTORS

SHUT OUT THE Y. M. C. A. IN A WELL PLAYED GAME.

Brilliant Work on Both Sides, But Hard Luck for the Locals.

Although defeated by a score of 4 to 0, the Y. M. C. A. team put up one of the prettiest games at their park in Chester Saturday afternoon with the H. P. Fords, of the Eleventh ward, Pittsburg, that has been seen in this neck of woods for weeks. There were one or two brilliant plays during the game on both sides, and this added interest to the contest.

In one inning, with two men on bases, McNutt landed on the ball for what looked like three bases, but by a brilliant catch the middle fielder of the Fords the long fly was nabbed and the side retired. There were tears in the eyes of the Association players, for they were sure of three runs had the big fielder dropped the ball. In catching the ball he turned a complete somersault, stood on his head and did all that sort of thing, yet he held onto the ball. The local players seemed to be playing in hard luck, but for a new team their work was very good.

FIGHT AT A PICNIC

EXCITING CLASH IN WHICH WOMEN TOOK PART.

Former Residents of This City Chief Figures in a Lively battle.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dobbs, formerly of this city, were the principal figures in an exciting episode at the recent P. H. C. picnic at New Castle. Reports from Sebring give the story thus:

Dobbs, who is said to be a lover of Mrs. Allison, and Mrs. Allison's husband, now reported to be in Peoria, Ill., were both formerly employed in the Sebring pottery, having removed with their families from East Liverpool. Neither is now employed there from the fact that trouble arose between the two families because Dobbs, it is said, "got sweet" on Mrs. Allison, so Allison left his family and went to Peoria last winter, while Dobbs went to New Castle.

Mrs. Allison, by previous arrangement with Dobbs at New Castle, concluded she would go to the picnic and Mrs. Dobbs got word of the affair. So she packed her lunch basket and took her two children with her, boarded the train just as it was pulling out, unbeknown to Mrs. Allison, and waited for developments at New Castle. No sooner had the train arrived than Mrs. Allison, accompanied by her star boarders—two women and one man—jumped off the train and headed for the big bridge over the Mahoning river, where they met Mr. Dobbs, who had planned to have a pleasant time with Mrs. Allison.

While Dobbs was passing coin to Mrs. Allison, by way of the latter's male star boarder, Mrs. Dobbs came up, accompanied by her children and slugged Mrs. Allison right and left, giving her upper and under cuts, stomach punches and other blows.

When the battle opened Mrs. Allison's male boarder laid his umbrella aside and attempted to protect his landlady, but no sooner had he done so than Mrs. Dobbs' 12-year-old son picked up the rain protector and beat the head of the Allison woman's star boarder into a jelly roll. By this time the Sebring women boarders of Mrs. Allison thought they would take a hand in the melee, but were soon sorry they moved, because little 12-year-old Sammy Dobbs, aided by his sister, pitched in and made them think they had been through a Kansas cyclone.

A policeman who stood on the bridge witnessed the row, and when the Allison bunch went before a magistrate to have Mrs. Dobbs and her children arrested, he cleared them by his testimony and the magistrate discharged them.

THE MONEY PAID OVER

East Liverpool Sports Displeased With the Talk That Followed Lutz-Bunting Fight.

The East Liverpool sports are certainly disgusted with the action of the backers of Ed. Bunting in his bout with Larry Lutz, last Thursday night. They objected to the payment of the stake money to Lutz and it was not until late Saturday afternoon that the $300 was turned over.

All sorts of excuses were hatched up in an endeaver to find some means of keeping the money. They claimed that Referee Foley did not officially announce his decision in the ring; that Lutz was not on hand in time to fight on the 21st, and also that Foley used his elbow on Bunting in breaking a clinch.

The backers refused to allow the stake holder, who is a Wellsville saloonist, to turn over the money until after a lengthy conference was held Saturday afternoon. After the money was paid over Terry Carman offered to back Lutz against Bunting for from $100 to $1,000.

If the Wellsville people still think that Bunting is any match for Lutz, they will have a chance to even up by accepting this challenge.

Cholera Morbus.

This is an extremely dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from it, and in many instances before a physician could be summoned or medicine obtained. Mrs. E. H. Delano, of Durant, Mich., is subject to severe attacks of cholera morbus. During the past four years she has kept at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and says it has always given her quick relief. During this time she has used two bottles of it. This remedy can be depended upon in the most severe and dangerous cases. The safe way is to keep it at hand ready for instant use. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

Excursion to Atlantic City, Cape May, etc., via Pennsylvania Lines.

August 7th and 21st, and September 11th excursion tickets to Atlantic City, Cape May and eight other seashore resorts will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines at $10 round trip from East Liverpool, good returning sixteen (16) days including date of sale. For particulars about time of trains, ticket conditions and sleeping car reservations consult Adam Hill, Ticket Agent, East Liverpool, Ohio.

BABY'S GODFATHER.

President Roosevelt Officiated at a Christening at Newport, R. I.

THEN WENT TO LODGE HOME.

En Route to Nahant, Mass., Large Crowds Gathered at the Stations and Gave the Chief Executive Enthusiastic Ovations.

Nahant, Mass., August 25.—President Roosevelt left Newport yesterday at 2 o'clock in a sumptuous train of our special cars. Accompanying him to the depot were Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Chanler and Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the two latter journeying with the party to Nahant, the home of the Lodges, where the president spent the night.

A more quiet day could not have been spent by the president. As is his custom, he rose early and, after eating a light breakfast, left the Chanler house about 9 o'clock, and went out to meet Mrs. Roosevelt, who had come up on the Sylph during the night.

President Acted as Godfather.

The president was aboard the ship for about two hours. Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied him ashore and spent about half an hour at the Chanler residence, taking a look at the baby, but did not remain for the christening. She left shortly before the event for Oyster Bay. The president remained at the Chanler villa where the ceremony of christening the baby was performed by Rev. John Diamond, of the Episcopal church in the presence of the president, who acted as godfather, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the latter acting as godmother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, and a large number of the personal friends of the family.

The affair was regarded as one of the most auspicious events of the season at that fashionable resort, due not only to the social prominence of the Chanlers, but to the fact that the president of the United States would act as godfaher to the child for whom it was named.

Traveling on Sunday was something new for the president, but in this instance he was obliged to depart from his usual custom, as he went to Newport for no other purpose than to attend the christening and it was necessary to make the short journey to Nahant yesterday in order to maintain his schedule.

Enthusiasm Over President.

That the enthusiasm attending the president's journey shows no abatement was made evident yesterday by the crowd gathered about the depot at Newport, which cheered his arrival and continued cheering until the train departed and was lost to view.

Stone Bridge, R. I., Fall River, Taunton and Mansfield, in Massachusetts, turned out in force to greet the president, and as each place was reached the train was slowed down, the president appearing on the rear platform and bowing his acknowledgements.

At Boston the entire party disembarked and entered the special, which was standing on another track, the crowd in the meantime keeping up a continuous cheering.

Upon arriving at Lynn, where carriages were in waiting to take the party to Nahant, the sight was one long to be remembered.

Thousands Cheered the President.

Stretched from the depot through the city and across the peninsula to Nahant, a distance of four miles, were fully sixty thousand people, who cheered again and again as the president passed. There were two miles of carriages on either side of the road.

The president rode with Senator Lodge and was escorted from Lynn to Nahant by a troop of cavalry.

The arrival at Nahant was a signal for another outbreak of applause and the two places seemed to vie with each other as to which should be the more cordial in its greeting. Flags and bunting were displayed everywhere.

TWO CARS COLLIDED.

Three People Killed, Many Injured—Motorman Failed to Obey Orders.

Norfolk, Va., August 25.—In a head-on collision between two cars on the Bay Shore Terminal line late yesterday afternoon three people were killed and many others badly injured. The dead are:

W. S. Yandell, mororman.

C. B. Colden, motorman.

Linwood Fentress, aged 10.

The seriously injured are:

W. R. Waller, R. J. Davis, George Stephenson, Mrs. J. P. Stephenson, Joseph White, conductor; M. V Ahern, Benj. Rowson, Miss Lillian Land, John Taylor, colored; Maria Fentress, colored, Miss Ruth Banks, Phoebe Frederick, colored; Corliss, nephew Major Waller, badly injured internally; Mrs. Victor Parks, skull fractured; Louis Parks, internal injuries, expected to die.

The accident occurred 400 yards beyond Futas sidingp, about three and one-half miles from Norfolk. One car was coming from Oceanview and the other going to the View. The orders were that the shorebound car should wait at he siding for the other. Motorman W. S. Yandell failed to obey the orders and the crash came 400 yards beyond the siding. Yandell endeavored to jump but was crushed between the telescoped cars and died hanging by his right leg.

MURDERER HAD A CLOSE CALL.

Sailboat Capsized and He Nearly Perished—Finally Caught After Getting Away.

Atlantic City, N. J., August 25.—Leander Smith, colored, angered because Body Clinton was paying too much attention to his wife, shot and instantly killed Clinton in the Hotel Canfield basement Saturday night and then shot his wife, who is dying in the city hospital.

After committing the deed he made his escape, stole a sail boat at the inlet, and started on a sail for some remote point. A few miles at sea a squall struck his boat. It capsized. He was thrown into the ocean and the boat drifted from him. By heroic efforts he succeeded in crawling on the upturned craft and all night he drift ed at the mercy of the waves. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning he was found by Samuel Moore, a local merchant, who was out in his private launch, nearly dead from exposure. The murderer told Mr. Moore a story about being on a fishing trip and that his boat had capsized. Mr. Moore took him to Somer's Point and after he landed the negro thanked his rescuer, walked off and disappeared. A few minutes later Mayor E. A. Higbee, of Somer's Point, received a telephone message from Atlantic City asking him to apprehend any strange colored man who may pass that way. The town marshal, who happened to be on the wharf when the man landed, remarked the fact to the mayor. Higbee hitched up his buggy, and after a five mile drive, caught up with the murderer. He invited the man to ride with him as the sun was hot and the day sultry. The man accepted. Higbee drove him to the town jail and locked him up.

IS PERMANENTLY CURED BY LIFE PLANT

Dennison, Ohio.

Life Plant Co.

Messrs:—LIFE PLANT is a wonder cure!—After a siege of ten years of that dread disease, Catarrh of the head, and the failure of all other treatments, I was induced by my employer, Mr. C. W. Bell of this place, dealer in groceries, to try LIFE PLANT. The first bottle gave relief, and when I had taken two more, was free from and cured of Catarrh. I write you the above and hope you will publish it for the benefit of those who are suffering from the effects of that dread disease. LIFE PLANT is a great remedy. Yours Respectfully.

FRED KNAUS.

Mrs. Rev. J. C. Castle, of Smith's Ferry, Penn., writes:—After suffering for about thirty years with Catarrh I believe I am entirely cured by the use of a few bottles of LIFE PLANT.

Mr. F. Hurst, father of Hurst Brothers, Grocers, New Philadelphia, Ohio, says:—

A member of my family for six years or more, has had a severe case of Catarrh in the head and throat, causing nervous prostration, with so much pain and roaring in the head, that the hearing had become materially affected, the stomach deranged and the appetite gone, and with a feeling of prostration and lassitude. Was cured by the use of LIFE PLANT more than a year ago and the trouble has not returned.

New Philadelphia, O., April 25, 1900.

Life Plant Co.,

Messrs:—I was attacked last August with a very serious and painful form of stomach trouble which gave me no rest by day and very little sleep at night. I used numerous remedies without any beneficial results. I was unable to do any kind of work. I was in constant misery with pain in stomach, which was increased, even by a slight pressure. For months I could not take any kind of food without suffering severe pain. This condition continued until I commenced to use LIFE PLANT. I have taken six bottles and am now a well man, can do a full day's work, eat all kinds of food and feel no inconvenience.

Yours etc., Frederick Dubaugh.

These cases and hundreds of others were permanently cured by LIFE PLANT, after all other remedies failed. If you have Cattarh in any form and are not cured after giving LIFE PLANT a fair trial, your money will be refunded.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Ordained at Youngstown—Rev. W. H. Beynon, well known in this city, has been ordained as pastor of the Himrod avenue Baptist church at Youngstown.

Will Entertain Friends — Miss Sarah Simms will entertain friends informally tomorrow afternoon at her home on Broadway in honor of her guest, Miss Myrtle Price, of Pittsburg. The same evening Miss Simms will entertain an older crowd of young people.

Barker's Great Record—"Kid" Barker, who is pitching for the Bloomington team of the Three I's league, scored a victory for that team Saturday against the Davenport club. But six hits were made from his delivery, and his record for the game was two hits, one run and two assists, and the score was 4 to 1.

First Teachers' Meeting—The first teachers' meeting of the school year will be held in the high school rooms next Saturday, August 30, at 2 o'clock. An interesting feature of the session will be an address by Prof. Fess, of the Chicago university. Prof. Fess was formerly located at the Ada normal school, but last summer he was called to the Chicago university. He is a very talented man and his address will probably be listened to by a large concourse of people.

Drunken Woman Arrested—For being drunk, Amelia Tower, colored, was arrested by Pat Woods on Kossuth street at noon.

Judgment for Plaintiff—The case of Emma Scott vs. Sherman Vincent was heard in 'Squire Rose's court this morning. Miss Scott sues Sherman for $12 for nursing his wife during illness. Judgment was given the plaintiff for $12 and costs.

To Consider Chapel Building—At the prayer meeting service on Wednesday evening consideration will begiven to the proposed erection of a chapel in Sunnyside by that church. Some time ago property for this purpose was secured and the erection of the chapel is the next matter to be considered.

Seized With Paralysis—While on his way from the uptown district to his home in the West End, William R. Orr, an aged resident of the city was striken with paralysis this morning. Mr. Orr has been in feeble health for some time. His recovery is considered doubtful. Mr. Orr is the father of Councilman LeRoy Orr.

Located After Trouble—The street committee had considerable trouble this morning in locating an anchor pole for the Bell Telephone company in Ddury lane, just off West Market street. The anchor has for some time been located in front of the property of Richard Edmonston. It was finally located on the property line between the Timmons and Rigot properties.

School Improvements — All the school buildings in the city have been undergoing a thorough renovation during the past vacation, and in many of them very great improvements have been made. In the Central building especially the changes have been extensive. Many of the rooms have been fitted with new desks and on the second floor two more rooms have been prepared for the use of the high school. This makes six large rooms and two class rooms which will be occupied by the high school this year.

Mr. Duffy appoint his own committees and was substituted for the first motion.

It was urged that the finance committee should consist of one member from each Central Labor union of the district, and that a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer should be chosen from the same place, a central point in the district, in order that the financial end of the campaign might be administered readily. Alliance was mentioned as a convenient place for headquarters.

The number of committeemen and the plan of campaign were matters left in the hands of the candidate. He will make his appointments at an early date, as soon as he can canvass the field.

Mr. Duffy said he would like to have Mayor Bell, of Massillon, at the head of his committee, if he would accept the place. He also stated that he would appoint Charles Bonsall and R. H. McDowell, of Salem, as members of the committee. The others he asked for time to consider.

Mayor Bell made a brief speech in which he gladly accepted the honor.

A short harmony session was held during which many of the delegates stated that they had had their little squabbles, but that they would be a unit for the ticket. With the understanding that Mr. Duffy would at once take up the campaign work and carry it on to the best of his ability, and with cheers and expressions of good feeling the convention adjourned.

A permanent political organization was effected to urge an active campaign in his behalf. The nominee was required to pledge himself to support if elected, a platform of economics and declaration of principles adopted by the convention in substance as follows:

First—Direct legislation known as the initiative and referendum.

Second—Public ownership of public utilities and co-operative production and distribution.

Third—Lands owned by corporations and lands owned by aliens to be reclaimed by the government, and held for actual settlers.

Fourth—All coin and paper money to be issued by the government as full legal tender. No money to be issued by private banks and no untaxed bonds to be issued by the government.

Fifth—Graduated income tax.

Sixth—The election of President, Vice-President, United States Senators, and federal judges by direct vote.

Seventh—Establishment of a cabinet office to be known as the department of labor, with provision for mandatory arbitration of labor disputes.

Eighth—An eight-hour workday.

Ninth—Postal savings banks with loans at 2 per cent. on ample security.

Tenth—Whenever any corporation or employer shall discharge or blacklist a worker for exercising the right of speech, or for any kindred cause, the department of labor shall upon formal application thoroughly investigate such case, and if said discharge shall be without just cause, the said corporation or employer shall pay all expenses of said investigation and shall be required to reinstate said blacklisted man.

Eleventh—Abolishment of government by injunction.

Twelfth—A rigid Chinese exclusion act.

Thirteenth—Prohibition of employment of children under fourteen years of age at night in shops and factories.

Fourteenth—Infusion of fairness and honesty in politics and against the intimidiation of bribery and other corrupt influences.

A minority resolution adopted required the nominee to make his canvass on the platform adopted, independent of other political organizations and without soliciting the endorsement of any existing political party.

DUFFY'S POSITION

THE CANDIDATE HEARTILY ENDORSES THE PLATFORM.

Did Not Want the Nomination, But It Was Forced Upon Him.

When seen at his office this morning, Thomas J. Duffy said:

"At the Alliance convention I opposed the plan of putting an Independent Labor ticket in the field, as I did not favor it. We were all of the same opinion as to the object we desired to accomplish; but we differed as to the best plan of securing it.

"However, it was decided by a large majority to put an Independant Labor ticket in the field; and, as the welfare of the labor movement will be more or less at stake in this matter, I willingly yield to the will of the majority and will do all within my power to make the movement a success.

"It is needless for me to say that I heartily endorse the platform adopted at the Alliance convention as it contains nothing only what I have been advocating since my connection with organized labor—the principles of pure Trades Unionism.

"I declined the nomination, but the delegates forced it on me. I will do what I consider my duty in the matter, nothing more, nothing less. That is all I can say at this time."

19TH YEAR. NO. 200. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, AUGUST 25, 1902. TWO CENTS.

He Had Declined the Honor Once, But Reconsidered—Warm Discussion in the Alliance Convention.

Alliance, August 25.—(Special)—The unexpected happened at the labor convention Saturday afternoon, which contrary to earlier predictions, voted unanimously to make Thomas J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, its candidate for congress. Much energetic discussion was indulged in before the question of making any nomination was decided affirmatively.

Up to 2 o'clock the convention had been devoted entirely to a sort of an experience meeting to get a line on the idea of delegates as to the advisability of placing a candidate in nomination.

Charles Bonsall, of Salem, a receptive candidate for the nomination, was in favor of the nomination of a candidate. He made a speech to that effect.

Mayor Bell, of Massillon, was not in favor of a nomination by this convention. He took the position that inasmuch as the Republican convention at Salem had refused certain requests of the labor unions, the Democratic convention, to be held in the future, should also be given a chance to accept or reject the same requests. He was in favor of requesting the Democratic congressional convention to nominate a labor candidate, and then if that was refused the time would be ripe for labor to nominate its candidate. Mayor Bell is a Democrat.

T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, also a receptive candidate, made a speech indorsing the sentiment voiced by Mayor Bell.

The sentiment of the delegates was strongly in favor of nominating a candidate independent of either of the old parties.

A. E. Long, of Salem, at 3 o'clock moved that a committee on resolutions be appointed. He was declared out of order. Then he moved that the convention resolve itself into a nominating body and nominate a congressional candidate. This precipitated some warm discussions from many of the delegates.

Charles Bonsall, of Salem, made a speech ringing in terms, in which he declared that if nominated on the labor ticket he would not accept or make any pledges to the Democratic or Republican parties.

Duffy and Bell, in sharp speeches, made a vigorous effort to have the convention agree to receive endorsement from the old parties.

A. E. Long, of Salem, bitterly assailed the East Liverpool potters for the reason that there were none of them in the convention.

T. J. Duffy defended the potters and said that the reason there were not more present was because they did not favor politicians leading them.

Long retaliated and said that the reason there were not more potters present from East Liverpool was because they were ward heelers. Duffy jumped to his feet and demanded an apology for the potters. R. H. McDowell demanded to know if Long's charges were true. In behalf of the potters, Duffy said that he had spent his life with them and that none of the potters' officials had ever dabbled in politics.

Good feeling was restored and harmony again sat in the meeting.

A motion to adjourn was voted down by a large majority.

A motion to nominate a candidate carried by a vote of 51 to 12.

At 3:30 Charles Bonsall, of Salem, moved that a committee of three on resolutions be appointed, and that a recess of 30 minutes be taken. The chair appointed as a committee on resolutions Charles Bonsall, of Salem; T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, and Bernard Bell, of Massillon. Then the convention took a recess.

It was 4 o'clock before the committee on resolutions was ready to make a report. It was remarked frequently that Chairman Johnson had appointed on this committee the three candidates for the honor in the gift of the assemblage. The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted unanimously.

As soon as this action had been taken R. W. McDowell, of Salem, secured the floor and stated that he had a short resolution which he would like to have added to the report of the committee. Mr. McDowell stated that if some such measure were not added to the resolutions the candidate might expect little support. The delegate then read the resolution, which pledged the candidate "to make his canvass along the lines of union labor principles and the platform adopted by this convention independent of any other political organization and without the request or solicitation on his part or the part of this convention for the endorsement of any political party; and that we here appeal to all the voters of the district regardless of past party affiliations to endorse our candidate at the polls in November."

The resolution was like a bomb shell thrown into a peaceful camp. It created a profound stir, but was adopted by a decisive vote. Had this resolution not been adopted it is a question whether or not the candidate nominated afterward could have secured the honor. It had the effect of bringing from him an emphatic declaration renouncing old partyism. Such action was made necessary for the reason that Mr. Duffy has been a Democrat, and recently without his consent or encouragement, it is asserted, was boomed for the Democratic congressional nomination by a few designing politicians of East Liverpool.

S. S. Carnahan, of Wellsville, was recognized and proceeded to nominate T. J. Duffy. Mr. Carnahan has been acquainted with the candidate for years, and he made the most of his knowledge in the nominating speech. The nomination was seconded and at once declined by Mr. Duffy. He said he could not accept the nomination under the circumstances that had come up in the convention.

Considerable discussion followed. Finally one enthusiastic delegates succeeded in having a motion adopted asking Mr. Duffy to reconsider his stand. C. A. Collins, a Youngstown delegate, made a strong speech in which he asked the convention not to force the nomination on Duffy.

Mayor Bell said the convention was tying his hands with the adoption of the McDowell resolution. He added that he gave Duffy credit for the position he had taken.

Mr. Duffy was pressed to accept the nomination, whereupon he stated that his services were always will be at the call of the laboring people. He swallowed the McDowell resolution in these words, dramatically uttered: "I am here as a laboring man, and you may do with me as you will."

Scenes of almost riotous confusion followed. There were cheers upon cheers for Duffy, and the hall rang with applause.

A. D. Long, of Salem, then placed in nomination Charles Bonsall, of Salem. Mr. Bonsall at once declined the nomination, and moved to make it unanimous for Mr. Duffy.

There were cheers for Bonsall and cries of "You're all right," following this statement. Mayor Bell's name was urgently called upon Mr. Duffy responded briefly as follows:

"I feel proud of this namination. All I possess is my ability and I am willing to fight on the platform constructed here, for it is what I have been following all my life. I endorse and will work for every clause in your platform. I do not object to being the standard bearer of organized labor whether in victory or defeat. Even good comes to working people in their defeat. I hope this movement will result to the best ends for the working people and I will make every effort to bring it about."

Harry Green, of Sebring, said every local in the district would raise money to prosecute the campaign, and if necessary each union man in the district should go down in his pocket to create a campaign fund.

Mr. Bonsall said it was wrong to assess a candidate and claimed the people, not the candidate, should be the boodlers. Mr. McDowell moved that the body elect a finance and executive committees. Carried. A motion was made by Mayor Bell to the effect that

The Document Short and to the Point. Outlining Work to Be Done.

Remedying the Defects of the Royer Law And Municipal Government All That the Governor Wants Considered Now.

Columbus, August 25.—(Special)—Governor Nash's message, read today to the legislature, was short and to the point. He recommended that no legislation be passed except that remedying the defect in the Royer law and affecting municipal government. He asked that his code bill be adopted, and, although not saying so in so many words, warned against the passage of the code measure of the state board of commerce, and said that the enactment of such a bill would plunge the state into a condition of peril infinitely greater than that which ever confronted the lawmakers before. He advised that the laws relating to schools, county salaries, boards of equalization, registration and elections be referred for revision and recodification to the state school commissioners, attorney general, auditor of state and secretary of state, respectively, with instructions to these officials to file a report of their work to the next general assembly in 1904.

No provision has been made in the governor's code for hamlets. Smith W. Bennett, special counsel in the office of the attorney general, says: "Under the classification as announced by the supreme court, we find no place for that class of municipalities heretofore known as hamlets, and what might appear as an omission, is, in fact, no omission at all. We do not, in the repealing clause of the bill, include any existing statutes for the organization and government of hamlets."

He was removed to his boarding house, and it has since required the united strength of five men to hold him on the bed. He is internally injured.

AN AGED MAN IH MISFORTUNE

RELATIVES AFRAID OF HIM

And He Will Be Taken to Massillon—Wellsvile Divorce Case and Other Matters Before the Courts at Lisbon.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—J. T. Detwiler and John Holloway, of Columbiana, have made formal application to probate court for the admission of Thomas Entriken to the asylum at Massillon.

Mr. Entriken is over 80 years old, and for several months his mind has been affected. His condition is attributed to softening of the brain. He has no home, but has been cared for by his son's widow. He is now considered in a condition unsafe to be allowed at large. He will not be brought into court, but Judge Boone and physicians will visit him tomorrow afternoon. He will then be taken to the asylum.

A DAMAGE SUIT

Brought for Alleged Malicious Destruction of Property Is Appealed.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—A damage case which was instituted in the mayor's court in Washingtonville, was appealed to common pleas court this morning.

Horace G. Tetlow accused George W. Allen of having forcibly and maliciously entered upon his premises in the village. He claims he was damaged to the amount of $100.

The case was heard last week and Tetlow was given a verdict for $45 and costs. Allen will fight the claim.

DESERTED WHILE ILL

A Wellsville Man Sues for Divorce From His Wife on This Ground.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—Robert Smurthwaite, of Wellsville, who married Miss Grace Brown, of Lisbon, about five years ago, has entered suit for divorce. The couple lived together but a short time. Smurthwaite claims that while he was confined to his bed, suffering from fever, his wife abandoned him and returned to the home of her mother in Lisbon.

He was ill for four months and when he recovered his wife refused to live with him.

CABBAGE SO PLENTIFUL THAT THEY ARE GIVEN AWAY

Authorities on the subject assert that the crop of cabbage is more extensive than for many years. As an evidence of this it is estimated that not less than 20 wagon loads of the choicest of cabbage was brought to the city on Saturday, and either sold at a genuine sacrifice or given away.

One man was seen to draw up at a residence on Washington street, and after summoning the housewife, offered to give her all she could use. "I came to town this morning with 100 heads of the best cabbage I ever saw," he said, "and when I attempted to sell it to local dealers what do you suppose they offered—10 cents a bushel. Before I would sell it at that price I would give it away to my customers, and that is exactly what I am doing."

On account of the very favorable condition of the weather during the early spring and throughout the summer, all sorts of vegetables and garden truck have done well, and as a natural consequence have been very cheap.

BEFORE THE MAYOR

USUAL MONDAY MORNING CROWD ON HAND.

How the Executive Meted Out Punishment to Several Offenders.

Mayor Davidson held an interesting session at City Hall this morning. Five arrests were considered, among which were several old offenders. James Cameron, of Beaver, was arrested by Officer Dunn, on Sunday. The prisoner was at one time considered one of the best attorneys of Beaver county, and has been associate counsel with some of the leading attorneys of the county.

For a number of years, however, he has been in all in as he allowed whiskey to get the best of him. He came to East Liverpool Saturday evening and filled up on the favorite beverage and was taken in charge by the officer on Sunday.

The mayor fined Cameron $5.60. Officer Ike Lazarus, of Rochester, was in the city this morning serving subpoenas in a railroad stealing case. He was at the mayor's office when Cameron was given a hearing and stood for the fine. Lazarus is an old friend of Cameron and said that he would be able to secure the amount of his fine.

Officer McDermott arrested Mrs. Ollie Walker, who resides at Walker on Third street, Saturday evening. The woman was very drunk and the officer had to almost carry her to the city hall. Mrs. Walker only had $4 when she confronted the mayor Monday morning, but she sent a friend for the remainder and was discharged on the payment of $5.60.

Wylie Farmer, a youth who has given the police considerable trouble during the past few years, was arrested again by Officers Aufderheide and Dawson. He was drunk again and was released this morning on the payment of $5.60. He stated that he would go to work immediately and with this understanding he was released or otherwise the mayor would have sent him to the workhouse.

Elmer Clendenning was arrested by Patrolman Woods at the corner of Sixth street and West Market Sunday evening. The prisoner was making himself obnoxious to passersby. He is still confined in the jail and he will probably be kept there until he sobers up.

Officer McDermott gathered in Joseph Harkins, of Pittsburg, Saturday evening for drunkenness. Harkins is a brick layer and is employed by a contractor of this city. The contractor agreed to stand good for his fine and the man was released.

THE WRITER IS LOCATED

Author of Anonymous Letters Discovered by Quiet Investigation.

And It Has Not Been Decided Whether There Will Be Prosecution.

ALL LETTERS BY ONE WRITER

For some time past anomyous letters have been passing through the local postoffice. The parties who received the letters reported the matter to Postmaster Surles and a quiet investigation was instituted with the result that it is now thought the writer has been located.

Three parties in the city who received the letters reported the matter to the authorities at the postoffice. Two of the letters had been received by married men and the other by a girl. They contained practically the same matter and were to the effect that a woman, whose name was given, would shortly come to this city with evil designs on the parties who received the letters.

One of the men who received the letters had some suspicion as to the writer, and a comparison of the handwriting developed the fact that they were all written by the same hand, and also resembled the writing of the person suspected.

The matter is still in abeyance and it has not been decided whether or not any prosecution will result. The party suspected is in business in the city but is not aware of the fact that suspicion has been fastened where it is.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

In Labor Day Sports at Rock Springs, Particularly in 100 Yards Dash.

Indications point to an unusual number of entries for the various events to be pulled off at Rock Springs Park on Labor day. Applications are received in large numbers every day at each of the points where entry blanks have been placed by the sports committee.

The 100-yard dash is attracting attention even outside the city, and it is probable several sprinters will start who have won fame in their respective localities outside of East Liverpool.

The last name to be recorded under this contest was that of Harry Kerr, who has won many races here and elsewhere. Mr. Kerr's determination to enter the contest has caused the a vast amount of talk among the sporting fraternity, and those who believe in the ability of Charles Walsh have endeavored to induce that sprinter to enter the lists. Walsh now has the matter under advisement, and it is just possible he will decide to enter.

There was talk at one time which indicated that it would be impossible for Walsh to contest on account of the fact that he has been placed in the professional class. This was simply the opinion of the sports committee, and was soon overruled because there is nothing in the clause laid down, under which the race is to be run, which makes any reference to the conditions. Therefore, it is argued, even if Walsh is a professional, which he strenuously denies, he could not be debarred.

An effort is being made to induce the backers of Kerr to put up a side bet, and if this is done Walsh will propably enter. Whether he does or not, however, the event promises to be very interesting, as there will be at least half a dozen starters.

ANOTHER DIVIDEND OF 3 PER CENT

The 27th Declared by the Potters Building and Savings Company.

BEST WAY OF SAVING

Is Holding Stock in Such a Thriving Institution—The Rich And Poor Have Equal Chances—All Earnings Paid in Dividends.

The Board of Directors of the Potters' Building & Savings company, at their meeting Thursday evening, declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent payable September 10.

This dividend is the twenty-seventh they have declared in the 13½ years since the company was organized and will make $367,189.23 that the company has paid to its members in dividends, and well illustrates the superiority of a building and loan association over a savings bank. For, had the members of the Potters' Building & Loan Association been simply depositors as in a savings bank they would, in the same time, have only received $246,126.15, 4 per cent. The difference of over $123,000 would have gone into the pockets of the few stockholders or owners of the savings bank, it being what is known as a close corporation; that is, there is only a certain amount of stock to be had, and as a usual thing the better the stock pays the harder it is to get and the fewer the people who hold it. In fact, a workingman or woman can't get it. On the other hand if it is not worth more than par or 100 cents on the dollar there is plenty of it to be had and anyone can get it.

On the contrary a building and loan company is an open or mutual corporation; that is, you can take stock in it at any time, no matter whether you are rich and have thousands of dollars to invest or poor and have only a few cents you want to save. All of its earnings after expenses are paid in dividends and paid in the shape of a dividend on whatever amount of money a person has in.

Rich and poor share alike. If a 3 per cent dividend is declared for a six months' business as the Potters' Building & Savings company has just declared, and Joe has $100 in the company he will get $3, while Jim, who has $50 in, will get $1.50. There are no preferred people who get a dividend on what some other person's money has made for them. True cooperation or mutuality is the key note of the company and its methods.

It is true this company receives money on the savings bank plan and pays 4 per cent interest on the same, but the party putting his money in is given the privilege of the regular building and loan stock plan and chooses for him or herself. Whatever profit is made from the money left on this basis goes into a contingent or surplus fund, which can only be used to pay any losses that may occur.

This fund in the Potters now amounts to over $37,000, and in the 13½ years the company has run there has never been one cent taken out of it. As this fund grows in amount so grows the security and safety of the institution. 199-h

PRIMARIES SATURDAY

Hancock County Democrats Will Select Candidates for County Officers.

The Democrats of the several magisterial districts of Hancock county, will meet next Saturday for the purpose of selecting district nominees and choosing delegates to the county convention to be held at New Cumberland on Monday, September 1. The following meeting places have been selected: Grant district—Chester school house; Poe—Fairview school house; Butler—Holliday's Cove school house; Clay—Court house, New Cumberland.

An unusual amount of interest is being manifested in the selection of candidates for county officers, and preparations are being made for a hard fight. The offices to fill are: Prosecuting attorney, clerk of the circuit court, clerk of the county court, representatives to the house of delegates and county superintendent of public schools. The ticket placed in the field some time ago by the Republicans is a strong one and will doubtless be elected by the usual majority.

Perhaps the hardest fight will be that for representative. The Republican nominee is Robert Newell, of Grant district, and he is considered a very strong man. Against him it is said will be pitted Robert J. Ramsey, a young attorney of New Cumberland, who is not likely to overcome the usual 300 Republican majority.

WHOLE FORCE FIRED

Proprietor of Bakery Would Not Tolerate Disorder About the Shop.

The entire working force at the Thomas bakery was discharged yesterday, and for a time at least, it looked as though operations would have to be suspended.

Arthur Thomas, owner and manager of the establishment, is responsible for the condition. At a very early hour in the morning the proprietor asserts he went to the shop on Union street and found the force, consisting of three men, acting in a disorderly manner. He ordered them to stop, and when they refused, discharged them all.

The men are members of the bakers' union, and at once threatened to make charges against the proprietor, but to the present nothing of that sort has been done. Mr. Thomas endeavored to keep his foreman, Mike Peterson, who was in no way concerned with the trouble, but he went out with the others.

The proprietor telegraphed to Pittsburg and Cleveland yesterday to the headquarters of the union in both cities, making a brief statement of the facts, and asking that men be sent here at once. A force reported before the day ended and the shop is now in charge of a union force.

19TH YEAR. NO. 200. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, AUGUST 25, 1902. TWO CENTS.

He Had Declined the Honor Once, But Reconsidered—Warm Discussion in the Alliance Convention.

Alliance, August 25.—(Special)—The unexpected happened at the labor convention Saturday afternoon, which contrary to earlier predictions, voted unanimously to make Thomas J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, its candidate for congress. Much energetic discussion was indulged in before the question of making any nomination was decided affirmatively.

Up to 2 o'clock the convention had been devoted entirely to a sort of an experience meeting to get a line on the idea of delegates as to the advisability of placing a candidate in nomination.

Charles Bonsall, of Salem, a receptive candidate for the nomination, was in favor of the nomination of a candidate. He made a speech to that effect.

Mayor Bell, of Massillon, was not in favor of a nomination by this convention. He took the position that inasmuch as the Republican convention at Salem had refused certain requests of the labor unions, the Democratic convention, to be held in the future, should also be given a chance to accept or reject the same requests. He was in favor of requesting the Democratic congressional convention to nominate a labor candidate, and then if that was refused the time would be ripe for labor to nominate its candidate. Mayor Bell is a Democrat.

T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, also a receptive candidate, made a speech indorsing the sentiment voiced by Mayor Bell.

The sentiment of the delegates was strongly in favor of nominating a candidate independent of either of the old parties.

A. E. Long, of Salem, at 3 o'clock moved that a committee on resolutions be appointed. He was declared out of order. Then he moved that the convention resolve itself into a nominating body and nominate a congressional candidate. This precipitated some warm discussions from many of the delegates.

Charles Bonsall, of Salem, made a speech ringing in terms, in which he declared that if nominated on the labor ticket he would not accept or make any pledges to the Democratic or Republican parties.

Duffy and Bell, in sharp speeches, made a vigorous effort to have the convention agree to receive endorsement from the old parties.

A. E. Long, of Salem, bitterly assailed the East Liverpool potters for the reason that there were none of them in the convention.

T. J. Duffy defended the potters and said that the reason there were not more present was because they did not favor politicians leading them.

Long retaliated and said that the reason there were not more potters present from East Liverpool was because they were ward heelers. Duffy jumped to his feet and demanded an apology for the potters. R. H. McDowell demanded to know if Long's charges were true. In behalf of the potters, Duffy said that he had spent his life with them and that none of the potters' officials had ever dabbled in politics.

Good feeling was restored and harmony again sat in the meeting.

A motion to adjourn was voted down by a large majority.

A motion to nominate a candidate carried by a vote of 51 to 12.

At 3:30 Charles Bonsall, of Salem, moved that a committee of three on resolutions be appointed, and that a recess of 30 minutes be taken. The chair appointed as a committee on resolutions Charles Bonsall, of Salem; T. J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, and Bernard Bell, of Massillon. Then the convention took a recess.

It was 4 o'clock before the committee on resolutions was ready to make a report. It was remarked frequently that Chairman Johnson had appointed on this committee the three candidates for the honor in the gift of the assemblage. The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted unanimously.

As soon as this action had been taken R. W. McDowell, of Salem, secured the floor and stated that he had a short resolution which he would like to have added to the report of the committee. Mr. McDowell stated that if some such measure were not added to the resolutions the candidate might expect little support. The delegate then read the resolution, which pledged the candidate "to make his canvass along the lines of union labor principles and the platform adopted by this convention independent of any other political organization and without the request or solicitation on his part or the part of this convention for the endorsement of any political party; and that we here appeal to all the voters of the district regardless of past party affiliations to endorse our candidate at the polls in November."

The resolution was like a bomb shell thrown into a peaceful camp. It created a profound stir, but was adopted by a decisive vote. Had this resolution not been adopted it is a question whether or not the candidate nominated afterward could have secured the honor. It had the effect of bringing from him an emphatic declaration renouncing old partyism. Such action was made necessary for the reason that Mr. Duffy has been a Democrat, and recently without his consent or encouragement, it is asserted, was boomed for the Democratic congressional nomination by a few designing politicians of East Liverpool.

S. S. Carnahan, of Wellsville, was recognized and proceeded to nominate T. J. Duffy. Mr. Carnahan has been acquainted with the candidate for years, and he made the most of his knowledge in the nominating speech. The nomination was seconded and at once declined by Mr. Duffy. He said he could not accept the nomination under the circumstances that had come up in the convention.

Considerable discussion followed. Finally one enthusiastic delegates succeeded in having a motion adopted asking Mr. Duffy to reconsider his stand. C. A. Collins, a Youngstown delegate, made a strong speech in which he asked the convention not to force the nomination on Duffy.

Mayor Bell said the convention was tying his hands with the adoption of the McDowell resolution. He added that he gave Duffy credit for the position he had taken.

Mr. Duffy was pressed to accept the nomination, whereupon he stated that his services were always will be at the call of the laboring people. He swallowed the McDowell resolution in these words, dramatically uttered: "I am here as a laboring man, and you may do with me as you will."

Scenes of almost riotous confusion followed. There were cheers upon cheers for Duffy, and the hall rang with applause.

A. D. Long, of Salem, then placed in nomination Charles Bonsall, of Salem. Mr. Bonsall at once declined the nomination, and moved to make it unanimous for Mr. Duffy.

There were cheers for Bonsall and cries of "You're all right," following this statement. Mayor Bell's name was urgently called upon Mr. Duffy responded briefly as follows:

"I feel proud of this namination. All I possess is my ability and I am willing to fight on the platform constructed here, for it is what I have been following all my life. I endorse and will work for every clause in your platform. I do not object to being the standard bearer of organized labor whether in victory or defeat. Even good comes to working people in their defeat. I hope this movement will result to the best ends for the working people and I will make every effort to bring it about."

Harry Green, of Sebring, said every local in the district would raise money to prosecute the campaign, and if necessary each union man in the district should go down in his pocket to create a campaign fund.

Mr. Bonsall said it was wrong to assess a candidate and claimed the people, not the candidate, should be the hoodlers. Mr. McDowell moved that the body elect a finance and executive committees. Carried. A motion was made by Mayor Bell to the effect that

Columbus, August 25.—(Special)—Governor Nash's message, read today to the legislature, was short and to the point. He recommended that no legislation be passed except that remedying the defect in the Royer law and affecting municipal government. He asked that his code bill be adopted, and, although not saying so in so many words, warned against the passage of the code measure of the state board of commerce, and said that the enactment of such a bill would plunge the state into a condition of peril infinitely greater than that which ever confronted the lawmakers before. He advised that the laws relating to schools, county salaries, boards of equalization, registration and elections be referred for revision and recodification to the state school commissioners, attorney general, auditor of state and secretary of state, respectively, with instructions to these officials to file a report of their work to the next general assembly in 1904.

No provision has been made in the governor's code for hamlets. Smith W. Bennett, special counsel in the office of the attorney general, says: "Under the classification as announced by the supreme court, we find no place for that class of municipalities heretofore known as hamlets, and what might appear as an omission, is, in fact, no omission at all. We do not, in the repealing clause of the bill, include any existing statutes for the organization and government of hamlets."

He was removed to his boarding house, and it has since required the united strength of five men to hold him on the bed. He is internally injured.

RELATIVES AFRAID OF HIM

And He Will Be Taken to Massillon—Wellsvlle Divorce Case and Other Matters Before the Courts at Lisbon.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—J. T. Detwiler and John Holloway, of Columbiana, have made formal application to probate court for the admission of Thomas Entriken to the asylum at Massillon.

Mr. Entriken is over 80 years old, and for several months his mind has been affected. His condition is attributed to softening of the brain. He has no home, but has been cared for by his son's widow. He is now considered in a condition unsafe to be allowed at large. He will not be brought into court, but Judge Boone and physicians will visit him tomorrow afternoon. He will then be taken to the asylum.

A DAMAGE SUIT

Brought for Alleged Malicious Destruction of Property Is Appealed.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—A damage case which was instituted in the mayor's court in Washingtonville, was appealed to common pleas court this morning.

Horace G. Tetlow accused George W. Allen of having forcibly and maliciously entered upon his premises in the village. He claims he was damaged to the amount of $100.

The case was heard last week and Tetlow was given a verdict for $45 and costs. Allen will fight the claim.

DESERTED WHILE ILL

A Wellsville Man Sues for Divorce From His Wife on This Ground.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—Robert Smurthwaite, of Wellsville, who married Miss Grace Brown, of Lisbon, about five years ago, has entered suit for divorce. The couple lived together but a short time. Smurthwaite claims that while he was confined to his bed, suffering from fever, his wife abandoned him and returned to the home of her mother in Lisbon.

He was ill for four months and when he recovered his wife refused to live with him.

CABBAGE SO PLENTIFUL THAT THEY ARE GIVEN AWAY

Authorities on the subject assert that the crop of cabbage is more extensive than for many years. As an evidence of this it is estimated that not less than 20 wagon loads of the choicest of cabbage was brought to the city on Saturday, and either sold at a genuine sacrifice or given away.

One man was seen to draw up at a residence on Washington street, and after summoning the housewife, offered to give her all she could use. "I came to town this morning with 100 heads of the best cabbage I ever saw," he said, "and when I attempted to sell it to local dealers what do you suppose they offered—10 cents a bushel. Before I would sell it at that price I would give it away to my customers, and that is exactly what I am doing."

On account of the very favorable condition of the weather during the early spring and throughout the summer, all sorts of vegetables and garden truck have done well, and as a natural consequence have been very cheap.

BEFORE THE MAYOR

USUAL MONDAY MORNING CROWD ON HAND.

How the Executive Meted Out Punishment to Several Offenders.

Mayor Davidson held an interesting session at City Hall this morning. Five arrests were considered, among which were several old offenders. James Cameron, of Beaver, was arrested by Officer Dunn, on Sunday. The prisoner was at one time considered one of the best attorneys of Beaver county, and has been associate counsel with some of the leading attorneys of the county.

For a number of years, however, he has been in all in as he allowed whiskey to get the best of him. He came to East Liverpool Saturday evening and filled up on the favorite beverage and was taken in charge by the officer on Sunday.

The mayor fined Cameron $5.60. Officer Ike Lazarus, of Rochester, was in the city this morning serving subpoenas in a railroad stealing case. He was at the mayor's office when Cameron was given a hearing and stood for the fine. Lazarus is an old friend of Cameron and said that he would be able to secure the amount of his fine.

Officer McDermott arrested Mrs. Ollie Walker, who resides at Walker on Third street, Saturday evening. The woman was very drunk and the officer had to almost carry her to the city hall. Mrs. Walker only had $4 when she confronted the mayor Monday morning, but she sent a friend for the remainder and was discharged on the payment of $5.60.

Wylie Farmer, a youth who has given the police considerable trouble during the past few years, was arrested again by Officers Aufderheide and Dawson. He was drunk again and was released this morning on the payment of $5.60. He stated that he would go to work immediately and with this understanding he was released or otherwise the mayor would have sent him to the workhouse.

Elmer Clendenning was arrested by Patrolman Woods at the corner of Sixth street and West Market Sunday evening. The prisoner was making himself obnoxious to passersby. He is still confined in the jail and he will probably be kept there until he sobers up.

Officer McDermott gathered in Joseph Harkins, of Pittsburg, Saturday evening for drunkenness. Harkins is a brick layer and is employed by a contractor of this city. The contractor agreed to stand good for his fine and the man was released.

UNDERWOOD-STOFFEL

Popular Young People United in Marriage at St. Aloysius' Church.

John Stoffel and Miss Nellie Underwood, two of the best known and most popular young people of the city, were united in marriage at 9 o'clock this morning at the rectory of St. Aloysius' church. Rev. Father T. J. Mahan performed the ceremony and James Kinney acted as best man, while Miss Maggie Stoffel, a sister of the groom, took the part of bridesmaid.

The contracting parties are among East Liverpool's most prominent young people. They left by the noon train for an extended tour in the east.

Author of Anonymous Letters Discovered by Quiet Investigation.

NO ARRESTS HAVE BEEN MADE

And It Has Not Been Decided Whether There Will Be Prosecution.

ALL LETTERS BY ONE WRITER

For some time past anomyous letters have been passing through the local postoffice. The parties who received the letters reported the matter to Postmaster Surles and a quiet investigation was instituted with the result that it is now thought the writer has been located.

Three parties in the city who received the letters reported the matter to the authorities at the postoffice. Two of the letters had been received by married men and the other by a girl. They contained practically the same matter and were to the effect that a woman, whose name was given, would shortly come to this city with evil designs on the parties who received the letters.

One of the men who received the letters had some suspicion as to the writer, and a comparison of the handwriting developed the fact that they were all written by the same hand, and also resembled the writing of the person suspected.

The matter is still in abeyance and it has not been decided whether or not any prosecution will result. The party suspected is in business in the city but is not aware of the fact that suspicion has been fastened where it is.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

In Labor Day Sports at Rock Springs, Particularly in 100 Yards Dash.

Indications point to an unusual number of entries for the various events to be pulled off at Rock Springs Park on Labor day. Applications are received in large numbers every day at each of the points where entry blanks have been placed by the sports committee.

The 100-yard dash is attracting attention even outside the city, and it is probable several sprinters will start who have won fame in their respective localities outside of East Liverpool.

The last name to be recorded under this contest was that of Harry Kerr, who has won many races here and elsewhere. Mr. Kerr's determination to enter the contest has caused the a vast amount of talk among the sporting fraternity, and those who believe in the ability of Charles Walsh have endeavored to induce that sprinter to enter the lists. Walsh now has the matter under advisement, and it is just possible he will decide to enter.

There was talk at one time which indicated that it would be impossible for Walsh to contest on account of the fact that he has been placed in the professional class. This was simply the opinion of the sports committee, and was soon overruled because there is nothing in the clause laid down, under which the race is to be run, which makes any reference to the conditions. Therefore, it is argued, even if Walsh is a professional, which he strenuously denies, he could not be debarred.

An effort is being made to induce the backers of Kerr to put up a side bet, and if this is done Walsh will propably enter. Whether he does or not, however, the event promises to be very interesting, as there will be at least half a dozen starters.

A CHICAGO EDITORIAL.

There appeared in the Chicago Chronicle, the only Democratic daily of that city, a few days ago, under the caption, "Now a Pottery Trust," the following editorial. It was published the day following the issue which contained an exhaustive account of a meeting held in Chicago by a number of pottery manufacturers for the purpose of forming a combination, and which story was republished in this paper at that time. The editorial in full follows: "There is now prospect of a pottery trust. Representatives of the principal potteries of the country met in Chicago yesterday to discuss the formation of an association to control the output and prices of all the establishments in their line in the country. This, we are to understand, means that they are beginning to compete with one another and to cut under the prices to which they are legally entitled under the Dingley tariff. A good many years ago when there was talk of reducing the tariff the potters met and indignantly protested against any reduction on articles competing with their products and proclaimed to all the land that they were entitled to the home market. By that they meant that the American people had no right to buy crockery where they could get it at prices fixed by world-wide competition, but that they, the American potters, had a right to extort some 50 per cent. more than competitive prices from their countrymen. A Republican congress agreed with them. They seem to have got along until now without competing among themselves and to have taken their full pound of flesh under the Shylock tariff, but now they must get together in a trust or the long-suffering public will at last get the benefit of a little competition among the potters who have a right to skin them under the shelter of laws."

There are some sentences in the editorial which are quite true, but when the writer states that the potters have begun competing with one another, that is what they have boing ever since there were two potteries established in this section. As to the price cutting, some manufacturers claim others have been selling under the list, and the latter retaliate by making the same charge. However true that may be, it does not follow that all manufacturers sell under the list. These are matters for the manufacturers to consider among themselves, and not for the outside public to meddle with. No business man knows more about his competitor's business than the man does himself, and if after an agreement has been entered into that there shall be no price cutting, no one is to answer for it but he who violates that agreement.

WASTING ENERGY.

In another column will be found a call for a special meeting of Jiggermen's local No. 12, to be held in the Brotherhood Hall tomorrow evening. The business that is to be considered at this session is of the most vital importance, as there is to be presented a plan for the establishment of a uniform work day. Owing to this matter coming before the meeting, the attendance should be very large. As far as can be learned quite a number of jiggermen favor the plan of having a limit set to their work. In some instances, a jiggerman who can make 200 or more dozen of plates a day, pays his help the same wages as the jiggerman who is not so fast, and who can make only from 150 to 175 dozen plates a day. The latter jiggerman, owing to conditions, is compelled to pay his help the same as the more speedy workman. This, it is averred by some, is not right. The jiggerman who prides himself in the fact that he is a fast workman, not only wears out his own energy, but that of his batter out, mould runner and his finisher. If all were on an equality, it is claimed, the jiggerman would work six days a week instead of four, as many now do, and he also would be better off financially. By having a limit to the work, the manufacturer would get more ware by the jiggerman working six days than by having the jiggerman working four, and, taking the matter all around, everybody would be better off. The question is a most important one, and in order that full consideration be given it, exery jiggerman in the city should attend the meeting.

TRADE IS VOTING.

It is expected that during the present week, the result of he vote of the several locals of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, as to whether $1,000 shall be taken from the defense fund of the national organization will be received by national Secretary Thomas J. Duffy and the result will be announced just as soon as possible. When President Hughes received a call for assistance from President Mitchell, of the Miners' Association, the officials of the Brotherhood were powerless to take any action without a vote of the trade. Consequently a circular letter was sent to the secretary of every local in the Brotherhood asking if a subscription should be taken from the trade for the assistance of the striking miners, or should $1,000 be sent President Mitchell from the defense fund of the national organization. If the vote shows that a subscription would be the better plan, and that more money could be sent the miners by so doing, they would not be able to receive assistance for a month at least, for it would take about this length of time to forward all the money subscribed to Secretary Duffy. If the vote is in favor of taking the money from the defense fund, it can be sent to President Mitchell immediately. To appropriate the funds of the Brotherhood to aid another oganization is a point not covered by the constitution, so the request has been left to the individual vote of the members. All the locals in this city which have considered the question have reported favorably to making an appropriation from the national treasury.

INCREASING CAPACITY.

The plant of the American Porcelain company on Block House run, New Brighton, is to be considerably enlarged and the capacity greatly increased. The contract has been let to Martsolf Bros., of New Brighton, for the erection of three buildings. One of these is a pressing room 35 by 100 feet in size and the other two are kiln houses 50x108 feet. The buildings are to be of frame and have slate roofs. The contract price was not given but will reach several thousand dollars. Several new kilns are in course of construction at this plant.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS.

All the labor locals of this city, meeting this week, will make their final arrangements for the Labor Day demonstration. Some locals which met last week, do not meet this week, and they are fully prepared to observe the day in an appropriate manner. Locals meeting this week will appoint committees to look after details concerning their particular local organization, and this about all that is to be done. The demonstration will be a greater success this year than ever before, judging from plans already made known.

PACKERS' SPECIAL SESSION.

The Packers' local No. 25, at their meeting last Friday evening, decided to hold a special meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall next Thursday evening. The meeting is to be a most important session, and things that will be talked over at this meeting have been in the hands of a special committee for several weeks. Members of the local will not talk of the subject that will be discussed, but the session will be the most important the local has held for many weeks.

JOINT CONFERENCE TONIGHT.

What may be the last joint conference of committees representing the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the Western Manufacturing of Potters' Association, will be held this evening in the rooms of the Potter's Club for the purpose of trying to effect an adjustment of that dispute of long standing, relative to the placing of flat ware in the first ring of the biscuit kilns. It is to be hoped an agreement will be reached.

OTHERS ALSO SURPRISED.

William Hitzelberger, of White's pottery, Utica, N. Y., was in the city on a tour of inspection a few days last week, desiring to note what this pottery center was doing—having heard of some of the wonderful semi-porcelain steins that are being made here, and desiring to see how they compare with his German stoneware production. He stated that he was agreeably surprised at the magnitude and character of local potteries.

HAVE GONE EAST.

WEST IS BOOMING.

Mr. Wilhelm, of Yonker Bros., Des Moines, Ia., spent two or three days here last week placing orders. Iowa is unusually prosperous, he said, and business generally is booming there. Harvesting, except corn, is practically done, and active retail trade is now going on.

OFF TO THE LAKE.

H. P. Knoblock, of the Dresden pottery company, accompanied by Mrs. Knoblock, left today for a short outing at Mackinac, where they will spend some time for the benefit of the health of Mr. Knoblock, who has been ill for some time.

CHANGED THEIR OFFICE.

Within the past fortnight quite a number of changes have been made in the office of the Burford pottery. Things have been changed around, little improvements added here and there, and the office is now one of the neatest in the city.

PRESIDENT HOME.

President George C. Murphy, of the East Liverpool potteries, has returned to the city from an extended trip through the west, where he went for a jaunt in which business and pleasure were combined.

ALMOST COMPLETED.

The rebuilding of the "Old End" is going along rapidly and the roof is now completed. This rebuilt section will be devoted to semi-vitreous porcelain, instead of white granite, as heretofore. This will give fourteen kilns on semi-porcelain, nine on white granite, eight on china. The demands for their semi-vitreous porcelain have been so large that they were compelled to make this change.

AMONG THE POTTERS.

Daniel Fitzgerald, who is employed as kilnman at the Tiltonville pottery, has been granted a transfer card from No. 9.

No. 9, kilnmen, expect 400 men in line next Monday. This local always had a good turnout, but it is expected to be larger this year than it was last.

Dippers' local No. 18 expect to have a large turnout in the Labor Day parade. Out of a possible membership of 65, fully 50 men are expected to turn out.

George Harris, an oddman at Laughlin's, in the East End, who has been ill for sometime has gone to Bridgewater, Pa., where he consulted a physician concerning his ailment.

EAST END

MOTORMEN SHIFTED

Lorenzo Donovan Goes Back on the Road And Many Changes Result.

Quite a change has been made among the motormen of the East Liverpool Railway company. Commencing with the fifth morning run, all motormen have been thrown back one run, but no changes have been made with the conductors. A year ago or more, Lozenzo Donovan, who was formerly a motorman on this road, was taken from the road and placed in the barn, where he looked after carpenter and other work. By taking his run out once in six months he was allowed to hold his position on the list, this being one of the rules of the company and also of the street railway local. This rule was lived up to by Mr. Donovan, and after he returned recently from his vacation he decided to go back on the road steady. This change occurred this morning, and Mr. Donovan took out his regular run, which was No. 5.

While Mr. Donovan was working in the barn all the regular motormen were advanced one run, and run No. 5 was held by Motorman Frank Fowler. Commencing with Mr. Fowler all motormen were dropped back one run, and at the last of the list one motorman was placed on the extra list, until such time as a change in the schedule would be made.

DRUNKEN YOUNG MEN

Disturbed East End Sunday Quiet and Police Aid Was Called For.

A crowd of young men, whose names are not known, caused considerable noise in the East End at an early hour yesterday morning. It appears that some of them were intoxicated, and commenced to make a noise while loafing about the East End station platform. They then went to Walnut alley, near the McKinnon residence, and more noise was made. One of the men in the party was said to be so drunk that he fell into the gutter in the alley, his head and face lying in the gutter while his feet were lying on the pavement.

Officer John Spence was sent to the scene, took the young man to his home, and the indcident was then closed. It was said that the same crowd went to the rear door of the Allison restaurant on Mulberry street, and failing to gain entrance, tore the screen door from the hangings.

A FINE BALL GAME

Imperials Defeat East End Grays—Remarkable Playing of Chambers.

There was a base ball game at Columbian park Saturday afternoon which proved most interesting. The contesting clubs were the Imperials and the East End Grays, and the Imperials won by a score of 7 to 3. A feature of the game was the playing of Dick Chambers, who made a record which has probably never been equalled. He held the position of short stop.

Chambers had 12 putouts and one assist in all and he played an errorless game. The remarkable part of his playing was said to be the 12 putouts, which were all made on pop flies, only one ground ball going to short, and although it was a "hot one," Chambers gathered it in like a professional player. The players for both teams give credit to Chambers for his clever work.

POISONED BY FOOD

An East End Man Taken Ill From a Peculiar Cause at New Cumberland.

A number of people while at their boarding house at New Cumberland last Friday ate something that disagreed with them, and now all are sick. Poison is said to be the cause. One of those whom it is claimed was poisoned was C. G. Herbert, a turner at the Chelsea, and whose home is in the East End.

Mr. Herbert came to his home on Virginia avenue, Saturday, and he is still a very sick man. There were five others who ate at the same table on Friday, and all are reported ill. The lady who managed the boarding house is said to be sick also.

MORE NEW HOUSES

Seven Residences Built By Dr. Calhoun on Madison Street Nearing Completion.

Dr. W. A. Calhoun, of Virginia avenue, who sometime ago let the contract for seven residences to be built on Madison street, Calhoun's addition, will have several of the new houses turned over to him this week. The painters are now completing their work upon these, and the foundations for several of the others were commenced this morning. These residences will cost in the neighborhood of from $1,000 to $1,200 each, and many of them have already been rented.

This part of the city is growing rapidly, and it seems that more new homes have erected in that particular locality since spring than in any other part of the East End.

Street Railway Men Met.

A short meeting of division No. 52, street railway employes, of this city, was held in their hall on First avenue, Saturday night, but not much business was transacted. Three new members were obligated, and some matters pertaining to Labor day were talked over. As many employes of the road as can get off from work on that day will take part in the Labor day parade, but if the company operates a number of extra cars during the morning, not many of the employes will be able to turn out, as they desire.

To Discuss Church Work.

A joint meeting of the session and teachers and officers of the Second U. P. church will be held tomorrow evening in the lecture room of the church for the purpose of talking over plans for the winter work to be accomplished at this church. The session will be a most interesting one, and it is expected that all teachers and officers of the Sunday school will be present.

Hoyt Is Improving.

A letter was received in the East End today by Captain Terrence, of the East End fire station, from J. H. Hoyt, formerly employed on the street force in the East End, but who has been confined to a ward in the West End hospital at Pittsburg, stating that the operation which he suffered was quite successful, and that he expected to return to the East End in a short time.

Going to Mechanicstown.

Elmer E. Stevenson and Emmet Chambers, who have formed a partnership and will open a general store at Mechanicstown, will leave for that town in a short time. The new building they will occupy is about completed, and it is their intention to open for business about next Monday week.

Stewards' Meeting.

The stewards of the Erie street M. E. church will meet in the church next Thursday evening for the purpose of transacting business connected with the new parsonage.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

William, the little son of Mr and Mrs. Jeff Green, of High street, who has been suffering with scarlet fever for some time, is recovering rapidly, although he is able to be out, his condition is somewhat weak.

Rev. Mr. Fisher, a theological student at Allegheny, preached two interesting sermons at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday, owing to the absence of Rev. N. M. Crowe. The latter will return to the East End this week from his vacation.

A Sure Cure for Diarrhoea.

Governor in Message Will Urge Legislators to Confine Work to These Two Subjects.—Code Prepared by Nash to be Introduced.

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—The Ohio legislature convenes in extraordinary session today for the purpose of enacting a code of laws for the government of the municipalities of the state.

The governor will urge in a special message, to be submitted at the opening of the session that the legislature confine its work to the enactment of a municipal code and the repeal of the Roger law passed at the session last winter, which by an error, deprived the supreme court of jurisdiction in a large class of civil cases.

The code prepared by the governor will be introduced simultaneously in the house and senate, and it is expected that it will be considered by each of these bodies sitting as a committee of the whole. In the opinion of leading members the work of the extra session will be completed in three weeks.

No objection can be raised to the candidate for congress selected at the Labor convention at Alliance on Saturday save that he is Democrat, and Democratic principles and Democratic ideas, for many and excellent reasons, are not approved by the workingmen of the Eighteenth district of Ohio. If the laboring men of the district want a man in congress to look after their interests they should select a member of a party which has always befriended and promoted those interests. Mr. Duffy, whatever his ideas on the tariff question, would not be able, even if he should get into congress, to work a reform in the Democracy. The record of that party, as it affects the workingmen, is known, and a repetition of it is feared. There was no excuse for a labor-political convention at Alliance, and no good reason why that convention, after it had assembled, should feel it incumbent upon it to nominate a candidate for congress. Aside from the questionable wisdom of labor unions going into politics at all, there are the strongest of reasons why such a move is not advisable now. The great majority of the members of the labor unions in this district are Republicans. The Republican candidate for congress, James Kennedy, of Youngstown, is a man of mature years and of much experience in public life. Living in a workingman's district, he has given much attention to the tariff question and all other questions affecting the interests of labor. Nobody has any fault to find with his record in this or any other respect, and there is no reason to suspect that the welfare of his constituents, whether laboring men or capitalists, will not be scrupulously looked after by him whem he is elected the successor of Hon. Robert W. Tayler in congress. The Republicans of the Eighteenth district are not bolters, and certainly they will not bolt from a good candidate without reason. Kennedy will be the next congressman, and the Democratic effort to form a labor auxiliary will come to naught. It is a satisfaction to note that the unions of East Liverpool —the strongest union town in the district—gave neither countenance nor support to the ill-advised movement that originated at Alliance, and whose lack of spontaneity and sincerity is shown by the fact that out of some 200 unions in the district, less than 75 delegates were present at the so-called convention.

A communication, published in the Evening News Review of Saturday, earnestly and strongly urges the importance of East Liverpool being represented in the coming meeting of the Ohio River Improvement association. Here is where an active and vigilant board of trade could make itself useful. In the absence of such a body, the suggestion that the city send some sort of a committee to the meeting at Parkersburg is worthy of serious consideration. The tonnage shipped by river from East Liverpool is probably greater in proportion to population than that from any other city along the Ohio valley and it is constantly growing. River improvement means much to the future prosperity of the city, and live citizens want to see all-the-year navigation established at the earlist possible moment.

The illustrated view of the East Palestine postoffice burglary, published in the Reveille Echo of that town, is about the most realistic newspaper picture we have seen for some time. It is to be hoped that it will not get that enterprising journol's staff artist into trouble or into jail.

Gov. Taft got an enthusiastic reception on his return to Manilla. Evidently the people there are satisfied with the sort of government they are getting, and much more depends on that than on pleasing the antis in this country.

A government agent is coming this week to East Liverpool and Wellsville to investigate the establishment of rural delivery routes. They are much needed, and when in operation will be of great benefit to our country neighbors.

The railroads leading out of Pittsburg are so busy with the traffic that they must haul that they are said to have decided to engage to haul no more excursion parties. This is something that never happened before.

Colonel James Kilbourne is the latest Democrat to speak in praise of Governor Nash's code bill. Colonel Kilbourne is a business man whose opinion is valuable.

OBITUARY

Dr. Robert Andrews.

Dr. Robert Andrews, aged 65 years, one of the best known physicians in this part of the Ohio valley, died at his home on Fourth street at 6 o'clock last evening. General debility was the cause of death. The funeral services will be held at his late home at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. W. E. Hill and Rev. D. W. McQuiston officiating. Interment, which will be private, will be made at Riverview cemetery, at 2:30 o'clock.

Dr. Andrews was born in Beaver county, Pa., near the West Virginia State line, January 24, 1836, and was the son of Matthew and Mary (Thompson) Andrews, who were also natives of the same state. Paternally the doctor was of Irish lineage, his grandfather, Jeremiah Andrews having come from Ireland to the United States at a very early day, and located in Washington county, Pa. Matthew Andrews, the doctor's father, was born and reared in Washington county, and when a young man moved to Beaver county, Pa., where he married and raised a family of eight children, four of whom are now living. They are, Matthew Andrews, of this city, John Andrews, of Kansas City, Mo., T. J. Andrews, of the East End, and Mrs. Jane McKinley, of Hookstown, Pa.

Dr. Andrews was educated in his native county, and having selected the medical profession began his preparatory studies at Fairview, W. Va., in the office of Dr. H. C. McBeth, where he remained for eight years, making substantial progress during that time. He then entered the Cincinnati Medical college in 1858 and graduated from that school in the spring of 1860. He began the practice of medicine at Fairview, in '62. He returned to East Liverpool in 1882 and had since resided here. The doctor was married in 1860 to Margaret M. Purdy, of Allegheny county, Pa., and to this union were born five children, but only two are now living, Dr. Oran P. Andrews, and Miss Mary A., both of this city. Dr. Andrews was a Republican, and a devoted member of the First United Presbyterian church. He was also a member of the Eastern Ohio Medical society and also the American Medical Association.

Mrs. Louisa Huston.

Lisbon, August 25.—(Special)—Mrs. Louisa Huston died at her home here Saturday evening, aged 77. She was born in York county, Pa., and moved here with her husband, the late William Huston, in 1846. She was one of the oldest members of the M. E. church.

W. R. Cullen.

W. R. Cullen, one of the best known residents of Hancock county, died suddenly at his home in New Cumberland last night from an attack of heart disease. Mr. Cullen was sitting in a chair at his home when the attack came on. He fell to the floor, and when members of the family reached his side he was quite dead. Mr. Cullen is survived by a wife and six children. He was 48 years of age and has a brother, Harry Cullen, residing in Chester. The funeral services will be held at New Cumberland Wednesday.

Daniel Weaver.

Mrs. L. A. Weaver, of Third street, received a message Sunday from Corapolis, Pa., announcing the death of her brother, Daniel Weaver. Mr. Weawas born in Salem, O., and was in his 73d year. The remains will be sent to Fostoria, O., for burial. He was a G. A. R. man and is survived by three sons and two daughters, and two brothers, John, of Salem, O., Casper, of Greensburg, and one sister, Mrs. Lydia, of this city.

Mr. Weaver was a blacksmith and worked at his trade at Salem until about thirty years ago when he moved to Fostoria, O. He was visiting his daughter at Corapolis when he died of throat trouble.

Mrs. Eliza Nixon.

Mrs. Eliza Nixon, aged 88, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Margaret Nixon, in Sewickley. Old age was the cause of her death. She was born in County Down, Ireland. She lived for 50 years in America, the greater part of the time in Salineville. She moved to Sewickley two years ago. Mrs. Nixon was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. The following children survive her: Margaret Nixon, Sewickley, with whom she had been living; Mrs. Grace Deveney, Cleveland; Mrs. Mary Collins, Elyria, O.; William Nixon, Atlanta, Ga., and John Nixon, Yorkville, O.

Death of an Infant.

The one-week-old child of Mervin Clark died Sunday morning at 7 o'clock at its home in New Salisbury. It had been suffering with indigestion. The funeral was held at 10 o'clock today and interment was made in Clark's burying ground.

SERVICES AT THE PARK

WERE INTERESTING AND HEARD BY LARGE CONGREGATION.

Rev. Edwin Weary Talked Ably And Forcibly of Christianity And Its Mission.

The religious services conducted by Rev. Edwin Weary at Rock Springs park yesterday afternoon were attended by a larger gathering than on the previous Sunday. An interesting musical program, which was highly appreciated, was rendered.

Rev. Mr. Weary delivered a strong sermon on "Christianity." In the course of his remarks he drew a strong distinction between religion and christianity. The Mohammedans and many pagans are deeply religious, but they are not Christians. The highest standard of morals, the highest progress, and right ways of living are only attained by people who are Christians. The religion of Christ has been the greatest factor in modern progress.

Alluding to the prayer offered by a woman on the dancing floor of the pavilion a few nights ago, which had caused much comment, he thought the woman was entitled to praise rather than ridicule. There are few occasions on which prayer is not appropriate; certainly none more appropriate than where a mother believes her daughter to be in danger.

Rev. Mr. Weary further said, speaking of the park services, that he looked for and hoped for the cooperation of other ministers of the city and vicinity. Such services, to do most good, should be entirely undenominational, and the best results and the most interest would be aroused by having ministers of all the various churches to conduct them. He thanked the park officials for the opportunity to hold religious services there, and hoped the work now begun would prosper and be continued another season.

BIBLE CONFERENCE.

DEVOTIONAL EXERCISES AT WINONA SERVICES.

Many Ministers Were Present.—Memorial Exercises in Memory of Rev. Dr. Purvis.

Warsaw, Ind., August 25.—The services of the National Bible conference at Winona yesterday were devotional in character. The meetings commenced just after sunrise, continuing until late last night. Many noted divines were heard by what was probably the largest gathering in the history of the conference.

Rev. Arthur J. Smith, of New York, conducted the early morning devotional services, and Captain McCrea, of Indianapolis, as superintendent, had charge of the Sunday school at which the attendance was more than 1500. The principal morning sermon was delivered by Rev. John Robertson, of Glasgow. He is one of the strongest preachers and teachers at the conference.

Many Ministers in the Audience.

Twenty-five hundred persons, largely ministers, from every denomination in this country, comprised the audience. John H. Converse, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, opened the conference on evangelistic work, having recently become interested in that branch of religious work.

At this meeting, Rev. John S. McIntosh, of Philadelphia, delivered the chief address, urging co-operation favoring young people's organizations of every denomination throughout the country. A. P. Fitt, of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, gave a lecture this afternoon on Rev. R. A. Torrey's tour of the world, describing particularly Melbourne's simultaneous missions where the church people have thrown aside all denominational lines and have combined in a revival so large and successful on lines laid down by Dwight L. Moody, as to attract the attention of the religious world. Rev. James Mursell, pastor of the Upper Clapton Baptist church, London, led the hillside service, participated in and witnessed by 4,000 people. E. O. Excell, of Chicago, was in charge of the music, directing a choir of five hundred voices.

Memorial Services for Purvis.

The conference held memorial services in honor of Rev. George A. Purvis, of New York, who was prominently identified with the conference until his death last year, and of James Fredenburg, of Springfield, Ill., who also was interested in the conference work until his death. Among the speakers were Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Rev. Marcus A. Brownson, Rev. W. G. Moorehead, Dr. S. C. Dickey, also Rev. Mr Rodgers, of Springfield, the pastor of Mr Vredenburg's church. Rev. John Robertson delivered the evening sermon.

PRESIDENT MITCHELL WILLING.

Wilkesbarre Committee Asked Him to Try and Have Strike Arbitrated.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 25.—The committee from the Public Alliance of this city, which waited on Senators Quay and Penrose at Atlantic City last week and urged them to use their good offices to bring about arbitration in the coal strike, performed a like mission in this city yesterday when they called on President Mitchell and requested him to co-operate with the Pennsylvania senators in bringing about a settlement of the strike. Mr. Mitchell said he would do anything that was honorable to bring about an adjustment and he furnished the committee with some statistics of the strike from the miners' point of view, which were forwarded to Senator Quay last night.

It has just been learned that President Mitchell was badly shaken up in a railroad wreck at Reising, Ill., early last Monday morning. The train ran into a washout and nearly all the cars left the track. The sleeper on which Mitchell was riding left the rails and he was thrown with much force from his berth. The engineer and fireman of the train, however, were the only persons who were injured.

Try to Settle Strike.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 25.—D. J. McCarthy, chairman, and Mathew Long and Harry Silverman, members of the executive committee of the Peoples' Alliance of Hazleton, went to New York yesterday to endeavor to put into operation some plan for looking to a termination of the strike. They decline to make public their plan or to say whom they hope to see in the metropolis. The Peoples' Alliance is composed of business men and miners.

Gobin Thinks Outlook Discouraging

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 25.—Reports received at brigade headquarters yesterday showed the entire anthracite coal field to be very quiet. Brigadier General Gobin said yesterday that a settlement of the strike appears to him to be as far off as when he reached here nearly four weeks ago. The troops will, in all probability, remain here until the strike comes to an end.

Saturday evening John Skelly, L. Holzinger, T. Potts and Noah Calhoun, the latter only 14 years of age, were found drunk in a shed at the Patterson pottery. All except the boy were discharged and he refused to implicate any one, saying he found a bottle of whisky and drank it. The story is being investigated by the boy's father.

Charged with burglary Ellis Stoffel, Ray McClermont and Oescnel Wayne were arrested Saturday evening. Several articles were taken from Hale's confectionery in the West End some time ago. The trio pleaded guilty.

CAPTURED BY THE REBELS.

Former Colombian Gunboat Guards Entrance to Panama Harbor.

Kingston, Jamaica, August 25.—Details of the capture of the Colombian government gunboat Boyaca by the insurgents outside of Panama, have reached here. The Boyaca was captured August 1 by the insurgent gunboat Padilla after a short and unequal fight. She had on board at the time nearly 300 soldiers under the command of Generals Ferrero and Enao, who were to reinforce General Morales Berti at Agua Dulce. The Boyaca also carried several colonels, a supply of ammunition and a considerable sum of money.

An American gunner named Ross, who was serving on board the Boyaca declined to sail on her on her last and fatal expedition. Flying the insurgent flag the Boyaca is now guarding the entrance to the Panama harbor, presumably with the intention of preventing steamers or other vessels from bringing government reinforcements to Panama.

NATIVE CONSTABLES AMBUSHED

Ladrones Kill One, Wounded Two and Captured Three.—Taft Resumes Governorship.

Manila, August 25.—Ten members of the native constabulary were ambushed last Tuesday at a point near Magdalena, in the province of Sorsogon, Luzon, by a band of sixty Ladrones. The latter were armed with rifles and bolos and a desperate fight at close range took place. One member of the constabulary was killed, two were wounded and three were captured. Seven constabulary have taken the field in pursuit of the Ladrones.

Former Insurgents Found Honest.

Manila, August 25.—The defense in the Freedom sedition case has called Governor Taft as a witness to show that many former insurgent leaders who were guilty of various offenses not recognized by the laws of war have been appointed to civil positions. Governor Taft gave testimony to the effect that many such former insurgents had been appointed, but that they had proved honest, straightforward and earnest. He said that some of them had been guilty of murder from American standards, but that from their own standpoint they undoubtedly believed their conduct of the war to have been legitimate. Governor Taft said that he had found these appointees to be loyal and that they were not chosen because they happened to be insurgent generals, but because they were men of influence among their own people. He said the experience of the civil authorities with these men had been most satisfactory.

Governor Taft has resumed the governorship of the archipelago, relieving Luke E. Wright, who has been acting governor during Judge Taft's absence. Commissioner Wright is preparing to visit the United States.

Fearful Ravages of Cholera.

Manila, Aug. 25.—Official cholera statistics show a total up to date of 25,664 cases and 18,040 deaths. The actual number of cases and deaths is greatly in excess of the official reports. In Manila there were but eight cases reported last Saturday. In some of the provinces of Luzon the cholera situation is bad; 414 cases and 317 deaths were reported from the province of Ilocos Fort last Saturday.

"ENEMY" CAPTURED.

Pillsbury Failed to Make Harbor at Salem; as He Had Planned.

HIGGINSON REFUSED SWORD.

Both Commanding Officers Exchanged Compliments, at the Formal Surrender.—Details of the "Battle" off the New England Coast.

Rockport, Mass., Aug. 25.—The naval search problem on the New England coast was terminated at 5:40 yesterday morning, by the signal, "Surrender, demand and unconditional," from Rear Admiral Higginson's flagship, and the reply, "Accept surrender," from the fore truck of the Prairie, Commander Pillsbury's flagship. The battle between the "blue," or defending squadron and the "white," or attacking squadron, was thus quickly ended eight miles south of Thatcher's island. The enemy had most signally failed to make a harbor, for its objective, Salem. A preponderance of fighting strength, relatively 64 points, represented by the battleships Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts, Scorpion and a torpedo boat, had overwhelmed the 45 points represented by the auxiliary cruisers, Prairie, Panther and Supply. To speak from a theoretic standpoint, the "white" squadron was entirely destroyed by the guns of the defending battleships. Thus on the fourth night the game of naval strategy was brought to an end, it having covered a period of unceasing toil, sleepless nights, of anxious and wearing vigil and of grave uncertainty to its participants.

Anchored There for Some Days.

The destruction of Pillsbury's squadron occurred at 5:40 yesterday morning at a point just within the outer limit of Gloucester harbor, not over eight miles southerly from Thatcher's island, off which had been anchored since Wednesday, when the war game was declared opened, the three powerful battleships, of the "blue" squadron.

The surrounding and "Putting out of action" of the squadron in command of Commander Pillsbury was the culminating climax in one of the most interesting chapters in the peace history of the American navy. For the placing in operation of the manoeuvres of the warships off the coast of New England, the navy had long prepared itself and had long looked forward to them with keen anticipation. As planned by the naval authorities at Washington, two squadrons were to be put into the game, one, the "blue," the defending fleet, and the other, the "white" to be a hostile fleet bent upon effecting an anchorage in some unprotected harbor on the coast from Cape Elizabeth to Cape Cod, opposed all the time by the first named fleet. This anchorage had to be maintained against the defenders for a period of six hours. Commander Pillsbury's white squadron consisted of the auxiliary cruisers Prairie, (flagship), Panther and Supply. The two former boats were each assigned twenty points of fighting strength while the Supply was assumed to represent five points.

Higginson's Fleet Superior.

Admiral Higginson's fleet was actually superior in the number of its members and by the same arrangements made as to the Pillsbury ships it represented a grand total of 97 points of strength. The Kearsarge, the Alabama and the Massachusetts, battleships, were given twenty, the cruisers Brooklyn and Olympia, eight each, the Cincinnati and Montgomery, Gloucester, Mayflower and Scorpion three points each, while a number of torpedo boats made up the remaining numbers. to win in the mimic war the "blue" squadron had to bring against the attacking vessels, as it did early yesterday, warships superior in their assumed fighting power. Each side had the right to capture individual craft of the other fleet by overcoming them in point of strength and under the rules of the game the captured vessels were to retire altogether from the field of action.

In the defeat of Pillsbury, the defence, with three battleships, the Scorpion and with a single torpedo boat, had 64 points, so that the balance was against the attacking squadron. Throughout the mimic war there was placed in operation a system of coast defence which was admittedly of credit to those who engaged in it.

The problem was so complicated that on the war vessels here last night the week's work was viewed with satisfaction for the one reason, if for no other, that the squadron has had invaluable practice.

The final event of these war moves was the sequence of many complicating developments.

Capture Followed Night of Rumors.

The capture came at the end of a night filled with rumors as to the location of the attacking squadron. At 9:30 o'clock last night three battleships of the "blue" squadron got under way in a hurry and sailed to the eastward. The intention was to move on to Portland, and if that had been carried out Admiral Higginson, as it later developed, would have unconsciously swung the balance of his fighting force to that end of the coast line, as Pillsbury had intended he should, but which was not done on account of heavy seas running outside Cape Elizabeth.

Higginson, however, deflected his course back to Gloucester after a swing seaward, in response to a report that the enemy had not been sighted, when it was believed he had been, but in the last hours of the night Pillsbury sailed toward Cape Ann from the outside and, as it proved, right under the very guns of the defending squadron. Commander Pillsbury, when still out to sea, after manoeuvring, headed straight for Salem harbor. But the desired vantage point was never reached.

When his boats had arrived off Magnolia they were sighted by the signal station on Baker's island. A message was sent to the station at Rockport here and the torpedo boat Barney was sent out to notify the "blue" squadron. The station here before this had been informed that Higginson's battleships had been sighted off Gloucester, and that later they had returned to their berths under the lee of Thatcher's island. The Barney's commander was mystified, therefore, when, after rounding Strait's mouth he saw no evidence of the presence of the Kearsarge. On a hazard, the Barney was steered southerly. After Higginson's ship had cruised up and down the coast they went to their anchor off Thatcher's island. At this time the officer on the deck of the Kearsarge was Lieutenant Ray Stone, with Midshipman Wilworth Puleston as the junior officer in command.

Apprentice First Sighted the "Enemy."

In contrast to others, the morning was clear and star bright. On the bridge a dozen jackies stood upon the lookout. One of these was Daniel Staehle, an apprentice of the first class. He stood well forward peering on the lee side. The flagship was just falling down into a trough when he notified the ensign at his side that he could see the enemy. The officer of the deck called Flag Lieutenant Evans and Flag Secretary Bistol, and it was but the work of a moment to inform Admiral Higginson of the probability that the time for decisive action was at hand.

It was real war then. General quarters were sounded. There was a quick rush rush of many feet, the manning of a hundred posts, the clank of the anchor chain, the ringing of bells, the giving of orders and a general clearing for action. Not many moments passed before the flagship was under way, steaming at 14 knots, with the Alabama and Massachusetts many lengths in the rear. Some distance back was the Barney, rapidly overhauling the ships ahead.

At 5:40 o'clock the three battleships, aided by the converted yacht Scorpion, which had chased in from the south in time to be in at the finish, and the Barney, which had overtaken the fleet, formed a horseshoe about the "white" squadron. The elation among the men on board the "blue" squadron ran high.

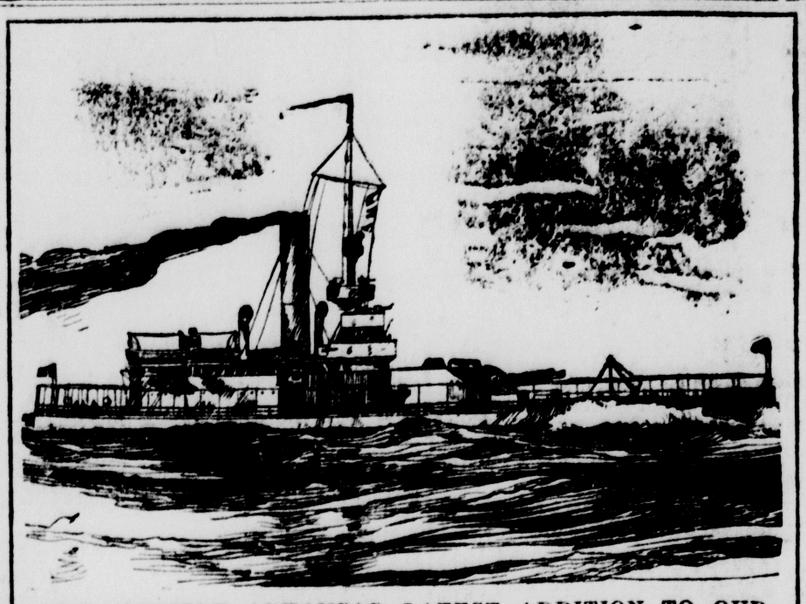

There was something pathetic in the picture when Commander Uillsbury, after he had signalled his surrender, passed in his barge from the Prairie, walked up the starboard gangway of the Kearsarge, and offered his sword to Admiral Higginson.

Gallantry to Defeated Foe.

"Keep your sword, sir," said the senior officer, his voice quavering a bit in spite of himself. "I would not accept the sword from so gallant a foe."

"And I, sir," responded Pillsbury, with dignity, "could not surrender to a nobler or better officer, sir."

This exchange of words ended the actual surrender, and at the invitation of Admiral Higginson, Commander Pillsbury stepped down to the cabin of the eKarsarge and here the two officers discussed in privacy the incidents of the days since the "Declaration of hostilities" on Wednesday.

THE MONITOR ARKANSAS, LATEST ADDITION TO OUR COAST DEFENSE FLEET.

The single turreted monitor Arkansas, which on her recent trial trip exceeded the contract speed requirement by nearly three-quarters of a knot an hour, will undoubtedly be accepted by the government, inasmuch as she has proven herself otherwise as thoroughly satisfactory. The Arkansas is one of the four coast defense vessels authorized by congress in 1899. At a cost of approximately $1,000,000 she has a tonnage displacement of 3,214, a horsepower of 3,235 and a guaranteed speed of 11 1-2 knots. She is designed to carry a main battery of two 12-inch and four 4-inch rifles and a secondary battery of three 6-pounder and six 1-pounder rapid firers and one machine gun. The heavy armor belt and the slight freeboard of the Arkansas combine to make her a formidable war engine for work near the coast.

FOREMAN KILLED.

Discharged Man Committed Crime in Washington County, Pa.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 25.—James Gill, a foreman at the Gillespie camp along the Wabash railroad near Independence, this county, was killed Friday by an Italian whom he had discharged. The Italian seized a pick and struck Gill over the heart. The pick penetrated Gill's body almost six inches and caused immediate death. The murderer got away.

SECOND DEFEAT FOR HOMESTEAD

The Crack Players Made But Four Hits and One Run Saturday.

MALEY HAD THEM PUZZLED

His Support Was of the Best—Crowd Was Large And the Game Most Interesting—The Final Score 3 to 1. Crowd Was Enthusiastic.

Maley was an impossibility for the Homestead team again Saturday afternoon and let the visitors down with only four hits and one run. The crack players on the Homestead side went down just as though they had never batted against pitchers on some of the professional teams.

Nagle, who was the first man up in the first inning for the visitors, scored their only run. He picked out a hit and would have been forced at second had not Godwin made a wild throw of Torreyson's grounder. Nagle then scored on a hit by Marshall. After that there was nothing to it but Maley, and although he only struck out three men his support was of the best and the visitors were never at any time in danger of scoring.

The locals did not secure their first run until the third inning. Webb was first up and picked out a hit. He was advanced one base by Maley and scored on Godwin's hit to center field. Maley went out at third in an attempt to reach the base on the fly hit.

The two other runs by the locals were brought in by Emmerling and Maley in the fifth inning. The former rapped out a nice two-base hit. Maley then hit to Nagle, and as no one covered third Emmerling went down and Maley reached first. Both the players scored on a hit by Maag and an error by Jones.

NOTES ON THE GAME.

Homestead will begin to think that Maley has them Jonahed. He has defeated them three times.

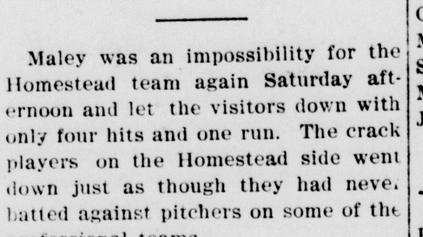

Eights hits and two runs is the total for Homestead in the two games Maley pitched in this city.

Cosgrove came down to assist Homestead in the third game. He managed to get a two-base hit, but was thrown out in an attempt to steal third.

Reark umpired the first five innings. He then called Maag out at the plate and when the crowd objected he threw up his job. Hugh McCarron took his place. "Happy" has surely been in the game long enough to know that the crowd has to have its say every once in a while.

In the three games the fans have certainly shown that they will turn out to witness good games. The three days break the record for the season in attendance.

Osbourn was sent home Friday when it was known that Cosgrove would be here for the game Saturday.

THE FORDS VICTORS

SHUT OUT THE Y. M. C. A. IN A WELL PLAYED GAME.

Brilliant Work on Both Sides, But Hard Luck for the Locals.

Although defeated by a score of 4 to 0, the Y. M. C. A. team put up one of the prettiest games at their park in Chester Saturday afternoon with the H. P. Fords, of the Eleventh ward, Pittsburg, that has been seen in this neck of woods for weeks. There were one or two brilliant plays during the game on both sides, and this added interest to the contest.

In one inning, with two men on bases, McNutt landed on the ball for what looked like three bases, but by a brilliant catch the middle fielder of the Fords the long fly was nabbed and the side retired. There were tears in the eyes of the Association players, for they were sure of three runs had the big fielder dropped the ball. In catching the ball he turned a complete somersault, stood on his head and did all that sort of thing, yet he held onto the ball. The local players seemed to be playing in hard luck, but for a new team their work was very good.

FIGHT AT A PICNIC

EXCITING CLASH IN WHICH WOMEN TOOK PART.

Former Residents of This City Chief Figures in a Lively battle.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dobbs, formerly of this city, were the principal figures in an exciting episode at the recent P. H. C. picnic at New Castle. Reports from Sebring give the story thus:

Dobbs, who is said to be a lover of Mrs. Allison, and Mrs. Allison's husband, now reported to be in Peoria, Ill., were both formerly employed in the Sebring pottery, having removed with their families from East Liverpool. Neither is now employed there from the fact that trouble arose between the two families because Dobbs, it is said, "got sweet" on Mrs. Allison, so Allison left his family and went to Peoria last winter, while Dobbs went to New Castle.

Mrs. Allison, by previous arrangement with Dobbs at New Castle, concluded she would go to the picnic and Mrs. Dobbs got word of the affair. So she packed her lunch basket and took her two children with her, boarded the train just as it was pulling out, unbeknown to Mrs. Allison, and waited for developments at New Castle. No sooner had the train arrived than Mrs. Allison, accompanied by her star boarders—two women and one man—jumped off the train and headed for the big bridge over the Mahoning river, where they met Mr. Dobbs, who had planned to have a pleasant time with Mrs. Allison.

While Dobbs was passing coin to Mrs. Allison, by way of the latter's male star boarder, Mrs. Dobbs came up, accompanied by her children and slugged Mrs. Allison right and left, giving her upper and under cuts, stomach punches and other blows.

When the battle opened Mrs. Allison's male boarder laid his umbrella aside and attempted to protect his landlady, but no sooner had he done so than Mrs. Dobbs' 12-year-old son picked up the rain protector and beat the head of the Allison woman's star boarder into a jelly roll. By this time the Sebring women boarders of Mrs. Allison thought they would take a hand in the melee, but were soon sorry they moved, because little 12-year-old Sammy Dobbs, aided by his sister, pitched in and made them think they had been through a Kansas cyclone.

A policeman who stood on the bridge witnessed the row, and when the Allison bunch went before a magistrate to have Mrs. Dobbs and her children arrested, he cleared them by his testimony and the magistrate discharged them.

THE MONEY PAID OVER

East Liverpool Sports Displeased With the Talk That Followed Lutz-Bunting Fight.

The East Liverpool sports are certainly disgusted with the action of the backers of Ed. Bunting in his bout with Larry Lutz, last Thursday night. They objected to the payment of the stake money to Lutz and it was not until late Saturday afternoon that the $300 was turned over.

All sorts of excuses were hatched up in an endeaver to find some means of keeping the money. They claimed that Referee Foley did not officially announce his decision in the ring; that Lutz was not on hand in time to fight on the 21st, and also that Foley used his elbow on Bunting in breaking a clinch.

The backers refused to allow the stake holder, who is a Wellsville saloonist, to turn over the money until after a lengthy conference was held Saturday afternoon. After the money was paid over Terry Carman offered to back Lutz against Bunting for from $100 to $1,000.

If the Wellsville people still think that Bunting is any match for Lutz, they will have a chance to even up by accepting this challenge.

Cholera Morbus.

This is an extremely dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from it, and in many instances before a physician could be summoned or medicine obtained. Mrs. E. H. Delano, of Durant, Mich., is subject to severe attacks of cholera morbus. During the past four years she has kept at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and says it has always given her quick relief. During this time she has used two bottles of it. This remedy can be depended upon in the most severe and dangerous cases. The safe way is to keep it at hand ready for instant use. BABY'S GODFATHER.

President Roosevelt Officiated at a Christening at Newport, R. I.

THEN WENT TO LODGE HORSE.

En Route to Nahant, Mass., Large Crowds Gathered at the Stations and Gave the Chief Executive Enthusiastic Ovations.

Nahant, Mass., August 25.—President Roosevelt left Newport yesterday at 2 o'clock in a sumptuous train of our special cars. Accompanying him to the depot were Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Chanler and Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the two latter journeying with the party to Nahant, the home of the Lodges, where the president spent the night.

A more quiet day could not have been spent by the president. As is his custom, he rose early and, after eating a light breakfast, left the Chanler house about 9 o'clock, and went out to meet Mrs. Roosevelt, who had come up on the Sylph during the night.

President Acted as Godfather.

The president was aboard the ship for about two hours. Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied him ashore and spent about half an hour at the Chanler residence, taking a look at the baby, but did not remain for the christening. She left shortly before the event for Oyster Bay. The president remained at the Chanler villa where the ceremony of christening the baby was performed by Rev. John Diamond, of the Episcopal church in the presence of the president, who acted as godfather, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the latter acting as godmother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, and a large number of the personal friends of the family.

The affair was regarded as one of the most auspicious events of the season at that fashionable resort, due not only to the social prominence of the Chanlers, but to the fact that the president of the United States would act as godfaher to the child for whom it was named.

Traveling on Sunday was something new for the president, but in this instance he was obliged to depart from his usual custom, as he went to Newport for no other purpose than to attend the christening and it was necessary to make the short journey to Nahant yesterday in order to maintain his schedule.

Enthusiasm Over President.

That the enthusiasm attending the president's journey shows no abatement was made evident yesterday by the crowd gathered about the depot at Newport, which cheered his arrival and continued cheering until the train departed and was lost to view.

Stone Bridge, R. I., Fall River, Taunton and Mansfield, in Massachusetts, turned out in force to greet the president, and as each place was reached the train was slowed down, the president appearing on the rear platform and bowing his acknowledgements.

At Boston the entire party disembarked and entered the special, which was standing on another track, the crowd in the meantime keeping up a continuous cheering.

Upon arriving at Lynn, where carriages were in waiting to take the party to Nahant, the sight was one long to be remembered.

Thousands Cheered the President.

Stretched from the depot through the city and across the peninsula to Nahant, a distance of four miles, were fully sixty thousand people, who cheered again and again as the president passed. There were two miles of carriages on either side of the road.

The president rode with Senator Lodge and was escorted from Lynn to Nahant by a troop of cavalry.

The arrival at Nahant was a signal for another outbreak of applause and the two places seemed to vie with each other as to which should be the more cordial in its greeting. Flags and bunting were displayed everywhere.

This afternoon the president will deliver an address from the steps of the public library building in Nahant.

TWO CARS COLLIDED.

Three People Killed, Many Injured—Motorman Failed to Obey Orders.

Norfolk, Va., August 25.—In a head-on collision between two cars on the Bay Shore Terminal line late yesterday afternoon three people were killed and many others badly injured. The dead are:

W. S. Yandell, mororman.
C. B. Colden, motorman.
Linwood Fentress, aged 10.

The seriously injured are:

W. R. Waller, R. J. Davis, George Stephenson, Mrs. J. P. Stephenson, Joseph White, conductor; M. V Ahern, Benj. Rowson, Miss Lillian Land, John Taylor, colored; Maria Fentress, colored, Miss Ruth Banks, Phoebe Frederick, colored; Corliss, nephew Major Waller, badly injured internally; Mrs. Victor Parks, skull fractured; Louis Parks, internal injuries, expected to die.

The accident occurred 400 yards beyond Futas sidingp, about three and one-half miles from Norfolk. One car was coming from Oceanview and the other going to the View. The orders were that the shorebound car should wait at he siding for the other. Motorman W. S. Yandell failed to obey the orders and the crash came 400 yards beyond the siding. Yandell endeavored to jump but was crushed between the telescoped cars and died hanging by his right leg.

MURDERER HAD A CLOSE CALL.

Sailboat Capsized and He Nearly Perished—Finally Caught After Getting Away.

Atlantic City, N. J., August 25.—Leander Smith, colored, angered because Body Clinton was paying too much attention to his wife, shot and instantly killed Clinton in the Hotel Canfield basement Saturday night and then shot his wife, who is dying in the city hospital.

After committing the deed he made his escape, stole a sail boat at the inlet, and started on a sail for some remote point. A few miles at sea a squall struck his boat. It capsized. He was thrown into the ocean and the boat drifted from him. By heroic efforts he succeeded in crawling on the upturnted craft and all night he drift ed at the mercy of the waves. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning he was found by Samuel Moore, a local merchant, who was out in his private launch, nearly dead from exposure. The murderer told Mr. Moore a story about being on a fishing trip and that his boat had capsized. Mr. Moore took him to Somer's Point and after he landed the negro thanked his rescuer, walked off and disappeared. A few minutes later Mayor E. A. Higbee, of Somer's Point, received a telephone message from Atlantic City asking him to apprehend any strange colored man who may pass that way. The town marshal, who happened to be on the wharf when the man landed, remarked the fact to the mayor. Higbee hitched up his buggy, and after a five mile drive, caught up with the murderer. He invited the man to ride with him as the sun was hot and the day sultry. The man accepted. Higbee drove him to the town jail and locked him up.

CATARRH

IS PERMANENTLY

CURED BY LIFE PLANT

Dennison, Ohio.

Life Plant Co.

Messrs:—LIFE PLANT is a wonder cure!—After a siege of ten years of that dread disease, Catarrh of the head, and the failure of all other treatments, I was induced by my employer, Mr. C. W. Bell of this place, dealer in groceries, to try LIFE PLANT. The first bottle gave relief, and when I had taken two more, was free from and cured of Catarrh. I write you the above and hope you will publish it for the benefit of those who are suffering from the effects of that dread disease. LIFE PLANT is a great remedy. Yours Respectfully,

FRED KNAUS.

Mrs. Rev. J. C. Castle, of Smith's Ferry, Penn., writes:—After suffering for about thirty years with Catarrh I believe I am entirely cured by the use of a few bottles of LIFE PLANT.

Mr. F. Hurst, father of Hurst Brothers, Grocers, New Philadelphia, Ohio, says:—

A member of my family for six years or more, has had a severe case of Catarrh in the head and throat, causing nervous prostration, with so much pain and roaring in the head, that the hearing had become materially affected, the stomach deranged and the appetite gone, and with a feeling of prostration and lassitude. Was cured by the use of LIFE PLANT more than a year ago and the trouble has not returned.

New Philadelphia, O., April 25, 1900.
Life Plant Co.,

Messrs:—I was attacked last August with a very serious and painful form of stomach trouble which gave me no rest by day and very little sleep at night. I used numerous remedies without any beneficial results. I was unable to do any kind of work. I was in constant misery with pain in stomach, which was increased, even by a slight pressure. For months I could not take any kind of food without suffering severe pain. This condition continued until I commenced to use LIFE PLANT. I have taken six bottles and am now a well man, can do a full day's work, eat all kinds of food and feel no inconvenience.

Yours etc., Frederick Dubaugh.

These cases and hundreds of others were permanently cured by LIFE PLANT, after all other remedies failed. If you have Cattarh in any form and are not cured after giving LIFE PLANT a fair trial, your money will be refunded.

Price $1.00 a bottle, 6 bottles $5.00. Ask your druggist for LIFE PLANT—Take no substitute. For sale by druggists everywhere. THE LIFE PLANT CO., Canton Ohio.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Ordained at Youngstown—Rev. W. H. Beynon, well known in this city, has been ordained as pastor of the Himrod avenue Baptist church at Youngstown.

Will Entertain Friends — Miss Sarah Simms will entertain friends informally tomorrow afternoon at her home on Broadway in honor of her guest, Miss Myrtle Price, of Pittsburg. The same evening Miss Simms will entertain an older crowd of young people.

Barker's Great Record—"Kid" Barker, who is pitching for the Bloomington team of the Three I's league, scored a victory for that team Saturday against the Davenport club. But six hits were made from his delivery, and his record for the game was two hits, one run and two assists, and the score was 4 to 1.

First Teachers' Meeting—The first teachers' meeting of the school year will be held in the high school rooms next Saturday, August 30, at 2 o'clock. An interesting feature of the session will be an address by Prof. Fess, of the Chicago university. Prof. Fess was formerly located at the Ada normal school, but last summer he was called to the Chicago university. He is a very talented man and his address will probably be listened to by a large concourse of people.

Drunken Woman Arrested—For being drunk, Amelia Tower, colored, was arrested by Pat Woods on Kossuth street at noon.

Judgment for Plaintiff—The case of Emma Scott vs. Sherman Vincent was heard in 'Squire Rose's court this morning. Miss Scott sues Sherman for $12 for nursing his wife during illness. Judgment was given the plaintiff for $12 and costs.

To Consider Chapel Building—At the prayer meeting service on Wednesday evening consideration will begiven to the proposed erection of a chapel in Sunnyside by that church. Some time ago property for this purpose was secured and the erection of the chapel is the next matter to be considered.

Seized With Paralysis—While on his way from the uptown district to his home in the West End, William R. Orr, an aged resident of the city was striken with paralysis this morning. Mr. Orr has been in feeble health for some time. His recovery is considered doubtful. Mr. Orr is the father of Councilman LeRoy Orr.

Located After Trouble—The street committee had considerable trouble this morning in locating an anchor pole for the Bell Telephone company in Ddury lane, just off West Market street. The anchor has for some time been located in front of the property of Richard Edmonston. It was finally located on the property line between the Timmons and Rigot properties.

School Improvements — All the school buildings in the city have been undergoing a thorough renovation during the past vacation, and in many of them very great improvements have been made. In the Central building especially the changes have been extensive. Many of the rooms have been fitted with new desks and on the second floor two more rooms have been prepared for the use of the high school. This makes six large rooms and two class rooms which will be occupied by the high school this year.

Mr. Duffy appoint his own committees and was substituted for the first motion.

It was urged that the finance committee should consist of one member from each Central Labor union of the district, and that a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer should be chosen from the same place, a central point in the district, in order that the financial end of the campaign might be administered readily. Alliance was mentioned as a convenient place for headquarters.

The number of committeemen and the plan of campaign were matters left in the hands of the candidate. He will make his appointments at an early date, as soon as he can canvass the field.

Mr. Duffy said he would like to have Mayor Bell, of Massillon, at the head of his committee, if he would accept the place. He also stated that he would appoint Charles Bonsall and R. H. McDowell, of Salem, as members of the committee. The others he asked for time to consider.

Mayor Bell made a brief speech in which he gladly accepted the honor.

A short harmony session was held during which many of the delegates stated that they had had their little squabbles, but that they would be a unit for the ticket. With the understanding that Mr. Duffy would at once take up the campaign work and carry it on to the best of his ability, and with cheers and expressions of good feeling the convention adjourned.

A permanent political organization was effected to urge an active campaign in his behalf. The nominee was required to pledge himself to support if elected, a platform of economics and declaration of principles adopted by the convention in substance as follows:

First—Direct legislation known as the initiative and referendum.

Second—Public ownership of public utilities and co-operative production and distribution.

Third—Lands owned by corporations and lands owned by aliens to be reclaimed by the government, and held for actual settlers.

Fourth—All coin and paper money to be issued by the government as full legal tender. No money to be issued by private banks and no untaxed bonds to be issued by the government.

Fifth—Graduated income tax.

Sixth—The election of President, Vice-President, United States Senators, and federal judges by direct vote.

Seventh—Establishment of a cabinet office to be known as the department of labor, with provision for mandatory arbitration of labor disputes.

Eighth—An eight-hour workday.

Ninth—Postal savings banks with loans at 2 per cent. on ample security.

Tenth—Whenever any corporation or employer shall discharge or blacklist a worker for exercising the right of speech, or for any kindred cause, the department of labor shall upon formal application thoroughly investigate such case, and if said discharge shall be without just cause, the said corporation or employer shall pay all expenses of said investigation and shall be required to reinstate said blacklisted man.

Eleventh—Abolishment of government by injunction.

Twelfth—A rigid Chinese exclusion act.

Fourteenth—Infusion of fairness and honesty in politics and against the intimidiation of bribery and other corrupt influences.

A minority resolution adopted required the nominee to make his canvass on the platform adopted, independent of other political organizations and without soliciting the endorsement of any existing political party.

DUFFY'S POSITION

THE CANDIDATE HEARTILY ENDORSES THE PLATFORM.

Did Not Want the Nomination, But It Was Forced Upon Him.

When seen at his office this morning, Thomas J. Duffy said:

"At the Alliance convention I opposed the plan of putting an Independent Labor ticket in the field, as I did not favor it. We were all of the same opinion as to the object we desired to accomplish; but we differed as to the best plan of securing it.

"However, it was decided by a large majority to put an Independant Labor ticket in the field; and, as the welfare of the labor movement will be more or less at stake in this matter, I willingly yield to the will of the majority and will do all within my power to make the movement a success.

"It is needless for me to say that I heartily endorse the platform adopted at the Alliance convention as it contains nothing only what I have been advocating since my connection with organized labor—the principles of pure Trades Unionism.

"I declined the nomination, but the delegates forced it on me. I will do what I consider my duty in the matter, nothing more, nothing less. That is all I can say at this time."
